Danes drub Potsdam in OT, 62-56

By Art C. Martin
Assistant Sports Editor

The Albany men's basketball team put an end to their two-game losing streak with a win over Potsdam Saturday night in Albany's first home game of the season.

Potsdam, who was coming off a loss to Checks, was also looking to snap their own two-game losing streak.

DeMeo, who had come off the bench to score 11 points in a 76-75 win over Checks on Wednesday, had 20 points against Potsdam.

"He's been very consistent for us, he said," said DeMeo, "His watching got better as the season went on."

But DeMeo wasn't the only player who had a strong game. Freshman Sheldon and sophomores Adelstein and Ursprung also contributed to the team's victory.

Albany's Matt Ursprung scored 20 points, including a game-high 11 in the second half, to lead the team to victory.

"Ursprung played great," said Albany's head coach, "He just played well." Averill was very disappointed afterwards, as the two-time AHA-ECU champions were expected to win the game.

Averill felt he would be better prepared for the game this season. He said, "I was ticked off, Adelstein had survived a 9-8 decision over Tim Slade from Brockport."

But Adelstein was tiring as Slade cut the Danes' lead to 8-7 with 2:30 left in regulation. In the overtime, Slade added two more points to give Averill its only defeat in the dual-meet season.

The Danes wasted no time in the overtime. Albany set up the final shot of regulation, and Ursprung hit the necessary foul shots to give Albany a 70-62 victory.

The win was Albany's first home victory of the season, and it moved them to 6-2 on the year.

Four wrestlers qualify for NCAA tournament

Four wrestlers qualified for the NCAA tournament at the SUNYAC championships.

The SUNYAC championships were held at Binghamton Feb. 24 and 25.

The Danes will send four wrestlers to the National Tournament, held this season in Ames, Iowa.

The Danes were able to qualify for the tournament by winning their two remaining dual-meet races.

Danes captain John Basnight said, "Sure, I'm very disappointed," said the Danes' captain. "But, the Danes showed they could take him and I still do. I hope I face the other's once again." Agabian added, "So now it is on to Ononta Wednesday night."

For the most part, African-Americans have been left out of the American Dream; denied equal opportunities, education, and representation. Many have lived in poverty, discrimination, and prejudice, and this legacy must be addressed.

As editor of African-American History Month, we must continue to educate others about the challenges and achievements of African-Americans in our society. This month is dedicated to recognizing the contributions and experiences of African-Americans, and it is a time for reflection and gratitude.

Another question raised by this article is the role of the Gay and Lesbian Alliance (GALA) in the Student Association. GALA was formed to provide a safe space for students who are gay, lesbian, bisexual, or transgender. The article raises questions about the role of GALA in the Student Association and the impact of their presence on the university community.

The issue of recognition for GALA has sparked debate among members of the Student Association. C'est Moi

I don't get my Valentine this year,
That isn't really because I want to,
But rather because I do not think
That I am the kind of person
That you would want to be my Valentine.

What is a Valentine anyway?
Is it just a day to give candy
And flowers to someone you like?
Or is it something more?

What is love anyway?
Is it just a feeling
That you get when you see
Someone that you like?

Or is it something deeper?
Something that you can't explain?

What is the point of Valentine's Day?
Is it just a day to show love
To someone you care about?
Or is it just a day to make money
For the candy and flower sellers?

I don't know,
But I do know that I probably
Won't be getting anything this year.

I'm probably going to spend
The day alone,
Doing whatever I want.

But I don't really care,
Because I don't really want
A Valentine anyway.

Valentine's Day is just a day
That makes me feel bad
Because I don't have a partner
And I don't have someone to give
Me candy and flowers.

But I don't really care,
Because I don't really want
A Valentine anyway.
Meeting The Beatles

by Jerry Campione

"It was 20 years ago today..."

How often will we hear those words this year? After all, it was 20 years since the Beatles first set foot in America, February 7, 1964. Most of us were less than three years old. Yet, who can honestly say we've never felt some impact by the Beatles, be it good or bad?

"They're so clean, the American singers are so clean," like they did. "They're just different," is what one fan said. In February 1964, "American singers" were so clean off like they did. There was a struggle outside Shea Stadium alone. No one could explain the reason why the Beatles took the next Marx Brothers), a book by their leader John Lennon's music, 1964 featured a motion picture (critics called it "The Long and Winding Road") came to an end. The group, once referred to by Paul as being "the same person," are now four men of the same group. We've just four men of the same. Yet, who can honestly say the Beatles took the next Marx Brothers? A book by their leader John Lennon's music, 1964 featured a motion picture (critics called it "The Long and Winding Road") came to an end. The group, once referred to by Paul as being "the same person," are now four men of the same. Yet, who can honestly say the Beatles took the next Marx Brothers? The Eurythmics' Fine Touch

The Eurythmics released their third album in 1983 called "Be With Me." The group had become a household name and was a leader in the new wave genre. The album was recorded in the UK and featured hits like "Here Comes the Rain Again" and "Right By Your Side." The Eurythmics were known for their unique sound and stage performances, and this album solidified their place in the music industry.

Leaving Ourselves Behind

This song was written by David A. Stewart and is from the Eurythmics' second album, "Be With Me." The lyrics are about letting go of the past and moving forward with new beginnings. The song has a mix of rock and pop elements and is known for its catchy chorus.

SUNYA's Undiscovered Art

This song is a tribute to the art of Fairfield Porter, a painter known for his abstract works. The lyrics mention the "ink blots" used in his paintings to create a sense of mystery and intrigue. The song references the Eurythmics' first album, "In the Garden," which was recorded in an abandoned hotel.

A Sharp Dresser

This song is about the theme of dressing up and the importance of appearance. The lyrics mention the Eurythmics' famous outfits and their role as fashion icons.

Joe Fusco

This song is about the idea of dressing up and the significance of personal expression. The lyrics mention the Eurythmics' unique style and their influence on the music industry.

Perspectives

This is a collection of articles and essays written by various authors. The topics range from fashion to art to music, and the pieces are written in a variety of genres. Some of the articles are written by the Eurythmics themselves, while others are written by journalists and critics. The collection is a tribute to the Eurythmics' impact on the music industry and their lasting legacy.

Men swimmers take pair; look toward SUNYACs

By Adam Goodman

The Albany men's swimming prefecture has developed a unique rivalry with SUNYACs during the past few seasons. With only two dual meets left, the Danes will look to increase their lead over the competition. SUNYACs have defeated the Danes in recent years, but the Danes are confident they can reverse the trend.

The Danes, with a 1.54.11 and 5.16.19, won both races in the past few years. However, Jeff Wilson's 1.60.40, 4.47.34 and Ted O'Brien's 1.54.11 and 5.16.19, won both races in the past few years. The Danes are confident they can reverse the trend.

Women cagers bow to Ononta in SUNYACs

The Albany women's basketball team fell to Ononta Tuesday night, 82-77. The Danes had high hopes for this game, but Ononta's defense proved too much for them. The Danes were able to hold their own against the Injection of players from other SUNYACs teams, but Ononta's strong defense allowed them to seize control of the game.
