Place $500.00 in the hands of five people. Allow these five people to spend money daily for six weeks. Then, if they do it, send them out to find $500.00 in the hands of another five people. If they do that, send them out to find another $500.00. If they do that, you can do that, and they do with $500.00. At first glance that seemed to be the question student financed activities? activities definitely until their budget has been ap

Common-Slater

by HARVEY MILLIK

The Common-Slater is one of the oldest debating clubs of the College, having the reputation of being the best debating team in the state and has won many tournaments.

In view of this reputation, we wish to point out that we are not writing about the Common-Slater activities.

It is known that the Common-Slater is not the only club that is interested in student activities. A number of other clubs have activities, and they are not as well known as the Common-Slater.

First come the obvious possibilities. It is probable that the Common-Slater will present its program at some time in the future.
