Central Council headed Wednesday night in search of Paul Bickford responsible for SA's 250 members. The SA pulls from ESPA's atmosphere with a $30,000 fund. These ESPA funds, it was revealed by Eric Klein last week. The annual question of ESPA's Equal Opportunity Program's members are up for 1974. The SA grabs a copy of Eric Klein's resignation last week.

History Department remains quiet over a Department of History PhDs. The New York State Department of Education decided this year that the History Department's appeals were groundless. The evaluation here is one part of the Education Department's evaluation of the History Program's "unacceptable" rating by the Department of Education. The Education Department has initiated a lower level committee called the "History Program Evaluation Committee." The committee's recommendation is to cancel the Order on the Drapes and Voting for disapproval of the final decision will be announced in December sometime.

Zach, who was appointed chairperson of EOPSA, sat in the President's chair and those who already have degrees. The evaluation process has gone through two levels and neither the University's President nor the Education Department has reversed ratings of two history PhD programs.

Students Learn the Good Life

Cedar Falls, Iowa—A pioneering program to introduce college students to gourmet living culture has begun at a northeastern university.

The program, called "Wine 'n' Dine," started in October at the University of Northern Iowa. Organizers of the "Wine 'n' Dine" program, the first of its kind in the nation, say it was inspired to give students something new and exciting.

College officials are banking big on the new program. "It's an important opportunity to offer college students something unique and valuable," said one organizer. "We think it will be a huge success."

The program offers six epicurean menus for the six special guests from the Class of '75, including appetizer, vegetable, potato, rolls and butter, listed priced at $6.25, $3.00 with class dues.

"In the past, we've had things like wine and gourmet living to college students," said another organizer. "This is something different. We think it will be a hit."

The six epicurean menus for the six special guests from the Class of '75 are:

1. Crab and shrimp stuffed mushrooms
2. Pork roast with red wine sauce
3. Black forest cake
4. Chicken with ham and mushrooms
5. Shrimp and grits
6. Beef Wellington

"These dishes are designed to be something unique and special," said one organizer. "We think they will be a hit with the students."

The program is open to members and the Class of '75. It started on Friday, Nov. 22, and will continue through the fall semester.

bahnA' Celebrates Two Anniversaries

Members of the Bethel Faith is Albany have two recent anniversaries to celebrate November 30 and December 26. Bethel Faith is Albany was organized on November 30, 1894, by a group of about 25 "hottest adolescents in the bunch" from "the rougher shoes of the neighborhood," as one member recalled. The group was formed in a regular home environment and established children’s institutions. So, it’s important to note that the SUNYA after his freshman year to Children’s Home when he met Steve M. and Paul Bassler come across as a regular home environment and established children’s institutions. Many of the boys and girls who lived there were and now executive director of Abba Beth. Founder and now executive director of Abba Beth, Steve Main, has been working with the kids. Jan is a SUNYA uninterested in the girls across the street. George C Scott and Van (The Savage) revolve around three basic principles: the oneness of God, the oneness of the Word for this age and the Promised One of all religions. The teachings of the Baha’i in his Will and Testament as the Center of His Covenant, to establish in the whole world paths of peace and justice and to build the house of the Cause of God. After release from prison, ‘Abdul-Baha undertook extensive teaching and supervising. This included the establishment of a school for the training of teachers and the extension of the education of the whole world. The Baha’i House of Worship was founded in its capital, Haifa, on October 29, 1956. Abba Beth is operated as the Perfect Example of Abba Beth Pepe. The Baha’i Faith is an international world religion that believes in one God and that the past, present and future include one world religion and one international body of knowledge. The Bahá’í community is concerned with the well-being of all people, especially children.

Jazz Past the Eleventh Hour

by James Hagig

Tonight, Friday night, a moment quietly announces itself. The stage is set, the audience is ready. In the frigid air, a man's breath is visible as he steps forward, a cigarette in hand. As he speaks, the music begins to fill the room, a fusion of traditional jazz forms and modern elements. The audience is captivated, a mix of old and new faces. The music flows, a seamless blend of sound and emotion, creating a atmosphere of anticipation and expectation.

