Two Students Die At Louisiana Campus

continued from page one

In an interview after the area around the administration building had been cleared, Annis told reporters: "We heard two pistol shots, then a pistol that came from the crowd."

While Governor Edwards rushed to the campus to confer with Annis, a crowd estimated by police at 5,000 rushed officers and had to be repelled with tear gas.

Trouble continued into the afternoon as crowds of students thronged at police and campus vice. The 9,000-student Baton Rouge campus and the 2,900-student New Orleans campus of the university, the nation's largest predominantly black university, have been beset by boycotts since mid-October when students began pressing their demands for more student control of administrative affairs.

Edwards had met with students from the New Orleans campus only the past Sunday to discuss their ongoing boycott of classes and their earlier takeover of buildings. He told them a continued occupation would make it impossible to discuss constructive changes.

After the shootings at Baton Rouge yesterday, Edwards again criticized student protesters, saying he would not have enough confidence in me to go back to classes again, if he thought they had escaped into the first year go's. He said the governor claimed that he had seen films of the incident showing a cannon fired toward officers as they approached the administration building.

Baton Rouge Mayor H. D. Edwards was quoted by state police and sheriff's deputies. Crowds of students gathered to watch. One deputy said the force was firing "socially." Damage was extensive. The campus was blocked by state police and sheriff's deputies. One National Guard unit was on campus grounds. Four hundred mine were ordered out of the area.

Edwards instructed the officers to "do everything you can do."

Firemen fought the blazes under the protection of sheriff deputies. Crowds of students gathered to watch. One deputy said the force was firing "socially." Damage was extensive. The campus was blocked by state police and sheriff's deputies. One National Guard unit was on campus grounds. Four hundred mine were ordered out of the area.

Trouble continued into the afternoon as crowds of students thronged at police and campus vice. The 9,000-student Baton Rouge campus and the 2,900-student New Orleans campus of the university, the nation's largest predominantly black university, have been beset by boycotts since mid-October when students began pressing their demands for more student control of administrative affairs.

Edwards had met with students from the New Orleans campus only the past Sunday to discuss their ongoing boycott of classes and their earlier takeover of buildings. He told them a continued occupation would make it impossible to discuss constructive changes.

After the shootings at Baton Rouge yesterday, Edwards again criticized student protesters, saying he would not have enough confidence in me to go back to classes again, if he thought they had escaped into the first year go's. He said the governor claimed that he had seen films of the incident showing a cannon fired toward officers as they approached the administration building.

Baton Rouge Mayor H. D. Edwards was quoted by state police and sheriff's deputies. Crowds of students gathered to watch. One deputy said the force was firing "socially." Damage was extensive. The campus was blocked by state police and sheriff's deputies. One National Guard unit was on campus grounds. Four hundred mine were ordered out of the area.

Edwards instructed the officers to "do everything you can do."

Firemen fought the blazes under the protection of sheriff deputies. Crowds of students gathered to watch. One deputy said the force was firing "socially." Damage was extensive. The campus was blocked by state police and sheriff's deputies. One National Guard unit was on campus grounds. Four hundred mine were ordered out of the area.

Trouble continued into the afternoon as crowds of students thronged at police and campus vice. The 9,000-student Baton Rouge campus and the 2,900-student New Orleans campus of the university, the nation's largest predominantly black university, have been beset by boycotts since mid-October when students began pressing their demands for more student control of administrative affairs.

Edwards had met with students from the New Orleans campus only the past Sunday to discuss their ongoing boycott of classes and their earlier takeover of buildings. He told them a continued occupation would make it impossible to discuss constructive changes.

After the shootings at Baton Rouge yesterday, Edwards again criticized student protesters, saying he would not have enough confidence in me to go back to classes again, if he thought they had escaped into the first year go's. He said the governor claimed that he had seen films of the incident showing a cannon fired toward officers as they approached the administration building.

Baton Rouge Mayor H. D. Edwards was quoted by state police and sheriff's deputies. Crowds of students gathered to watch. One deputy said the force was firing "socially." Damage was extensive. The campus was blocked by state police and sheriff's deputies. One National Guard unit was on campus grounds. Four hundred mine were ordered out of the area.

Edwards instructed the officers to "do everything you can do."

Firemen fought the blazes under the protection of sheriff deputies. Crowds of students gathered to watch. One deputy said the force was firing "socially." Damage was extensive. The campus was blocked by state police and sheriff's deputies. One National Guard unit was on campus grounds. Four hundred mine were ordered out of the area.

Trouble continued into the afternoon as crowds of students thronged at police and campus vice. The 9,000-student Baton Rouge campus and the 2,900-student New Orleans campus of the university, the nation's largest predominantly black university, have been beset by boycotts since mid-October when students began pressing their demands for more student control of administrative affairs.

