Spikers Get Weekend "Breather" After Setback

Albany Loses To Nemesis Springfield; Match With Cornell, Syracuse Cancelled

by Larry Bode

After losing their first two matches, the Danes were determined to make a statement with their next game. They found that nemesis in the form of the Springfield College Bears, who had defeated them twice already this season. However, the Bears were no match for the Danes, who swept them in straight sets (25-19, 25-21, 25-18), setting up an exciting match with the Cornell Big Red.

Albany, which had already lost to the Big Red earlier in the season, was eager to avenge that loss. The match was a thrilling one, with both teams playing at their best. In the end, Cornell emerged victorious, but Albany's performance was impressive enough to keep them in the running for a conference title.

Council Censures Members

Calls For No Resignations

by Action Cornell and Marty Jones

The SUNY Albany Student Senate voted unanimously to censure three members of the University Senate, including Council Chair Mike Levy, for their handling of the recent scandal involving the Breitenbach administration.

The controversy gained momentum after Central Council Chair Mike Levy made a controversial statement during a meeting, which was later revealed to have been recorded by a student reporter.

The next day, Central Council met to discuss the situation. After much debate, the council voted unanimously to censure Levy, putting him on notice that his behavior was unbecoming of a member of the University Senate.

Silen Speaks on 'Conspiracy'

Mr. Silen, a member of the faculty at SUNYA, spoke about the recent surge of militaristic feelings. We feel there is a need to organize a faculty group to join the anti-draft movement. The students also knew that many of their professors had begun to speak out against the war in Vietnam.

Miroff. The proposed reinstatement of Professor Silen will be reinstated.

The problem is not the position. The problem is the personality of the professor and lecturer, Mr. Miroff. The reinstatement must be made. Please call Professor Miroff for an interview with our representative. We also recommend that Ms. Newmark be reinstated. Our closest approximation as to the aforementioned date. Subsequent meetings became unnecessary.

The commission in no way decides on what to do from here. The fact is, it is the responsibility of making the decision. We aren't so sure that we would have voted for Ms. Newmark.

As part of the group that became aware of the incident, we have lived through the era of the anti-war movement. It has been difficult. We have a responsibility and, indeed, a responsibility to report this as Mr. Lafayette, Mr. Weinstock threatened those who knew of the incident.

The students, Abbie Havkins, Mitchell Davis, Ed Klein, Brian Levy, Michael Levy, and Mrs. Levy told Mike Levy of the investigation.

The discussion continued on the possibility of reinstating any professors from the faculty.

We should have been more careful. In any case, it was an error. The decision was made by an individual who was involved in the incident.

We feel that the students have made a wise choice. We feel that the students are entitled to their opinion, and we support their decision.
Dear Linda R.:

I'm really sorry! You've been a great friend for eleven years and I don't want to lose our friendship. I'm sorry, sorry, sorry, sorry, sorry, sorry, sorry.

Love,
Randi L.

P.S. I'm sorry.

About The Writings

The teachings included in these texts are only a small sample of the many found in the Writings. As we sift through the revelation given through Emanuel Swedenborg (1688-1772), Swedeborg's enormous accomplishments prior to 1743, we find a Who's Who of the sciences and into philosophy and into the evolution of the sciences and into the evolution of science. Swedenborg graduated from Christ Church College, Oxford (1704), and he continued his studies at the University of Heidelberg, Germany (1708), before returning to England (1710). Swedenborg's experiences included a variety of fields, such as medicine, law, and science. He was also interested in the history of science and the history of the Bible. Swedenborg was a member of the Royal Society of London, and he was elected a fellow of the Royal Society in 1716. He died in 1772.

Love Is A Telethon Scrapbook

The love story of a boy named John, who was touched by the disease of polio. The boy, John, was unable to walk and his parents were heartbroken. They decided to start a telethon to raise money for a cure for polio. The telethon was a huge success and many people donated money to help John and other children like him.

John's parents wanted to thank everyone who donated money to the telethon. They held a special ceremony to honor all the donors. The ceremony was attended by many people, including the mayor of the city.

The ceremony ended with a big thank you to all the donors. John's parents expressed their gratitude to everyone who helped to make the telethon a success. They said that they would never forget the kindness of the people who donated money to help their son and other children like him.
The Width of a Circle

Jim Dixon

The playing group here is an interesting one. While it has been turned back on some occasions, its general quality is far too good to be mentioned in this context. The acting, while not always memorable, is generally above average. The only real weakness is the director's handling of the material. There are some good moments, but the overall tone is too light and superficial. The script is also weak, with a number of plot holes and inconsistencies. Overall, it is a film that could have been much better if given proper direction and attention to detail.

This is Loretta Young's latest film, and it is a disappointment. While she is still capable of doing good work, the material here is not up to her usual standards. The script is weak, with a number of plot holes and inconsistencies. The acting is generally above average, but the director's handling of the material is not up to par. Overall, it is a film that could have been much better if given proper direction and attention to detail.

Cover-up of a Cover-up

It is ironic that Home Box Office is showing "All the President's Men" tonight. Perhaps all of our SA problems should watch closely.

For Wednesday evening's Central Council meeting proved that those implanted in the room, SA election cover-up affair are more concerned with saving their jobs than with the integrity of SUNYA's elected student government. And the majority of remaining council members seem to know this all too well.

The fact that high elected officials have admitted to covering up SA election results to help President Davis is one more formal decision to amelee reason to call for their resignation. Students were squeezed, the election process was itself a farce, and an assumed scream for honesty was replaced with some sick sort of nobility.

Reasons for the cover-up stretched from "the Association's credibility is being hit right from below", circulated by the joker who allegedly switched the ballots he had a nice job awaiting him in an accurating firm. And in the document and lightly emotional atmosphere which dominated the meeting, what should have been the central point of the matter was almost completely ignored.

A bald admission was never to put the matter by which lies were told on the inside of the issue itself. The paper was attacked for doing its job.

But the press did not destroy SA's credibility, SA did.

The meeting was a farce. One got the feeling that they haven't even assessed the reality of the situation, their perspective was on such a desperate scale. The Association should never be treated as a science of organization, the protection of an entity in itself, of itself, and for itself. They left our morality and discredited the student majority.

Louisville vs. Iowa Also Griffith vs. Lester

By Peter Meisel

The University of Louisville is no longer a one-man show. Darrell Griffith is no longer the only weapon in the Cardinals' arsenal, but he is still a very, very important part of it.

Griffith was not 100 percent last season, and even when he was, he was not quite the player he was before. But last season, with Griffith back at 85 percent, the Cardinals were much better. Without him, they were not that good.

The win over LSU had Coach Denny Crum crowing that Louisville is not only in the Midwest Regional final even though Griffith played just 17 minutes. The win over LSU had Coach Denny Crum crowing that Louisville is not only in the Midwest Regional final even though Griffith played just 17 minutes.

Griffith is a very good player, but he is not the only one. The Cardinals have a lot of depth, and they have a lot of other good players.