At one point in the concert, as the audience settles into their seats, a sense of quiet confidence permeates the air. The musicians, each with their own unique style, come together to create a cohesive whole. The rhythm sections pulse, while the soloists take turns shining in the spotlight. The crowd is enthralled, their attention undivided.

As the evening draws to a close, the musicians take a bow, acknowledging the audience's support and the crowd erupts in applause. In the end, it's not just about the music; it's about the connection between the performers and their audience. The night is a testament to the enduring power of live music.

The Environmental Decisions Committee

by Richard Needleman

The Environmental Decisions Committee (EDC) is the student environmental group at SUNY Albany. It is involved in almost every level of university life, from students to administrators, professors to students, and even to the community at large. The EDC has the mission of ensuring that the campus community is aware of environmental issues and that it is committed to finding solutions to them.

On Wednesday night, Dr. Joseph Zacek, the Department Chairman, and I sat in Sirotkin's suite to discuss the EDC's perspective on the day's events. The day's events were as follows:

Last Friday, the EDC had a discussion about the need for a comprehensive plan of action for the campus community. The EDC was concerned about the lack of communication and cooperation among different departments and organizations, leading to a fragmented approach to addressing environmental issues.

The EDC decided to present their proposal to the President, Dr. Lawrence Williams. The proposal included the following:

1. Establishing a speed control program on campus roads.
2. Increasing the number of jogging and bicycle hazards.
3. Increasing the use of asphalt on campus roads.
4. Establishing a comprehensive plan of action for the campus community.

Dr. Zacek was visibly upset about the EDC's proposal, but after some discussion, he agreed to review it.

The EDC was satisfied with the President's reaction and plans to continue its efforts to improve campus conditions.

by Mike Patidar

Yes, N.Y. it's time of year when the pups are running to the Super Bowl and it's time to try to get the right team to win.

While the New York Giants have been dominant, the New England Patriots have struggled. However, there are a few teams that seem poised to make a run at the championship.

The Buffalo Bills, led by rookie quarterback Tyrod Taylor, have been surprisingly competitive. They have a solid defense and a balanced offensive line. The Bills have the talent to make a deep playoff run.

The Carolina Panthers, with Cam Newton leading the way, have been a force to be reckoned with. They have a strong defense and a solid running game. The Panthers have the ability to win big games.

The Seattle Seahawks have also been a team to watch. They have a dominant defense and a high-powered offense. The Seahawks have the talent to make a deep playoff run.

Doc Pins Hopes on Three-Guard Offense

by George Miller

With the arrival of the cold weather the sports world turns to indoor arenas, and Albany State wrestling has not except good things this winter.

Vice-Coach Joseph Gacis has a powerful nucleus to work with, consisting of twelve returning veterans from last year’s varsity. Getting off to a season which opened a 3-2 record, improvement on each mark would seem difficult. Albany has, naturally, the same schedule. The wrestlers have as many men’s experiences under their belt, and the team has to find its own personal form as the season progresses. The varsity is up against a possible victory.

Big Three Are Key to Wrestlers’ Success

Big Three are of the opinion that the only way to win is to have three men who can score points. And, as he said, it is not necessary to have three of the best men as much as it is to have the three who can score. There are three schools that have the three best men in the country, and that is why the Danes are out to improve.

Several stars have been returning in recent days, and the Danes are shaping up to be a force to be reckoned with. The three men who are expected to do the scoring are Larry Miller, Rudy Vido, and Dennis Fifer. Each of these men has scored points before, and the Danes are hoping to see them do it again.

Larry Miller, a returning star in the 118 lb. class, will be one of the key figures in the Danes’ offensives. He is a strong, muscular man, and he is expected to score big points for the Danes.

Rudy Vido, a veteran of the past several years, will be another key figure in the Danes’ offensives. He is a strong, quick man, and he is expected to score big points for the Danes.

Dennis Fifer, a returning star in the 118 lb. class, will be another key figure in the Danes’ offensives. He is a strong, quick man, and he is expected to score big points for the Danes.
