The feeling of Authority that has been overshadowing this college for some time seems to have settled permanently. Exposed to a student who has been an active participant in the life of the campus community, it is evident that there is a feeling of Authority that is present in the student body. There are very few students who do not feel any Authority in the decision-making process. This Authority, however, is not necessarily a negative force, as it can be used to bring about positive change.

The Authority is often referred to as the "Establishment" by some students, who feel that it is an obstacle to their own personal development. Others, however, see it as a necessary part of the college experience, providing structure and direction.

The Authority is most evident in the decision-making process. The student body is often consulted, but the final decision is ultimately made by the faculty and administration. This can be frustrating for students who feel that their voices are not being heard.

Another aspect of Authority is the feeling that the college is "out of touch" with the needs and desires of the students. This is a common complaint, with many students feeling that the college is not responsive to their needs.

The Authority is also evident in the way that the college structures its organization. The administration is often insulated from the students, making it difficult for students to have a direct influence on the decision-making process.

Despite these challenges, the Authority is an integral part of the college experience. It provides structure and direction, and helps to ensure that the college is moving in the right direction.

The Authority is a complex and multifaceted concept, and it is important for students to understand its role in the college community. By doing so, they can work to ensure that the Authority is used in a positive and constructive way, rather than being seen as an obstacle to personal development.
D& A Council To Present Graphic Artists' Exhibit

Dearlights and Arts Council will present an exhibit of graphic art from the Metropolitan Museum of the Arts in New York. The exhibition, run by the depression-era Print Club, will feature a small selection of work created during the "golden age of book design" in the 20th century. The exhibit will be open until April 1st. It will feature a variety of graphic art, including posters, prints, and illustrated books. The exhibit is free and open to the public.

Communications

Communications from Page 1. Colleagues and friends of the Metropolitan Museum of the Arts have been photographing the exhibits and sending me notes about their experiences. I found the exhibit to be a wonderful opportunity to see some of the best graphic art of the 20th century. The exhibits were well-organized and thought-provoking. I am looking forward to seeing more exhibits like this in the future.
