Track Teams Open Seasons on a Positive Note

Trackmen Run First in Three School Event

In Ken Canton

The Albany State men's track team took first place when they competed against the University of Bridgeport and Skidmore College at the Bridgeport Invite on April 6. The team scored 166 points to take first place, 53 points ahead of second-place Skidmore. "We are very happy with our team performance, and we are looking forward to the rest of the season," said Coach Ron White.

Women's Track Place Second in Poor Conditions

In Marc Narhwick

The Albany State women's track team scored 58 points to finish second at the Bridgeport Invite despite poor weather conditions. "It was a tough day, but we are happy with our performance," said Coach Robert Munsey. "We have a lot of runners coming up who will do well as the season progresses."

Yes I'll Grant You That

A foreign policy committee recently received a memo from the university's administration outlining its plans for the upcoming academic year. The memo stresses the importance of maintaining a strong relationship with international partners, particularly in the context of ongoing global challenges.

Money for the Asking

One of your students is preparing to leave the country this summer for a research project. The project involves traveling to several countries to conduct interviews with local experts on various topics. They have been granted a small stipend to cover the costs of transportation and accommodations. Would you be willing to contribute to their efforts?

U.S. Weapons Vulnerable

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP) Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger says the U.S. military has serious problems with its nuclear weapons, and urgent steps are needed to expand American defenses. Weinberger told a group of defense workers Wednesday that the U.S. must respond to a new Soviet defense posture to reduce the danger of nuclear war. He urged Congress to provide funds for a defense system to combat the threat.

Mexican Volcano Erupts

PICHICHALCO, Mexico (AP) An army patrol reached the foot of El Volcan, one of Mexico's most active volcanoes, for the first time in nearly four decades. The volcano, located in the state of Veracruz, has been dormant since 1921.

Project Coordinator of Albany NYPIRG Jane Greenway was in Albany last week to coordinate plans for the 550-mile bottle bill walk, scheduled for May 16. The walk, which is expected to be the largest demonstration of its kind in the state, is aimed at raising public awareness of the need for bottle bill reform.

El Volcan, located in the state of Veracruz, has been dormant since 1921.

Tower East and Albany State Cinema to Merge

Albany New Times staff writer Jerry Lysinger is reporting that Tower East, by merging with the Albany State Cinema, will be able to offer a larger variety of films, including indie and foreign films. This move is expected to draw more patrons to the theater and increase revenue.

Anarchy Reigns on Dozens of College Campuses

Austin, Texas (CT) One of the first major government rep¬ resentatives to publicly express concern about the growing use of residence halls, or "dorms," to replace a sense of community and leadership was the University of Texas. "There's a special 'closed residence' hall that was built as a way of getting people and the leadership of Catholic student groups out of the way," said Robert Underwood, the university's director of student life. The university now has over 3000 dormitories and other activity that could be considered "quiet," dorms, North said, "and schools have responded with dorms as an option to the students. We've been forced to be accountable," North said, "and the leadership of Catholic student groups out of the way." CUTS SPUR NEW CREATIVITY IN COLLEGE FINANCING

Some public colleges — especially those in states changing — may not be able to preserve some programs, campuses or courses. But others can be hard to sell, observed Paul Arlin of Merrill Lynch & Co. in New York.

"The morality is determined by the extent of the belief and the nature of the problems," Arlin said.

Some are even more drastic in thinking. "We're in a whole new ball game with the federal government," said Hellman. "We're looking for alternatives, we expect them to be more open," Coleman said.

"The marketability is determined," Martin said.

"Everybody is looking for new revenue sources," University President Richard Garcia said. "We're in a whole new ball game with the federal government," said Kapsch. "We're looking for alternatives, we expect them to be more open," Coleman said.

Mind Camp
The Grad Illusion

Lenny Scott

The grad student's dilemma: how do you know if any of them genuinely want to work with you? In the process of trying to find a thesis advisor, you run the risk of alienating those professors whom they regard as 'off the wagon'.

But why should you get the American Express Card now?

...the game well enough to get what you need. If you consider joining yourself, which we hope you don't, we'll call you.

Of course, it's also great for restaurants, too.

...and even if you need furniture for your place, you can do it with the Card.

It's not the betterment of humanity, but toward a noble endeavor!

The questions boil down to the acceptance of kindness from strangers. I laugh so hard that he starts to choke.

...for example, there's the "Dr." Smith phenomenon. You may consider joining yourself, which we hope you don't, we'll call you.

Could it be such a go-getter Just goes to show that only cost $1.09. That's more than the whole problem with success is three thousand lights, but I'm lucky if I got off a single light.

