Student Senate Hearings In Crowd; Close Vote Determines Fate Of "Primer"

Collegians Discuss Question Concerning Camp Budget

Sens. Camp, Campus Physical Education.

The meeting demonstrated that the College administration, and the Senate were unable to come to an agreement concerning what the camp should be entitled to.

The Senator from Campus Physical Education, in responding to a question from Sen. Camp, stated that he felt that the camp should be entitled to something more than just the money that it would cost to operate.

"The camp," he said, "should be entitled to something more than just the money that it would cost to operate. The camp is a part of the educational program of the College, and it should be treated as such." He further stated that he felt that the camp should be entitled to some of the money that is generated by the College's athletic programs.

Sen. Camp, in responding to a question from Sen. Physical Education, stated that he felt that the camp should be entitled to nothing more than the money that it would cost to operate.

"The camp," he said, "should not be entitled to anything more than the money that it would cost to operate. The camp is not a part of the educational program of the College, and it should not be treated as such." He further stated that he felt that the camp should not be entitled to any of the money that is generated by the College's athletic programs.

The question then was put to the Senate, and it was voted that the camp should be entitled to nothing more than the money that it would cost to operate.

There was a slight rustle of the crowd with the announcement of the vote, and there were a few shouts of protest from those who felt that the camp should be entitled to something more than just the money that it would cost to operate.

sen. James R. Smith, who had been responsible for proposing the motion that the camp should be entitled to something more than just the money that it would cost to operate, then got up to speak.

"I vote against this," he said, "because I feel that the camp should be entitled to something more than just the money that it would cost to operate. The camp is an important part of the educational program of the College, and it should be treated as such. We should not be cutting off the camp completely." He then urged the Senate to vote for his motion.

The Senate then voted for a close vote on the question of whether the camp should be entitled to something more than just the money that it would cost to operate.

The vote was divided, with 14 in favor of the motion and 15 against it. Therefore, the motion was defeated, and the Senate voted that the camp should be entitled to nothing more than the money that it would cost to operate.
 STATE COLLEGE NEWS, Saturday, May 31, 1958

---

Sundstrand, Hoover, Vivona, Bartholomew Monahan Delivery Class Speeches in Page 2

- Who are the four class speakers?
  - The ballots were counted by our SA Senate. None seems to know! In past years, we always knew at least one of the four class speakers. At first, all four classes pre-registered for the honor by the Who's Who Among Students in College. Now, the class speakers originated in 1913, a Letter Home described the traditional Sing, under the direction of Myskania Tapping in 1923.

---

Who's Who Selects Thirty

Who's Who Selects Thirty from the list of candidates for the Who's Who Among Students in College. Two of the thirty, 30 names are: Carol Stanton, President; Terri Rutenber, Sports Captain. Christine Noring, Marshals; Barbara Rutenber, Athletic Director; William Smith, Song Leader; Dolores Van Valpenburgh, Sports Captain; Mildred Levin, and John Yager for their help with this process.

---

MUD Activities

- The new officers of MUD's social and theatrical functions have been announced by the coming year's executive committee at its annual meeting.

---

King Appoints Day Chairmen

King Appoints Day Chairmen for 50th Anniversary of the College.