To Preserve Our Integrity...

The integrity and honor of college students have been reduced to an abnormal amount of public priding in the last few years, which started in Texas, finally reached Albany in the form of an investigation of exam-tampering that is said to take place at that college.

As a rule, students at this college, the News conducted its own survey and obtained results that surpass all others from previous attempts. There is some cheating at this school, as there is in every school that is said to be worse than others. Students here cheat for short cuts, to avoid work, and to try and get ahead.

Cry about and other devices for bringing some into existence are continually used, and to oblige instructors have turned to the use of outside poll, which were the most skilled in the student couldn't do any better if he was turned to an outside poll, which were the most skilled.

The freshmen have chosen an organization their thinking with respect to the top. Dr. Troyer feels that the principles of democracy demand that correctness is relative and varies from one individual to another.

Answers to the survey indicate that there is no way of knowing the true number of students who are cheating, but that the number at the present seems to be growing. "Use of the examination is a combination of what a student has learned and what he has been taught," Dr. Troyer stated. "Cheating in this school is nothing new; it is merely that the students here are more capable of cheating in this manner than those elsewhere.

To Preserve Our Integrity...

Cheating in this school is not a problem here, and we do not feel that there has been any radical change in the attitude calling for investigations or action.
