Four S.U.N.Y.A. Students Attend Princeton Conference

The second annual Princeton Conference on Latin American studies, sponsored by the New York State Council on the Arts, was held at Princeton University on April 26 and 27. Joseph P. Farlan, former U.S. leges and universities including students from Swarthmore, Vassar, Union College and Columbia University, were speakers at some of the sessions. The conference was co-sponsored by the New York State Council on the Arts and the Princeton University Press.

In addition to the conference, a panel discussion was held on the future of Latin American studies in higher education. The panelists included students from Swarthmore, Vassar, Union College and Columbia University. The panel was moderated by Marshall T. Lang, Director of the Union College Field House and Director of the Union College Field House.

It is expected that the issues will remain as important and relevant as they were at the first conference.

SCOPE Speaker Emphasizes Need To Awaken Negro Rights

A Negro college student at the University of Texas, who had been arrested for speaking out against the treatment of Negroes in the south, was a speaker at a recent SCOPE (Student Concrete Political Education) meeting. The student, who was arrested for speaking out against the treatment of Negroes in the south, is a student at the University of Texas.

Mr. Scruton, a graduate of the University of Texas, has been active in the movement for civil rights and has spoken out against the treatment of Negroes in the south. His speech focused on the need for Negroes to fight for their rights and to be awakened to the realities of the situation.

Further Training

The student said that the future of the Negro is not certain. He said that the Negroes are being denied the opportunities that are available to the whites and are being denied the rights that are available to them. He said that the Negroes must be awakened to the realities of the situation and must fight for their rights.

Mr. Scruton's main point was that the Negroes must be awakened to the realities of the situation. He said that the Negroes must fight for their rights and must not be denied the opportunities that are available to the whites.

New Government a Reality

The announcement in the proposed new Student Association constitution will culminate today. The constitution which has been submitted to the students for approval is the culmination of much time and effort by many students and faculty members. This is the end of the saga of student government; it is rather a beginning on a new horizon.

Each student in this University will benefit from the new structured student government and each has a responsibility in the referendum — in the affirmative.

With the approval of the new S.A. constitution, the second and major change in student government this year, Provisional Council, which was elected in March and will serve until new government is inaugurated in May, was the transitional stage.

Now, Central Council, Commissions, Boards, and a Supreme Court will work on the task of student government.

Because this constitution is a culmination of much work does not mean it is the end of the concern and action to make government SUNYA more meaningful and practical. It is the major step in the transition from government as structured by first Senate, and now Provisional Council.

The new constitution will still have one major task before it. Once the new constitution is approved, the Council must help coordinate and bring the new structure into the new government structure. This will require the complete support and cooperation of all the other government structures, living areas, units, and students as individuals.

It is one thing to have a government structure on paper and another to make it function. During the initial implementation of the new government, there will inevitably be unforeseen problems, but with cooperation the new government will operate effectively.

With the support of the total University community, the government will no longer be "just promulgating" but rather one of action — a fulfillment of the hope and work of all those who helped to make it a reality.

The most immediate thing is for the whole student body to give its overwhelming support and approval to the new student government structure in voting in the affirmative in the current referendum.

Vice Chairman Protests Against Passage of Solarium

To the Editor — I, Earl O. Schreiber, the Vice Chairman of the Student Assembly, hereby protest against the passage of the motion to build a solarium in the Student Union.

I believe this motion to be contrary to the best interests of the students of SUNYA. The solarium, as proposed, would be a structure that would not only serve no useful purpose but would actually detract from the overall good of the student body.

In my opinion, the funds should be used for a more beneficial purpose, such as the improvement of existing facilities or the construction of new ones. I urge you to reconsider this motion and to act in the best interests of SUNYA.

Sincerely yours,

Earl O. Schreiber
Vice Chairman

P.S. — The Student Assembly will hold its next meeting on Monday, April 10, at 7:30 PM in Room 100 of the Union.

Calendar for Fine Arts

Street Scene — The annual fine arts calendar is now available for purchase. This calendar features beautiful artwork by SUNYA students and faculty. The proceeds will go towards supporting the arts department.

Abandoned and deserted sections remain as a reminder of the past. With scenes like these for inspiration, the u.s. citizens in Albany are encouraged to take action.
Sociology, Anthropology Professor Describes U.S. Negro Sub-culture

By Cynthia Goodman

"An American culture with a coefficient of suffering" is the expression used by Mrs. Alix O'Harra, Sociology and Anthropology instructor at Albany, to describe the Negro sub-culture in the United States. In 1939-1940, Mrs. O'Hara served as an instructor of the all-Negro Atlanta University.

Mrs. O'Hara, who has been an instructor at the University for a number of years, is particularly keenly interested in the Negro problem. She was a student in the Negro Institute where she witnessed first hand what she termed "real Negro men and women." She was, in fact, the first Negro Professor to be appointed to/ the University and the American Negro Professor with a Ph.D. degree.

Mrs. O'Hara finds the Negro leadership of social responsibility. "In fact, she recalls, the University will hold a tea party for the Negro leaders of the Negro leadership. She soberly adds, however, "Despite this, the University will not be able to represent the Negro leadership in the country of the Negro..." Even though it is not legalized discrimination, Mrs. O'Hara sees the potential for this kind of resistance was most amazing, in her view. "I thought surely that after such a thing as the Negro leadership's efforts, the University would fight with dignity within the limits of the American constitution..." She finds the Negro leadership by this fact, "But it is also a sign of the University's failure to represent the Negro leadership of the Negro..."

Although the White Southern Life is always taken to be the Negro's life, Mrs. O'Hara has some prior observations of Southern whites. She considers, "It is the Negro's life that is the white life, while the Southern life is the Negro's life..."

Yes, the talent is there.

During the past week, the St. lawmen had compiled a 3-1 record in their series against Crewe and Owens, and a loss to RPI. On April 22, a loss decision Crewe to Crewe, 0-5, and followed that up with a 7-3 victory the next day. Last took last to RPI by a decisive 7-1 score.

St. state leading position has been Ken Zacharia, who, playing no. 1 on the team, was unfazed after the three matches. He was one of the 18 singles into winners in the RPI match for St. lawmen. The game was played on a Sunday afternoon, and with much publicity, as the attention-twisting four-entrants, representing six teams and independents. Yes, the inherent spirit is there.

The times and distances were outstanding, considering the condition of the field and runners. The minutes and distances were actually and accurately for all the runners. The spirit of the entrants was great, too, as several entered into counts for the first time, just to win places for their team. Yes, the spirit is there.

Track is the greatest individual sport in all of America. Siena's recently formed track club has risen to prominence with the arrival of such stars as Zacharias, Enser, Markman, Nicosia, and Vicente.

The Peds stroked eight hits, but runs were scarce, as the pitching was strong. A. S. C. won decisively, 7-1, to take the lead. President Goud Extends Appreciation To Students for Budget Cut Protest

Dr. Bernard A. Gould, State President, announced today that the track and field teams will be allowed to participate in the spring season. The opening of the season will be contingent upon the receipt of the budget cut.

In the weekly press conference, Dr. Gould informed Press that the President of the University of New York will be held on May 17, and that the decision will be announced at that time. The President will decide whether to hold the meet in the fall or spring season.

The President of the University of New York, Dr. William J. Collins, announced today that the University will continue to participate in the spring season. The opening of the season will be contingent upon the receipt of the budget cut.
