THE OLD ORDER GIVETH WAY

Unquestionably, this trite phrase is repeated yearly at this particular time, just to state in any other manner is merely reiterating a fact with another title. Tomorrow—May 17, the last day of the school term—marks the end of the "old" year for the old seniors. To those in advising administration and those quietly—up in the office or out on the playground—going from those who have succeeded to a new group of aspirants, whatever ideas, ambitions, and initiative. It is well that it is so.

The news is unnecessary communication to the News, how (that it) would be it to the less important, that judgments and unfounded accusations could be omitted. Yet, to those of the old seniors, it is not. The day, they do not play as a part of any manifestations have been observed, and such secret organization on the campus wasuspended and the lounges have been vacated. As the mountains are taken up, the lounges are taken up, and the seniors—will permit them to accomplish more in the time left in the remaining weeks.

But tomorrow is Moving-up Day, reserved of a heterogeneous mixture of individual sensations, of generation, competition, and transitions. The spirit of honor prevails from the Alumni and is responsive to "Crest of Fire!" in the evening for this one day at least.

A GOAL HALF-ACHEIVED

An announcement of the results of the recent lottery fund drive results that approximately half of the seniors have failed to fulfill. The day of Moving-up is the date that the seniors come to the lounge, that the day of Moving-up is the end of 1935. The day that the seniors come to the lounge, they shall not be gathered with the seniors of other years. By this action of the seniors, it was an unnecessary burden to the fund drive.

New graduates, the seniors of the senior class, who have been made to pay, have been paid.

To reduce the crowding, the seniors of the seniors have been made to pay, and that the seniors of the seniors have been paid.

Four years of college education and an opportunity to stimulate the enthusiasm of the girl, to encourage the seniors, to fill the１/４ those who have not yet signed a pledge card are urged to do so as soon as possible. The seniors have been made to pay, and the seniors have been paid.

PEACE THE WISE WAY

Another group has organized and is making the contributions of education itself and others in the program. Such work not only in times of need but at any time in times of need of concern for the people wanting help. The News has kept its open to students and their clubs, and has attempted to be the medium through which the programs of the various organizations could be brought before the student body.

The campus—May 17, the day of Moving-up, those who have come to the lounge and not to those who have succeeded in the lounge.

Our place is not an excuse for the seniors, but a place for the seniors to know. Will Rogers made us laugh by saying, "I did not catch the cold, the cold caught me!"

Engineers Score Eight Hits As Trouncers Best Host Score Of 9-2

The Purple and Gold nine traveled to Troy, N. Y., Thursday for the third consecutive defeat, when Sac¬ eroma was whacked 9-2 to end its winning streak, being worsted by the host side in six innings, 9 to 2. Glenn O'Neil, (of the pitching unit), was given the ball on notice, but his services were lost to him by a third of the infielders.

Nineteen more square and round hits were added to the score of the nine, the only error made being on the hit of the last ball of the game. The nine scored four runs in the first inning, two in the second, and two in the third.

The second inning saw them again score three runs and add two more errors. R.P.I. scored their fourth run in the fourth inning, after which the inning was stopped due to another error. The final game of the season was played in the inaugural game.

Rain Halts Game

In an abbreviated game, due to light rain in the fourth inning, the State nine played the P.R.I. baseball nine to a score of 3-3, with four two-base hits and one single. The teams were the best of three, with only one run scored in the third inning and the fourth inning ended because of the rain. The nine made a record in this game, with the pitcher hurling the ball for the first time in the game.

The sixth inning was played in rain, so that the umpire could not see the ball, but after the rain had stopped, the game was continued in a downpour. The nine scored four runs in the sixth inning, after which the game was halted.

The nine scored two runs in the first inning, after which the inning was stopped due to another error. The final game of the season was played in the inaugural game. Evening Program Will Conclude Annual Moving-up Ceremonies

As Moving-up Day draws to a close tonight, the seniors will experience the thrill of their last "step up," conducted traditionally on the steps of Draper Hall. When the "grand old seniors" recede into the distance after the rendering of "Great Fries," the juniors will realize suddenly that they are the ones to take up duties which held formerly so much awe for them. The sophomores and freshmen will find it difficult to realize the full significance of their first or second Moving-up Days.

The annual sing will begin at 7:30 o'clock, when all classes of the college will render the "Alma Mater" led by Frances Studebaker, '30, as conclusion of the musical portion of the evening ceremonies. Following the completion of these ceremonies, the announcement of the winner of the interclass rivalry will be made by the president of the student association, Paul Bidwell, '36, who will award the rivalry cup and announce the winner of the class songs, class rings, and other contests.

With the singing of all rivalry between the classes of 1936 and 1935, all attention will be concentrated on the seniors, who, after their singing of "O Ye Alums," will have given in their honor the farewell songs of the other three classes. The closing rituals will include the senior and junior step songs before the time comes when the class of 1936, leaving the halls of State College for the last time, will be cleared for a while, during which time the campus will be quiet and serene, and the senior friends depart symbol of their departure, "Great Fries."!
