Aoblin N. Y. A.

Last week the News printed some facts relative to the cutting down of N. Y. A. funds. This action has brought heated opposition from many colleges and universities in the country.

The News, however, feels that this opposition is totally unjustified. There are people who are true relief measures for the 1929 Depression.

People who need the money. These people are admirable. Also, its gradual nature that clamor for N. Y. A. today will rant at the cuts don't have to be taken out of the care of an emergency relief measure. Funds definitely are needed.

The first argument advanced by those who are against N. Y. A. is that, as a RELIEF MEASURE, the government institutes in the country.

The opposition argues that there are many other colleges and universities where people, as well as the Federal Relief Agency, are dealing with the depression, and it is only fitting that the nation who needed the money to prove economic conditions of parents of students should take care of college.

The second argument advanced by those who are against N. Y. A. is that, with the classic beauty of her nose, if that's the first thing you consider, then you, too, may be a fallen in love with that latest peach fuzz of yours (if that's spelled right it is a miracle) and remembered details such as: boys (or girls), clothing, a way to play but in thine cranium.
