Waverly Place, standing in the quiet space, is the center of quietly carried on negotiations between the Faculty-Student, Alumni, and Student Associations, SA, in partnership with the classes of '73, '74, and '75.\n
According to the agreement between the parties of Waverly, Inc., at some point in the future, the house must be offered for sale to the parties, at the same conditions. \n Waverly Inc. has full authority to sell the house to the parties once the sale is completed. \n Finally, if no one buys, the house will be put on the open market.

On Thursday, February 13, 1981, the University of Sydney received an invited lecture from Professor Sir Arnold Leuchars, O.M., from the University of Aberdeen. Two fires were reported in the student residence area of the University of Sydney. One fire was reported in Oilers; the other in a building occupied by the Australian Students Union. Both fires were quickly extinguished by the sprinkler system. The cause of the fires will be investigated by the University's department of fire protection.

Benezet to Waterman: Tenure, Yes; Promo, No

by Goree von Nostitz

The lengthy Waterman confusion ended in a stormy faction last week when University President Lois Brownoff offered to appear before the psychology professor's tenure committee.

In agreeing to the Waterman faction, the President rejected the call from the College Council on Promotions and Tenure for an independent hearing in the case of Waterman's approval letter, passed since the original Psychology Council on Promotions and Tenure recommendation that she be granted both promotion and tenure.

It has long been expected that the world would demand Waterman. However, the president from the Department of strong undergraduate teaching refused to have provided them otherwise.

Much of this criticism came from Waterman's own friends, led by Terry Geller, Susan Johnson, Edward Eden, Alfred and others.

But the issue is now that any acceptance of such actions could be from more Water-
 man's critics.

Part of the fault comes from the rush between sessions and the pace at which the world as moves, becomes subject to the rumbling waters.

In truth, all the beautiful kites, Waterman's work was done back to a position in a new and peerless new world of problem-solving and in-turns.

Dollar Finds it Rough Going

by Fred Coleman Associated Press

LONG ISLAND, N.Y. - The dollar found some new life in the foreign exchange market Tuesday in its biggest gain since the first devaluation of the American currency. The dollar's 4.5 cent gain was not unexpected and was largely due to the speculators' belief that the United States will relax its monetary policies.

This belief was strengthened by the indication that the Federal Reserves will soon cut back on its open market sales of dollars.

The dollar's gain came as a surprise to many economists who expected the dollar to fall further.

They had predicted that the dollar would continue to fall until it reached a new low level.

But the Federal Reserve Board has decided to keep the dollar at its present level until further notice.

The dollar's gain was also due to the fact that the American currency is considered to be a safe haven in times of uncertainty.

FSA Fumbling Along

With last semester's formulation of a FSA personnel policy, part-time and full-time workers achieved some level of security from arbitrary dismissals. However, the FSA personnel policy has not always been followed. Northeast Finance Director James Whitehead said, in an interview with The Sun, that the severity of the dismissals are due to the fact that the policy is there, but is not being followed.

One of the main points of the policy is that any worker who has been working for more than one year should be given at least a month's notice before being dismissed. Whitehead said, "If this policy is not followed, then the only way to get Arboretum to follow it is to report them in the Faculty Handbook, and get them fired."

Some workers have been fired without notice, or with only a day's notice. Others have been fired without a full month's notice. One worker was fired with only a week's notice, and another was fired with only two days' notice.

The FSA is also responsible for the payment of wages. However, many workers have not been paid on time, or have not been paid at all. One worker was paid only once in four months, and another was paid only once in six months.

The FSA is also responsible for the payment of wages. However, many workers have not been paid on time, or have not been paid at all. One worker was paid only once in four months, and another was paid only once in six months.

FSA members are not given a voice in the decision-making process. They are not consulted about changes to the policy, and are not given a chance to voice their opinions. The FSA is run by a small group of people, who make all the decisions.

Danes Bounce Back: Crush Oswego 81-50

by Bill Heller

The women's team faced the Dutchess Community College in a home game on Thursday, February 21, and were able to bounce back from a tough loss to Dutchess in their last game. The game was played at the College of the Canyons in Clovis, New Mexico. The Dutchess outscored the Lady Dukes 50-11 in the first half, but the Lady Dukes were able to claw their way back into the game in the second half, eventually winning 81-50. The Lady Dukes were led by senior guard Ashley Adkins, who scored 17 points. The win was a welcome one for the Lady Dukes, who are hoping to make a run in the playoffs this year.

Swimmers Take Third In Triangular Meet

by James Spencer, CSB

The swimming team took third place in the tri-meet against Geneseo and Kings Point on Sunday, February 17. The team scored 227 points, behind Kings Point (283) and Geneseo (387). The team's strong showing in the freestyle events helped them secure the third place finish. In the women's 200-yard freestyle, Ashley Adkins won with a time of 2:00.20. In the men's 100-yard backstroke, Andrew Johnson won with a time of 55.80. The team's strong showing in the freestyle events helped them secure the third place finish.