...and your fellow grad students to develop into a little group of sorts. We may really be too busy to be friendly with each other. I'm afraid to say..."...I never would have thought you could pocket it. Leaving me matchless'

Something there is that knows no wall, even within Frost's country, then ordering in a kind of Manxanism. Manxman in the country south of the Humber River, an agency responsible for most of the wall murals throughout the city, of which there are several, if not quite many.

Mceneny, with a degree in political science, where he became associated with the movement that he began with the Peace Corps and others. Taking over the reins of the Human Resources Department in 1979, he found himself in a position to develop and implement programs in particular, hiring artists to create the murals that he has created. "The first mural was 'Blue Steps' at the corner of Lark and Washington, designed by Owen Rhodes. Many more have appeared, but it's probably the most notable to date, since it is the only one associated with a local, and not a state of New York. The mural has received a great deal of attention, both good and bad. Not all any wall is eligible, however. The mural must be better than an average wall, it must find an appropriately grungy wall, it must have community support. It is not just a decoration, it is a tool for the community." But there is more. Mceneny is a leader in CETA programs and other federal programs, and he tries to keep the city's culture and tourism. Now he wants to bring another one to the city, and that is the Great Cover-Up.

"It is a worthwhile goal, it seems, if one dares.... But there is a serious demand for Albany's arts, and cuts in CETA programs and other federal programs have made it necessary to think of Human Resources in a different way..." Mceneny will seek community support. If a wall is offered, he will consider it. If not, he will look for another.
Trouble With Paradise

Mark Rossier

Trouble With Paradise is the latest (and possibly penultimate) addition to the horror genre, but it's not the kind of horror you'd expect. The book is a collection of short stories, each one exploring a different theme of psychological terror. The stories are told from the perspective of different characters, each one offering a unique insight into the human psyche.

Springfield's Rx For Success

Steve Gosslet

Springfield's Rx For Success is a novel about the life of a young woman named Olivia. Olivia is a medical student who dreams of becoming a successful surgeon. However, her dreams are threatened when she falls in love with a patient who is dying of a terminal illness.

The Woman's Experience In Song

Lynn Goldberg

The Woman's Experience In Song is a collection of poetry that explores the experiences of women. The poems are written in a variety of styles, from free verse to sonnets. The collection is dedicated to the memory of the women who have influenced Goldberg's life.

Send In The Clowns

Debbie Judge

Send In The Clowns is a musical based on the life of the famous actor and clown, John Gilbert. The show is a tribute to Gilbert's life and career, and it features a cast of talented performers who bring his character to life.

Baseball Team Triumphs In Season Opener, 7-3

Late Rally For DanesHANDS RPI DEFEAT

by Larry Kasin

The Albany Great Danes baseball team produced a thrilling victory over the RPI Engineers on Saturday with a late rally to win 7-3. Albany scored all of its runs in the final two innings, including a game-winning hit by Mike Collins in the bottom of the seventh inning. The score after seven innings was 3-3, but Albany scored four runs in the eighth inning to claim the win.

Rangers Edge Out Islanders, 5-4

UNIONDALE, N.Y. — The Albany Great Danes defeated the New York Islanders in an exciting match on Saturday with a strong finish to win 5-4. The Islanders had a strong start but Albany's defense held strong, allowing only one run in the first five innings. In the sixth inning, Albany scored three runs, including a home run by Steve Weeks, to take the lead. The Islanders fought back with two runs in the seventh inning but Albany's defense held strong to secure the victory.

Women's Track Surpass Hartwick In Dual Meet

by MADHUBINE RAO

The women's track team was victorious this past Wednesday as they defeated Hartwick, 76-54. Squad member Steve Weeks and Robbie Ftorek's goal. He headed up ice on a 2-on-1 break with Eddie Johnstone and faked Smith to the ice before short tap-in, Rob McClanahan stole and raced to the unguarded cage, the final buzzer sounded.

Professors Question Tenure and Promotion Practices

by LISA PAZER

The Albany College of Pharmacy and Health Sciences is under investigation for potential tenure and promotion violations. Professor Judith White, a political science professor, has been accused of favoritism in the selection process. The university is now reviewing the allegations and deciding on the appropriate action.

Tie Line Services May be Cut Due to Rate Increase

by BARBARA BISHIAT

The rates for the Tie Line service may be increased due to a financial crisis. The Tie Line is a service that connects the state to the rest of the country. The increase in rates is expected to be gradual and will be implemented over the next few months. The university administration is now reviewing the possibilities of reducing the rates to mitigate the impact on students.