Edwards had met with students from the New Orleans campus only the past Sunday to discuss their ongoing boycott of classes and their earlier takeover of buildings. He told them a continued occupation would make it impossible to discuss constructive changes.

After the shootings at Baton Rouge yesterday, Edwards again criticized student protesters, saying he would not have enough confidence in me to go back to classes again, if he thought they had escaped into the first year go's. He said the governor claimed that he had seen films of the incident showing a cannon fired toward officers as they approached the administration building.

Baton Rouge Mayor H. D. Edwards was quoted by state police and sheriff's deputies. Crowds of students gathered to watch. One deputy said the force was firing "socially." Damage was extensive. The campus was blocked by state police and sheriff's deputies. One National Guard unit was on campus grounds. Four hundred mine were ordered out of the area.

Edwards instructed the officers to "do everything you can do."

Firemen fought the blazes under the protection of sheriff deputies. Crowds of students gathered to watch. One deputy said the force was firing "socially." Damage was extensive. The campus was blocked by state police and sheriff's deputies. One National Guard unit was on campus grounds. Four hundred mine were ordered out of the area.

Trouble continued into the afternoon as crowds of students thronged at police and campus vice. The 9,000-student Baton Rouge campus and the 2,900-student New Orleans campus of the university, the nation's largest predominantly black university, have been beset by boycotts since mid-October when students began pressing their demands for more student control of administrative affairs.

Edwards had met with students from the New Orleans campus only the past Sunday to discuss their ongoing boycott of classes and their earlier takeover of buildings. He told them a continued occupation would make it impossible to discuss constructive changes.

After the shootings at Baton Rouge yesterday, Edwards again criticized student protesters, saying he would not have enough confidence in me to go back to classes again, if he thought they had escaped into the first year go's. He said the governor claimed that he had seen films of the incident showing a cannon fired toward officers as they approached the administration building.

Baton Rouge Mayor H. D. Edwards was quoted by state police and sheriff's deputies. Crowds of students gathered to watch. One deputy said the force was firing "socially." Damage was extensive. The campus was blocked by state police and sheriff's deputies. One National Guard unit was on campus grounds. Four hundred mine were ordered out of the area.

Edwards instructed the officers to "do everything you can do."

Firemen fought the blazes under the protection of sheriff deputies. Crowds of students gathered to watch. One deputy said the force was firing "socially." Damage was extensive. The campus was blocked by state police and sheriff's deputies. One National Guard unit was on campus grounds. Four hundred mine were ordered out of the area.

Trouble continued into the afternoon as crowds of students thronged at police and campus vice. The 9,000-student Baton Rouge campus and the 2,900-student New Orleans campus of the university, the nation's largest predominantly black university, have been beset by boycotts since mid-October when students began pressing their demands for more student control of administrative affairs.

Edwards had met with students from the New Orleans campus only the past Sunday to discuss their ongoing boycott of classes and their earlier takeover of buildings. He told them a continued occupation would make it impossible to discuss constructive changes.

After the shootings at Baton Rouge yesterday, Edwards again criticized student protesters, saying he would not have enough confidence in me to go back to classes again, if he thought they had escaped into the first year go's. He said the governor claimed that he had seen films of the incident showing a cannon fired toward officers as they approached the administration building.

Baton Rouge Mayor H. D. Edwards was quoted by state police and sheriff's deputies. Crowds of students gathered to watch. One deputy said the force was firing "socially." Damage was extensive. The campus was blocked by state police and sheriff's deputies. One National Guard unit was on campus grounds. Four hundred mine were ordered out of the area.

Edwards instructed the officers to "do everything you can do."

Firemen fought the blazes under the protection of sheriff deputies. Crowds of students gathered to watch. One deputy said the force was firing "socially." Damage was extensive. The campus was blocked by state police and sheriff's deputies. One National Guard unit was on campus grounds. Four hundred mine were ordered out of the area.

Trouble continued into the afternoon as crowds of students thronged at police and campus vice. The 9,000-student Baton Rouge campus and the 2,900-student New Orleans campus of the university, the nation's largest predominantly black university, have been beset by boycotts since mid-October when students began pressing their demands for more student control of administrative affairs.

Edwards had met with students from the New Orleans campus only the past Sunday to discuss their ongoing boycott of classes and their earlier takeover of buildings. He told them a continued occupation would make it impossible to discuss constructive changes.

After the shootings at Baton Rouge yesterday, Edwards again criticized student protesters, saying he would not have enough confidence in me to go back to classes again, if he thought they had escaped into the first year go's. He said the governor claimed that he had seen films of the incident showing a cannon fired toward officers as they approached the administration building.

