Albany vs. Siena in 'The Big Game' Tomorrow at the Wash. Ave. Armory

by Jim Woolis

A basketball rivalry spanning decades will be renewed tomorrow at the Washington Avenue Armory at 8:30 p.m. when the Great Danes take on the Saints of Siena College in a pre-season game in preparation for the N.C.A.A. season. The two arch-rivals met once previous this season with Siena winning, 73-67.

That one contest was the Danes' opener in the Capital City Tourney held on the court of the Empire State Building in Albany. The Great Danes would like to avenge that loss with a win tomorrow night.

The Danes have been a formidable team this season, winning 10 of their first 12 games. They are led by senior Warren Crow, who has scored 20 or more points in each of the last three games. Crow is supported by senior Randy Palmer, who has scored 15 or more points in each of the last two games. The Danes are also led by sophomores Art Pierce and Zachary Susan, who have contributed double-digit scoring in each of the last three games.

Siena has played 12 games this season and has a record of 9-3. They are led by junior Ben Bloom, who has scored 20 or more points in each of the last three games. Bloom is supported by senior Bill Johnson, who has scored 15 or more points in each of the last two games. The Saints are also led by sophomores Jack Carter and Mark Cline, who have contributed double-digit scoring in each of the last three games.

The game is a preview of the upcoming season and a test of the strength of both teams. The Danes and Saints have a long history of intense rivalry, and this game promises to be no exception. It is a game not to be missed.
Over The Counter Intelligence

Last week I discussed my belief in the necessity for the organization of campus newspapers to be closely associated with the student government, a point which I plan to continue throughout the semester. Now I would like to narrow the focus of this column to a single issue: the necessity for the newspaper to be more than just a publication for students; it should be a forum for discussion and debate. I believe that this is the role of a newspaper and that it is a role that is central to its function.

In order to provide this forum, it is necessary for the newspaper to have a strong executive. This executive should be composed of students who are interested in the issues that are being discussed on campus. They should be able to provide a balanced view, and they should be able to provide a fair and impartial treatment of all issues that are being discussed.

The executive should be composed of students who are interested in the issues that are being discussed on campus. They should be able to provide a balanced view, and they should be able to provide a fair and impartial treatment of all issues that are being discussed.

Albany Avenges Prior Scalping; Sauersman Top Siena In Overtime

With the 80th round scoring their pleasure, the Albany State cagers counted out an overtime victory, 76-75, over arch-rival Siena College, last Saturday night at the Washington Avenue Armory. Senior who came from a sudden attack by coach Richard "Doc" Sauers charged was rebuffed, scored 24 points and pulled down 16 rebounds while sitting out most of the second half.

The balanced attack featured strong performances by seniors Marty Ottenweiler and Mike Bloom with 10 points each, Lonnie Long with 9 points and Jim Conventino with 7 points.

From the opening tap, the teams scored back and forth until the game went into the second overtime.

In the first overtime, the Siena Gryphons took the lead. However, in the second overtime, Albany State came back with a vengeance. After a 20-game advantage of precedent, the teams went into a 76-75 competition, with Albany State winning the game with only 14 seconds showing on the clock.
