Dennis: For four years, students have been upset with the overcrowded bus service on campus. However, recently, students have become even more disgruntled with the bus service. In order to ride the buses, students must show their student ID. This has been the case for a long time, but recently, the administration has implemented a policy that all students must show their ID in order to ride the buses. The purpose of this policy is to ensure that only students are using the bus service. However, students are not happy with this policy, as it can be very inconvenient to have to show ID every time they want to ride the bus. Some students have even reported that they have forgotten their ID and had to turn around and go back to their dorms to get it.

Mr. Stevens: Mr. Stevens' plan to implement ID checking is a good idea. It will help to prevent non-students from using the bus service, which is currently open to anyone. This will help to ensure that the buses are available for students who need them. However, I believe that the policy could be improved by allowing students to show their ID electronically, rather than requiring them to carry a physical ID at all times. This would make it easier for students to use the bus service and reduce the need for them to carry a physical ID.

Mr. Stevens: I disagree with Mr. Stevens' proposal. While the policy is necessary to ensure that only students are using the bus service, it is not practical to require students to show their ID every time they want to ride the bus. This would be very inconvenient and would make it difficult for students to use the bus service. I believe that a more practical solution would be to require students to show their ID only when they are unable to ride the bus due to overcrowding, such as during peak hours. This would allow students to use the bus service more conveniently, while still ensuring that only students are using the service.

Mr. Stevens: I believe that the policy is necessary to ensure that the students are using the bus service. It is important to ensure that the buses are available for students who need them, and this policy will help to prevent non-students from using the service. While it may be inconvenient for some students, I believe that the benefits of the policy outweigh the drawbacks. It is important to ensure that the bus service is used efficiently and effectively, and this policy will help to achieve that goal.

scarves, and boots. Soviet clothing is major goods seemed to be socks, tiers across and three floors high, with hundreds of little stores, three or four dozen windows, chimes, and bells. The project.

Opposite the hero’s tomb is GUM’s, Moscow’s largest department store in the Union. It was opened in 1903 and is now the site of a few of the largest and most luxurious stores in the Soviet Union. The building is a masterpiece of early 20th-century architecture, with its grand marble facades and intricate carvings. Inside, you can find everything from clothing and shoes to books and souvenirs. GUM is located in the heart of Moscow, near the Red Square, and is one of the most popular tourist attractions in the city.

According to the guide, the store is open from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily, and admission is free. Visitors can explore the store on their own, or they can take a guided tour. The store is divided into several sections, each with its own theme. For example, there is a section dedicated to Russian clothing and accessories, another to home decor, and yet another to art and antiques.

The store is a popular destination for tourists and locals alike, and it is easy to see why. From the moment you step inside, you are transported to a different time and place. The store is a veritable treasure trove of Soviet-era goods, and visitors can find everything from vintage clothing and shoes to old-fashioned cameras and other retro items.

One of the most interesting aspects of GUM is its history. The store was originally built in 1903 as a department store, but it was destroyed during World War II. After the war, it was rebuilt and reopened in 1952. Since then, it has remained one of the most popular shopping destinations in Moscow.

Today, GUM is a symbol of the Soviet era and a reminder of the country’s rich history. Visitors can explore the store on their own or take a guided tour, and they can find everything from vintage clothing and shoes to old-fashioned cameras and other retro items. Whether you are a history buff or simply enjoy shopping, GUM is definitely worth a visit. So, the next time you are in Moscow, make sure to visit GUM and experience the history and culture of the former Soviet Union.

Stevens and the Plant Department to even­

He claims that too many non-students are packing our buses.

The safety argument doesn't stand up to crowds packing into the buses are to students. He knows that students will not accept the green monsters to catch that 9:45. It doesn't make sense to enforce the ID checks during peak times — there's just not enough time and it's unnecessary. Safety isn't a problem during peak times, only at night.

It does make sense to check for ID if those ID's are going to be reduced with bus passes we have to buy. It looks a lot like Dennis Stevens wants us all to get used to the idea of showing a pass, or,

ID card to gain access to the buses.

When the new stop occurs, plan to ignore it. Join the TD boycott. If students decide that showing ID's during peak time is a waste of time, we might be able to stop Stevens' latest attempt to get us used to the idea of new buses.

As they say, life is what you make it. Stevens' latest idea to prepare for the era of pay buses is a joke. Laugh a little at it

Saturday with the rest of us.

Women’s Track Tops Binghamton in Squeaker

BY DAVE KAPLAN

It was an afternoon where almost everyone had fun. When the 108th annual running of the Igloo Mile was run at the Albany Civic Center on Tuesday night, it was a night when the athletes and the fans enjoyed themselves. The meet, sponsored by the Hudson Valley Track Club, was a night when the athletes and the fans enjoyed themselves.

The women’s track team from Binghamton University has been a force to be reckoned with in recent years. They won the meet with 124.5 points, while the men’s team lost to the University of Albany 111-107.5.

The meet was not only a great day for the athletes, but also for the fans who got to see some of the best performers in the nation.

In the 108th running of the Igloo Mile, Binghamton’s Joy Cupasco was the winner. She set a new record for the mile, running it in 4:19.3. This was Cupasco’s third victory of the season.

Binghamton was second with 58 points. The University of Albany was third with 42 points.

The scoring moved back and forth throughout the meet, but in the end, Binghamton emerged as the winner.

In addition to Cupasco’s victory, Binghamton also had other key performers. They had the best times in the 100-meter dash, 200-meter dash, and 400-meter hurdles.

The meet was a great day for Binghamton University. They came out on top in the women’s meet and were competitive in the men’s meet.
