In the fall of every autumnal season, the legendary Golden Horde of Eureka State College appears in all its glory to grace the inner sanctums of the university. This year it was the privilege of Warren E. Cozy, room 124, Dean of Students, to open the season. The opening of any season in collegiate life is always an event, and in this instance there were more than 800 freshmen present to witness the event.

Wake Up, Frats

Unless fraternity positions bidding of freshmen until Christmas, or spring, or even next fall, State College will amass a few of the most vicious, cut-throated, unorganized meet and make friends with freshmen, this year fraternity has but few. Last year all four fraternities kept about twenty-five dates with freshmen; this year all four claimed have only eight—approximately. And to answer the question, 'Why is there no increase in the take of the freshman by fraternities?' the answer is obvious from the reorganization of the college social orders by Dean Hull. Dean Hull eliminated all non-working orders. Even weekend dates are a scarce thing, because they have been filled with college functions.

The affairs do not afford sufficient opportunity for fraternity men to become the friends of freshmen. Already fraternity men are talking of non-fraternity social appeals, and are organizing drinking parties as a substitute for the organized ruling which has been denied them.

If this be to the prevalent, and it may be to the prevalent, the work of the organized campus group, Interfraternity Council must pass the organized ruling period. Weekend dates are a closer period of time than the socializing of non-working affairs. This will integrate well with the Socialization Program, and will also give the freshmen more time in which to make up their minds.

There is more fraternization, your survival may depend upon it.

Can Be Done

Last week, the News carried a Student Union is at the foot of the administration in the serious consideration of the Alumni and Administration to improve the ability of their own proper class. The first sign of student discontent for cooperation has come again, the Publications Office to have been closed down. The number of enrolments being in the office this last week has been almost negligible. The office has been at last a place for lemonade only.

The publications office, which should be able to cooperate in keeping the rank of former exasperation, the Cooperation has set up a number of suggestions for students to observe. The Cooperation has entitled all penalties from their list of regulations. These have no part in an intelligent student body.

This is a year of trial. Not only Student Union but few of the Community is at stake. It depends on us to hold in what they have, they must cooperate.

Wake Up, Frats

Unless interfraternity warfare lapsing of freshmen until Christmas, or spring, or even until fall, State College will witness the most violent, cut-throat, organized rushing in the history.

Whereas it is past such fraternity has had six or seven social affairs at which to meet and make friends with freshmen, this year such fraternity has had four exhibitions alone between five and ten. Where all frat men have had only eight—approximately—meets what is more there; each one has a fraternity that has resulted from the re-organization of the college social affairs by alumnus men. This has eliminated all non-fraternity affairs. Even worst, the air is of a problem, because many have been filled with collegefunctions.

Two affairs are not sufficient annually for fraternity men to boieve the friends of freshmen.

Already fraternity men are talking of the fraternities that are the most vicious, cut-throat, unorganized in the history. It can be done.

It Can Be Done

Last week, the NEWS mentioned a Student Union in the Field which was, in the situation created a bad situation. A little more than fifty, in addition to the Student Union, which has over one hundred members, is sufficient number of Students Union.

No group comes out of the Chamber of Commerce to create a Students Union. The Students Union has over one hundred members, and it is required to be an intelligent and well-balanced body.

This is a time to do the job. Not only Student Union but also one of the Chambers of Commerce is at stake. If students are to hold on to what they have, they must cooperate.

Sabotage:

The Retention of Nature

The editorial page of the News College News last week, under the title "Sabotage," dealt with the problem of it. The problem should be more, not less, a matter of concern. This is a time to do the job. Not only Student Union but also one of the Chambers of Commerce is at stake. If students are to hold on to what they have, they must cooperate.

Sigma Nu Beach Party

Summer school cares, studies and classes were thrown aside for one day by Brown University Sigma Nu's and their dates for a day at the seashore. The fun was recorded for Collegiate Digest readers by student photographer C. Robin Fish, but only after he had convinced police officials and army beach patrolmen that the pictures were not intended for enemy use.

In spite of warm weather, some of the girls needed a little persuasion before they could force themselves into the water. Paul Armour and Harry Zimberg help Barbara Linggame make up her mind.

Of course no beach party would be complete without a sand castle. Here Eugene Bellas and Gilbert start a sand castle.

Some of the bunch get together to try some beach tumbling. Dick Minor climax of the fun comes when he caught somersaulting over eight men. Nice work if you can get it. Prepared at the fraternity house. Photographed by Fish.

"CAMEL" for their favorite cigarette

The National Call for nurses is sounded in this poster prepared by the United States Public Health Service, which states that there are approximately 300,000 high school or college education who are needed to enter schools of nursing this year.

Canada's Youth Keep Fit

In a world where hope has been replaced by despair, the rhythms of marching feet and sincere public gestures with the world's headlong no-matter-where, there is no excuse to avoid the youth Canada's challenge. Its energy, its strong determination and its unswerving pride are there and the problem is work.

Canada is thankful for the physical education plan which was developed in 1940-1941 in Vancouver. This is an extensive and comprehensive scheme of free recreation classes which provide physical exercise for youth of both sexes. The program is conducted by schools and community clubs, and it appears to be an excellent foundation for physical education. Weekly activities include sports, aerobics, dancing, and other games.

Canada's youth are encouraged to take part in these activities to maintain their health and fitness. The program is open to both men and women, and it is free of charge. It is hoped that this plan will continue to grow and improve in the future.

Canada's Youth Keeps Fit

It is a world where heat bears in the style of marching feet and whose pulse throb with the thrill of speed. Here, there is no quality so prized as youth's enthusiasm, its energy. In astounding health and innumerable jobs as are to be had.

Canada today is thankful for the fact that its problems are not of war. It can look back in 1924 to Vanier's speech, which initiated a scheme of two recreation centers which provide physical recreation for youths of both sexes. Utilizing school and community buildings, the federal government has signed a project of the Canada's Youth Keeps Fit scheme.

The program of the centers and the idea of the famous club. Activities have widened to include public dramatic and orchestral groups, hiking, and dramatic and orchestral groups. The centers are located in towns throughout Canada today.

Canada is thankful for the federal government's program of youth's enthusiasm, its energy. And it is all free. The only required qualifications are health and a desire to keep fit.
