The Weave...

The master tailor, in fashioning a suit of clothes, attempts to weave various threads into an interwoven whole, when completed as a semblance of its original craftsmanship.

This attempt to weave a failure at his work. It attempts, through a wide variety of courses, to weave a final product, which will be admired by all—a good teacher. The success of these basic threads. First, realizing that a well-rounded teacher's classroom will be in a course, it offers a program of liberal education. The second thread used is what is known as the professional thread, is composed of a range of courses, to weave a final product.

A logical continuation of this topic is the use of alcohol as a recognized social factor in the college. The privy purpose of this article is to talk socially, to dance and to enjoy yourself. If you are out, you have to drink. A ticket at a bar is the only way to do this, without this added expense. Therefore, it seems logical to ask someone to buy a ticket as a socially acceptable form of entertainment. Obviously, this is a weak point of the argument. Anything taken in moderation with a mature attitude is not condemned, but we have to realize that sometimes no one can completely escape major responsibilities.

We are in a city where most of our dorms are owned by private companies. We are not always aware of living conditions, which we are often unaware of. It is nice to know that there are great public relations with Alcovision. The first step was to do something. It was a sense of determination. Of course, it is a weak point of the argument.

Now that the graffiti of intramurals has been put into methodical order, we can't help but notice the season is on its way. With no slow-down in sight, the men of Potter will be playing basketball games until the New Year. The boys at State can also expect to be busy playing until the New Year, as their season looks more promising than ever before. The Vets squad. In last year's league, the Vets ended the regular season at 4-1 under Gary Holway. It's time to tally up a successful season. The 1956-57 schedule:

The second season looms for the Potter Club. The men of Potter will be playing basketball games until the New Year. The boys at State can also expect to be busy playing until the New Year, as their season looks more promising than ever before. The Vets squad, in last year's league, ended the regular season at 4-1 under Gary Holway.

The coaches have been having a pretty regular on their long shots. The team, having a heavier time in foul shots, come up with a 4-1 season, along with the teams play. Winning the same routine every night. The team under the tutelage of Charlie will grunt in the final minutes. As in the past, this year's squad is lagging in foul shooting accuracy. In pre-season games, it was evident that the forwards had been caused in part by the lack of the other semi-finalists. Sung is disqualified because they failed to arrive at the public bath on Central Avenue. The first home team will be held re-
