Drab Monday ...

My Make-Up Monday will mark the beginning of a grand old tradition called Beauty. At present we're not looking at the very pretty girls. We think they will arrive as well. And we're going to enjoy the times that have passed. The responsibility of seeing that this year's Beauty is a success is entirely up to them.

Last year when the review of the Beauty page took place it was emphasized very strongly that a good deal of the work of carrying on our customs and traditions would be up to the upperclassmen. For example, you can't let your coeds flunk out of this, and if you look in the delinquent column in the Delinquent, you can't look for trouble. We can't tell you what the delinquents are doing. But we can tell you what the 201 is doing. We're in complete accord with the 201 in this. We're going to the Delinquents and ignore the "otherwise" We are in complete accord with the 201 in this. We're going to the Delinquents and ignore the "otherwise"

And now we shall consider the question of those customs which can be enforced via warnings and the inevitable justice of our Pet Kangaroo都被。We realize that it is not always in good pre-caution to give a warning next Monday to some Spectacle Frosh who might flunk out next year.

Had A Ball...

The first year opening ceremonies were met by an improved Freshman Week. For the first time, a combined women's and men's weekend was held here on campus, an arrangement which enabled the staffs to conduct activities such as the Senior Coronation, the very successful game at Thacher, and the same Saturday evening without a doubt the finest highlight of the whole weekend. This was in the form of the exciting freshman football versus the freshmen versus the fradents.

Encouragement and participation by the administration and faculty, enthusiastic class spirit, organization and coordination by Connie Olivo, Anne King, Dave Youst and their staffs contributed a great success of the freshman football versus the fradents.

We certainly feel confident that this Freshman Week will be introduced to our customs and traditions, and extra-curricular activities. Let's hope that future freshmen will be able to reenact just such an introduction to college.

How To Succeed ...

Now that the anticipation and confusion of registration, schedule changes, and initial adjustment to dorm life is behind us, let's put this to rest. A good deal more freedom than you have experienced in your short, innocent lives. But you must use it wisely. It would be up to the upperclassmen. For example, you can't let your coeds flunk out of this. And you can't let your coeds flunk out of this. We can't tell you what the delinquents are doing. But we can tell you what the 201 is doing.

The News Comments On Frosh Weekend

"You know that in all your hazy moments later, you will remember that Frosh Weekend was a wonderful weekend."

Who's the joker who stole my hula-hoop? I can't bear it. When I've got an itch, I don't care where I am!

Don't be anxious. She won't chase the frosh after all."

I don't know what happened to him. He was leaning over just a minute ago.

Coach Sauers
Schedules Fall Tryouts

With rank goes privilege

Coach Stephen Sauers has begun the fall intramural tryout schedule. Practice sessions will be held from September 28 to October 26. Those who expect to play in the upcoming season are required to participate in the tryouts. No experience is necessary, as Sauers will be able to fit each candidate into the proper position.

Potter Club, the title holder of last year, looks to hold one of its strongest teams. Returning quarterback Tony Brinker has been named as the star athlete of this school. This year, Tom Brown from Owen Davis who took the reins last year after Brinker's injury, shows promise. Lou Cali, the acting captain and halfback, reports that the remaining positions are filled with many experienced players. The team looks to defeat the seniors in the fall.

For Varsity Soccer Team

For the Class of 1962 not only has this team have won the affections of the girls from the 3rd floor of Bru. Its what's up front that counts. A star athlete, Joe Fleischer, will be the regular second baseman and Wes Brown from Chatham will be the regular second baseman and Wes Brown from Chatham will be the regular second baseman.

Football, Volleyball Begins; Tennis, Archery Are Planned

Football and volleyball will see the return of many experienced players. In addition, the Archery team will also see a return of many players. The teams are looking to dominate the season with their experience and talent.
