Stage Set For Macbeth

Constructivist Set Distinguishes May Production

The State Opera and Drama students have installed what is probably the most advanced, modern, and experimental set which has yet been designed and built for a dramatic production at the State University. Constructivist in character, the scene is approached through the tiny set's backspace with an open bulletin board showing the night of the death of Macbeth. The set consists of a series of smaller and larger rectangles, the largest of which is the main auditorium stage. The rectangles are used to delineate the space and provide a background for the action. The set is constructed of wood, canvas, and other materials and is supported by a steel framework. The lighting is provided by a series of spotlights and is controlled by an electronic system. The set has been designed by Dr. Paul Bruce, a member of the faculty of the Department of Theatre and Drama. The production will be directed by Professor William B. Sturges. The play will be performed in the auditorium of the University building on May 1st.
Basis For Leadership . . .

We have purchased a College Camp. We have spent $10,000 to buy this camp. Now we need to develop this camp to make it a place to hold Future Profh Camps, week-end training trips and science field trips. It is a reward for the efforts of all classes.

We are all promised gain by personal satisfaction of having developed the camp, and the physical satisfaction of on the edges. Those who will cooperate after us will enjoy the reward of our work. They will be able to use this camp.

About twenty years ago classes here at State decided that our college needed a Student Union. Therefore, they decided to raise money to build this Student Union. That is what we have a Student Union, as a Student today. They have started this to build up the money. Those students now that will take over this building will be the last generation that will be associated with this Student Union. Yet they started this project four years ago, for us.

Now it is our turn to do something for our college, to develop the Student Union and its reputation. This is a personal challenge to each one of you.

Today you have an opportunity to see your class camp built in the development. You need your support and interest. Use this camp you are going to build for your school. There are cars leaving for Brubacher today. They started this action and the state decided that our college needed a Student Union. Therefore, we will build this Union.

This will give you a chance to see the land and become familiar with your campus. If you are on the outside world interested in your school. Let's have a practical demonstration of this interest. If you are interested in being a leader next year you will need the practical knowledge of the situation that you can see your college in one of its largest activities. You have come for school spirit. Now get the basic information for the biggest project for next year.

Your Conscience . . .

Electrolyzing, rousing, there was much of this a class project and members of the class project attended at the questions they asked. Obviously they were very interested.

The main issue of discussion and questioning were the future of the Student Association, which was discussed at the questions they asked. Obviously they were very interested.

The candidates offered a January to January election in their campaign speeches last year. They have proposed this in the campaign this year. Student Council candidates have been appointed to meet the questions they were asked. Otherwise they were very interested.

Members of Student Association are involved in the State College News, the only student newspaper on the campus, and are also involved in the Student Council. They are involved in the Student Council.

When you, as members of Student Association, consider the future of the Student Association, how it is conducted, and how it is conducted, you will have the opportunity to develop the Student Association.

Our Camp Board, and tour the area with them. All those students who are interested in the camp, is asked to bring it along. They are interested in the camp.

One On The Aisle

By HELEN O'DAY

The first Interfraternity Council meeting of the 1955-56 school year was held October 6. All members were present and in attendance was a representative of the Student Association. At the meeting the 1954-55 program of nationwide Interfraternity Council activities was discussed. In all, the IFC members felt that the council had done a fine job this year and look forward to next year's activities.

State Nominates Junior Candidate For Scholarships

Chester L. Gunder, Dean of the College of Liberal Arts at the University of Illinois, has named Donald Clayton, a junior, as one of three candidates to represent the University at the 1955-56 national Union of College and University Students. Clayton is a member of the University'sSignal Corps and is also involved in the University's Student Government.

and to see that the right kind of political education is given to the people. Furthermore, I believe that it is the job of the student to help elect the right kind of men to office so that they may be better equipped to serve their fellowmen. My only criticism is that more people should be interested in politics.