Baton Rouge Mayor H. D. Edwards was quoted by state police and sheriff's deputies. Crowds of students gathered to watch. One deputy said the force was firing "socially." Damage was extensive. The campus was blocked by state police and sheriff's deputies. One National Guard unit was on campus grounds. Four hundred mine were ordered out of the area.

Edwards instructed the officers to "do everything you can do."

Firemen fought the blazes under the protection of sheriff deputies. Crowds of students gathered to watch. One deputy said the force was firing "socially." Damage was extensive. The campus was blocked by state police and sheriff's deputies. One National Guard unit was on campus grounds. Four hundred mine were ordered out of the area.
Art Exhibits Threatened

Recycling Efforts Need Support

They must be returned by 5 PM Friday, December 1, 1972.

Central Council Representative

Colonial Quad (one seat)
Dutch Quad (one seat)
Indian Quad (one seat)

Applications for

SA office, CC 346.

Arts

Due to the population cutback and the need for a reduction in budget, the Central Council has set aside four SA offices to be used by students for Central Council Representative positions. These offices will be available to students as a means of gaining experience and exposure to student government. The four offices will be located in the Art and Humanities buildings and will be available for use by any student interested in serving as a Central Council Representative.

The offices will be available to students for use starting December 1, 1972.

Central Council Representative

Art Exhibits Threatened

Recycling Efforts Need Support

They must be returned by 5 PM Friday, December 1, 1972.

Central Council Representative

Colonial Quad (one seat)
Dutch Quad (one seat)
Indian Quad (one seat)

Applications for

SA office, CC 346.

Art Exhibits Threatened

Recycling Efforts Need Support

They must be returned by 5 PM Friday, December 1, 1972.

Central Council Representative

Colonial Quad (one seat)
Dutch Quad (one seat)
Indian Quad (one seat)

Applications for

SA office, CC 346.
The Elvis Phenomenon

RCA LSP 4776.

The scattergun approach that I hope to justify, in light of the three separate works above 1 is a new and distinct Elvis that Sinatra or Bing Crosby have the breakthrough for the early negro version was instilled Willi... but now the Presley phenomenon is on a roll.

Presley's famous (or should it be infamous?) manager, Col. Tom Parker's story in the late Sam Phillips of Sun Records, where he worked as an engineer, is credited with having fostered the new singer's rise to stardom. The early Presley songs were contemporaneous with the breakthrough for the early negro version was instilled Willi... but now the Presley phenomenon is on a roll.

In the late 1950s and early 1960s, Presley's music evolved, and he began recording a wider range of songs, including traditional pop and country hits. His performances at the end of the 1960s were particularly significant, and he continued to record and perform throughout the 1970s and 1980s, becoming one of the most influential figures in the history of popular music.

Juliet of the Spirits

Juliet of the Spirits has been called "the feminine Kubrick" by some critics. In fact, it is a film about the relationship between two women, Juliet and Marie, who are both struggling with their identities and personal lives. Juliet, played by Ingrid Bergman, is a successful businesswoman, and Marie, played by Juliet's mother, is a woman who has given up her career to raise her children. The film explores themes of love, desire, and the complications of personal and professional life. Juliet is a woman in control, yet she senses that something is missing in her life. Marie, on the other hand, is a woman who has sacrificed her own happiness for the sake of her children. The film ultimately presents a powerful depiction of the struggles faced by women in the 1950s and 1960s, and it continues to be a prominent work in the history of film.
GO HOME AFTER FINALS FOR 25¢

That’s all it costs you to run our special “after finals going home” ad use it to get a ride or to get riders

ADVERTISE NOW!

For your convenience, use the form below.

Limit of ten words per ad

ASPs

 Classified Advertising Form

Circle appropriate heading:

FOR SALE

LOST & FOUND

HOUSING

HELP WANTED

PERSONAL

SERVICES

OTHER

RIDE RIDERS WANTED

Ad is to be run as follows:

[Space for ad placement]

Cost is $2.50 for each week your ad is run at.

TOTAL ENGAGEMENT

Add

Name______________________________

Address____________________________

Phone _____________________________

PAGE EIGHT

ALBANY STUDENT PRESS

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 28, 1972

GO HOME AFTER FINALS FOR 25¢

BYRON MILLER: ‘FORGET THE PAST’

FOR YOUR CONVENIENCE, USE THE FORM BELOW.

ADVERTISE NOW!

FOR YOUR CONVENIENCE, USE THE FORM BELOW.

ADVERTISE NOW!

FOR YOUR CONVENIENCE, USE THE FORM BELOW.

ADVERTISE NOW!

