DEBATE CHALLENGE FROM FRESHMEN IS GIVEN SPOHORES

Mysska acknowledged today the filling of a challenge by the freshmen to the sophomore class. The challenge was introduced in assembly, freshmen were the first to submit a challenge, according to Mysska.

Ritual rules provide that our class challenge the other class to either a debate or a game of a formal nature. The question of the time and place of the debate will be decided by the freshmen for both classes if the sophomores accept the challenge. Five points towards the rivalry rivalry will be earned for the winners.

The following freshmen will compete on the debate team: Hugh X. Nix, John D. Wortman, Richard F. Cams and George Rice. Rice has been appointed by the class to make arrangements for the debate.

For the past several years, since severe conditions have been conducted on the debate team. Freshmen still represent in possession of their courses, according to members of the debate team.

The following freshmen also are on the debate team: Paul C. Flaherty, James J. Johnson, James H. Keefe and Donald M. Blunt. According to Mysska, these will be valuable assistants for the freshmen in the debate.

SIX MEN LEAVE ON TRIP

Games With Pratt Institute And Annadale Teams Will Be Played

State College will probably serve as host to the New Jersey College for Teachers, following the cancellation of the game scheduled for Wednesday night in lieu of the basketball game.

Mr. E. W. Funkhouser, basketball coach for the freshman basketball team, announced that the basketball game has been canceled, and that the basketball team will play at City College.

In the cancellation of the game, St. Stephen's basketball management invited the varsity squad to play another night during the week. This week's game will not be considered, according to Register Pranger, coach for the junior team.

Pranger said that State College will play the New Jersey College for Teachers boys team at 7 P.M. in the Pratt Institute in New York to-night.

The basketball games will be played outside where they will play the Farmington College basketball team at 8 P.M.

Brests Schedule Second Time

This is the second time in as many years that the New York City legal department has cancelled scheduled games. The first time was forced to cancel the New York trip last year when the Antarctic Institution refused an engagement to play an exhibition game.

The last time for New York last Monday instead of starting the trip Wed., according to original plans. The Lyons will play the next exhibition game.

Since the junior team will appear on our schedule again, We will not try to contact them if we find them out of town at the last moment, Pranger said.

Sink the cancellation of the game, St. Stephen's student body will open the season with a three-game schedule against the Lyons.

State College will be the first to publish the annual in advance of the annual, which is scheduled for publication of work at a later date. The New York Times will be delayed in publication of the work at a later date.
PAST MASTERS OF CANCELLATION

The cancellation of its game with State College by St. Stephens College, for the second time in two years comes as a surprise. It may be that the present cancellation can be explained as plausibly as was the cancellation last year.

But students here will begin to wonder whether the management of the State varsity should sign St. Stephen's for any more games. The time is passing for a seating of athletic relations with the Anchorage institution; a decision should be arrived at only after a careful analysis of the case with the aid of a political. Until an adequate explanation can be made by the St. Stephen's management, the game will be postponed until the fall of 1929. It is entirely proper, though, for students to question the utility of these annual past masters of cancellation.
