Students to occupy a third of Senate
by Diane McNamara

As a result of the many student demonstrations and strikes on campus over the past year, the Senate is now faced with a situation where members of the Senate are expressing concerns about the relative participation in and control over the administration of the university. Although the Senate is responsible for the university's educational and administrative programs, students are now demanding greater representation in the Senate.

Last fall the Senate approved a resolution allowing students to participate on the Faculty Senate, and this year they are reasserting their role in the university. At the last Senate meeting, students proposed that the Senate expand its role in university administration by having a third of the Senate members be students.

Although the President is currently responsible for policy, university students, faculty, and staff are calling for the Senate to take on more responsibilities. The students are calling for increased representation in the Senate and a greater say in university decision making. They believe that students should have a greater voice in the university's governance.

The Senate has been slow to respond to these calls for reform. However, with the increasing pressure from students, the Senate may be forced to take action. The move to have a third of the Senate members be students could be viewed as a step in the right direction. It could provide a voice for students in the Senate, and it could also help to ensure that the Senate is more representative of the university community.

Activities Day smorgasbord
by Tobi Goldstein

If you don't go to Activities Day this Saturday, I am 3 pm, you won't be a social pariah. And if you don't go to Activities Day this Saturday (first floor, Campus Center, balcony area), you won't be any less welcome at any time during the year as a member of the organization of your choice.

However, it is in your advantage to attend this smorgasbord of events. Vendors, including the WRA (Women's Recreation Association), will be on hand. Skits will be performed by members of the Dramatics Council. The Art Council will sponsor art exhibits. For an added touch, come to the jacks and karate demonstrations. And all this to the sound of WCLA.

Aside from special demonstrations, each organization will sponsor a booth equipped to supply you with information concerning the club and the club's activities.

Three plagues will be presented at the mixer Saturday night for the most popular booth, the most original booth, and the most published booth.

Special attention freshmen and transfers: This is the only time all year to see the many varied organizations on campus at the same time. There will be something for everyone, and all interests will be represented.

WHO'S WHO

The annual elections for "Who's Who" will be held on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, October 1st and 2nd. All students with the exception of first semester freshmen and transfers may vote. Voting will take place in the main lounge of the Campus Center during the hours of 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Wednesday and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Thursday. The students must present their ID and validation card when they vote.

Applications will be available at the Campus Center Information Desk starting Sept. 26 for LAC and Central College, Respect and University Senate. Deadline is Oct. 10th at 5 p.m. at the SA Office CC 346.
National Teacher Examinations to be held four different dates

College seniors preparing to teach math, science, health, or health education may take the National Teacher Examinations. These examinations are given at intervals throughout the United States.

The results of the National Teacher Examinations are used by many large school districts as one of several factors in the selection of which they will employ, or by certification or licensing of new teachers. Some colleges also require applicants to pass these examinations as a condition of admission.

In order to determine which professions you are interested in, some schools also use the results of these examinations to select students who meet their professional requirements and standards.

These deadlines are firm.

The Albany Student Press will have details on the examinations for each profession in the Classifieds section of the paper.

No exceptions will be made.

Home includes some ads, telephone numbers with the Classifieds page as well.

Teehan to head Psychology Dept., aims for conventional structure

By Valerie Kim

Richard A. Tevan has been appointed chairman of the department of psychology at the State University College at Albany, according to Dr. Donald E. Lent, dean of the College of General Studies.

Dr. Tevan, an expert in the field of psychology, is currently a professor of psychology at the University of Illinois. He has been a member of the psychology department at the University of Illinois for the past 10 years.

Dr. Tevan's appointment is effective immediately and he will begin his duties in the spring of the coming year.

His primary goal will be to develop a conventional psychology program that will provide students with a solid foundation in the field.

Teehan is a graduate of the State University College at Albany and received his Ph.D. in psychology from the University of Illinois. He has been a member of the faculty at the University of Illinois for the past 10 years.

He is a member of the American Psychological Association and the Society for Research in Child Development.

His research interests include child development, social psychology, and personality theory.

Teehan has published numerous articles in professional journals and has been a regular contributor to the Albany Student Press.

He is the author of several books on psychology, including "Introduction to Psychology," which is widely used in college courses.

Teehan is married and has two children.

Induction refusal based on conscience

By Andy Thaya

"Because our ability to kill is a part of our nature, we must acknowledge the fact that the draft is not merely a matter of individual conscience, but that it is also a matter of public conscience."

The Albany Student Press was recently contacted by a student who had just returned from the induction service and was refusing to participate.

"I feel that the draft is unjust and immoral," the student said. "I cannot in good conscience participate in an institution that I believe is fundamentally flawed.

"I have been a member of the Albany Student Press for several years and have always felt a strong connection to the newspaper.

"I am writing this letter to let you know that I have decided to refuse induction. I know that this decision may be difficult for some of you, but I believe that it is necessary for me to stand up for what I believe is right.

"I am not the only one who feels this way. Many other students have made the same decision and we are working together to support each other.

"I hope that you will understand my position and respect my decision. I am committed to doing what I believe is right, even if it means going against the law.

"I know that this may not be popular, but I believe that it is important for me to act on my conscience.

"I will continue to support the Albany Student Press and to fight for the issues that are important to me.

"Thank you for your understanding and support."
MALCOLM WILSON, chairman of the "Isle of Wight," reported to the audience that they would have to prepare for the upcoming event. The meeting was held at the Isle of Wight Community Center, and representatives from various organizations were present.

The agenda included discussions on community projects, budget issues, and upcoming events. Wilson emphasized the importance of collaboration and cooperation among community members.

The meeting concluded with a call to action for community involvement in upcoming projects. The next meeting is scheduled for the third week of October.

October 15. We also support—and, again, urge all to do likewise—the call for a moratorium on the Vietnam War. The Vietnam Moratorium has cost over 10,000 American lives. It is the moral responsibility of individuals on campus to do likewise—to support the call for a moratorium on the Vietnam War.

Mobilization

The war in Vietnam has occupied a new level in American life, one which cannot be ignored in the future. For the first time, the public has come to understand that the Vietnam War is not simply a battle fought in distant lands but a battle fought on American soil. The public must be mobilized into a political force of its own. The whole war must be fought by the people, not by the military. The people must demand to know what is being done to end this war. The people must be allowed to participate in the decision to end this war.

The proposal of the Vietnam Moratorium is one of the most important steps ever taken in the history of our country. It is a step in the right direction. It is a step towards peace. It is a step towards justice. It is a step towards the future.

Legal Reform

We are in favor of the proposal to have the law rewritten to make it more just. We support the idea of a legal system that is based on the principles of fairness and justice. We support the idea of a legal system that is based on the principles of equality and human rights. We support the idea of a legal system that is based on the principles of democracy and participation.

NO SEX BEFORE MARRIAGE

To the Editor,

I would like to express my concern about the current trend of sex before marriage. It is a trend that I believe is harmful to both individuals and society as a whole. I believe that sex before marriage is a decision that should be made by each individual on his or her own terms, and not dictated by society or religious organizations. I believe that sex before marriage should be a decision that is made by both individuals on a voluntary basis, and not dictated by society or religious organizations.