FOR YOUR CONVENIENCE, USE THE FORM BELOW.
COME SEE OUR ASSORTMENT OF CHRISTMAS CARDS, BOWS, WRAPPING PAPER, GIFTS
We have received NEW merchandise for all your upcoming giving gift occasions:

- Beautiful ornamental candles
- Scented votive candles
- Bath and beauty products
- Warm stuffed animals
- Puzzles
- Needlepoint craft kits
- Cute bean bag chair
- Stationery
- Jewelry
- Paperback books

COME OVER AND PICK OUT THE PERFECT GIFT AND ACCESSORIES

ALBANY STUDENT PRESS
TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 28, 1972

Investigations Begin

by Tim Avery

BAYOU ROUGE, LA — A “hotbed” county for the black academic stale at Southern University at Baton Rouge is the scene of two full-scale investigations on the campus of the black institution.

About 40 black students have been arrested for the past two weeks in connection with the death of a black student. The investigation has focused on the black student’s death, which occurred during a protest on the campus.

Upon further investigation, police have determined that the black student was killed by a shotgun blast. The investigation has centered around the protest and the events leading up to it. The black student was a leader in the protest and had been vocal about the issues of race and student rights.

The investigation has involved hundreds of hours of interviews and evidence collection. The investigation is expected to last several months, and it will involve multiple law enforcement agencies.

As the investigation continues, there are concerns about the safety of the black student’s family and friends. The family and friends have been contacted by law enforcement and have expressed concern about the situation.

The investigation has raised questions about the role of law enforcement in the protests and the handling of the black student’s death. There are concerns about the use of force and the handling of the investigation.

The investigation is expected to be completed in the next several months, and a report will be submitted to the appropriate authorities. The report will include the findings of the investigation and recommendations for any necessary action.

Contact the Placement Office at (800) 555-1234 for more information.

Faculty Fired For Support

by Louis Arnaud

LOUISIANA — University officials at Louisiana’s University have fired two faculty members for their support of the black student protest. The protest was centered around the death of a black student who was killed during a protest on the campus.

The firing of the faculty members has sparked outrage among the black community and students at the university. The firing has been characterized as a “political move” by many.

The university has defended its actions, pointing to the faculty members’ support of the protest and their violation of the university’s policies.

The firing has raised questions about the role of universities in the black community and the implications of the incident for the future of black students at the university.

A career in law...

by Sally Adams

WHEN you become a Lawyer’s Assistant, you are eligible for a definite career in law work which is challenging, responsible and stimulating. Lawyers Assistants are now in great demand and need training for this career.

The Institute for Paralegal Training can offer you a unique program in which you’ll learn by doing the work of a paralegal in a lawyer’s office. The Institute is a career in a professional with financial security.

The Institute is located in New York City, and we are now enrolling for the fall term. Contact the Placement Office for more information.

Contact the Placement Office at (800) 555-1234 for more information.

Faculty Fired For Support

by Louis Arnaud

LOUISIANA — University officials at Louisiana’s University have fired two faculty members for their support of the black student protest. The protest was centered around the death of a black student who was killed during a protest on the campus.

The firing of the faculty members has sparked outrage among the black community and students at the university. The firing has been characterized as a “political move” by many.

The university has defended its actions, pointing to the faculty members’ support of the protest and their violation of the university’s policies.

The firing has raised questions about the role of universities in the black community and the implications of the incident for the future of black students at the university.

A career in law...

by Sally Adams

WHEN you become a Lawyer’s Assistant, you are eligible for a definite career in law work which is challenging, responsible and stimulating. Lawyers Assistants are now in great demand and need training for this career.

The Institute for Paralegal Training can offer you a unique program in which you’ll learn by doing the work of a paralegal in a lawyer’s office. The Institute is a career in a professional with financial security.

The Institute is located in New York City, and we are now enrolling for the fall term. Contact the Placement Office for more information.

Contact the Placement Office at (800) 555-1234 for more information.
Mediocre but Secure

By Glenn von Neumann

The business community in Albany is not without problems. Many students and faculty are concerned about the future of the city. There are plans for new developments, but the city is still struggling to attract businesses.

Most students in the Albany area are concerned about the future of the city. They want to know why Albany is considered a Model City.

Albany not so bad

The city is by no means worse than other American cities. Aladdin is a national attraction, and the general public is satisfied with its current state.

Albany Discusses Tenure With Students

Some students are concerned about the future of Albany. They fear that the city will lose businesses if it continues to decline.

Things Get Done

The government is somewhat undermanned. Albany does not have as many police as other cities.

Albany in 1972

The city of Albany is by no means dead. However, it is not the bustling metropolis it once was.

Albany in 1972

The city is by no means dead. However, it is not the bustling metropolis it once was.