Unaccustomed As We Are

We’re talking to a lot of people this week and we’ve asked innumerable times—if we wanted to put out a paper, what kind of a paper would be. The paper itself answers the first two questions, and we’ll like to answer the third.

We cannot definitely say we will be either radical or reformative, we have no set policy to be followed in every situation. As far as school politics are concerned, we will attempt to see things with an objective and critical eye, to communicate our own opinions and those of others to the student body.

One of the most important things we want to do is act on our own, without help from within the administration, and a link to activities outside the campus. We feel that there are many issues concerning the college and education in general that should be presented to the students, and we’ll try to do that.

If you have complaints about our paper, let us, not your friends. We’ll be glad to hear them and tell you our feelings about the paper and letters in a manner that makes the administration aware of your opinions, submit your articles, cartoons, etc., come to and start the extra copies.

The News is the college and the students’ paper; we expect you to use it to its fullest capacity, and we hope to present you to a complete picture of the campus.

Think!

Because destinations are not final until Monday, the News cannot print the list of candidates running for office in this issue. However, if you do not hear from the candidates in this issue’s paper that does not mean that you should take a vote before you enter the voting booth next Friday or Monday. And do not doubt a chief student of government, to find out what candidates are running is a normal act of curiosity, and no one is, and then to decide for yourself whether you think their ideas are right or wrong, for yourselves, and not for us. Thank you for your understanding and cooperation.

Freshmen—you’re picking the leaders of your class and your school for the first time. Remember, if you don’t pick the leaders of your class, you won’t know who is running before you enter the voting booth next Friday or Monday. It is your duty as a student, as a citizen, as a member of a group, not as a member of a group, not as an individual, not as a member of a group, for a member of a group.

A Pinch Of Personality

To define the Junior class is an impossible task, but qualities that characterize the Yellowjackets of 1960 might be combined to make an enticing and delicious recipe. The basic ingredients are approximately 1005 people but tenacious Freshmen. Add to this a generous portion of curiously large and diverse talents, all of which have been sifted, mixed, and simmered together to add flavor. Fold in lots of good times, a few occasional failures, quite a bit of anxiety, and competitive acrimony in a dash of individuality and originality and garnished with a healthy respect for the traditions of Minerva. The end result of this recipe will most likely be a complete, cooperative, efficient, and successful organization. This recipe has been tried and tested in the laboratories of N.Y.S.C.T., and the Junior class has been granted the "Well-Baked Class" award of approval, and is characterized by the Minerva Crocker Development Corporation.

The verdict freshmen noticed a little sooner in September 1960, but the Minerva Crocker Honor Court: Class of '60: Harmony, Eleanor, and Dom DeCourcey, our MYSTANIA class guardians. 05 members of our class were on the way to Minerva. We find:

What Junior could ever forget Bob Hehir, strumming his guitar a la Belafonte... The Sunday dance sessions at freeing, with more singing and drinking (rook) than dancing... Our original song, "T-O-P," that was introduced in the fresh with June Alexander and Ellie Orown, and that was sung every day thereafter... Our "voluntary" attendance at compulsory Convocations, or we remained standing until MYSTANIA was seated. The "dancing diva's" blanket at Porcelains with the colors of the "B" girls. The "secretaries" of the slate of class officers and Senators... The sun... our beloved Moving-Up Day, when pervaded with a certain spirit and comraderie which can only come when students are

Jolly Juniors

The Junior class is a vital part of Minerva's life, and one which is always ready to lend a hand. They are the heart and soul of the school, and their energy is contagious. They are the ones who make the school what it is, and they are the ones who make it fun. They are the ones who make the school a place where people want to be, and they are the ones who make it a place where people can have fun. They are the ones who make the school a place where people can learn, and they are the ones who make it a place where people can grow. They are the ones who make the school a place where people can be themselves, and they are the ones who make it a place where people can be happy. They are the ones who make the school a place where people can be proud of, and they are the ones who make it a place where people can be proud of themselves.

The Charging Times

We all know that each and every year, Minerva's Junior class is the one that gets it all. They are the ones who make the school fun, and they are the ones who make it a place where people want to be. They are the ones who make it a place where people can learn, grow, and have fun. They are the ones who make it a place where people can be themselves, and they are the ones who make it a place where people can be happy. They are the ones who make it a place where people can be proud of, and they are the ones who make it a place where people can be proud of themselves.

Junior Writer Contemplates Class Nomenclature; Yellow Jackets Bask In Bright Golden Haze

By Dave Feldman

Yellow Jackets, Yellow Jackets... What ever in the pearl-gray, star-crossed world can be said about the Yellow Jackets? They are yellow. No more than the right-golden hue that sets them apart from the rest. They are not just a group of students, they are a part of Minerva. They are not just students, they are part of the fabric of Minerva. They are not just students, they are part of the Minerva family.

They are the yellow jackets that have been the backbone of Minerva for many years. They are the ones who have been there through the good times and the bad. They are the ones who have been there through thick and thin. They are the ones who have been there through it all, and they are the ones who will continue to be there for Minerva.
