CITY WILL AID STATE
Help Promised In Dormitory Drive

In order that Albany may have a chance to help in the Residence Hall Campaign, the city is going to have a campaign organization of its own. It is expected to contribute $150,000, of the $400,000 being sought in the effort. It is felt that Albany will be willing to take part in the work because of the prestige that accrues from having the State College here, and because it is estimated that the college brings $1,000,000 annually to the city.

The committees that are being formed will have active shares in the campaign during the intensive period from May 15 to June 6, as follows: Publicity Committee, Lynn John Arnold, Jr., chairman; Social Service Committee, Miss C. E. Jones, chairman; Church Cooperation Committee, Dr. Rochell H. Warren, chairman; Public Utilities Committee, Dr. Frank P. Graves; Public Citations Committee, David B. Fleming; Merchandise Committee, Alfred J. Spoor; Citizens Committee, Elbert V. Millican; Manufacturers Committee, Charles M. Stern, and Women's Committee, Mrs. Edmund N. Hueck.

The Church Cooperation Committee and the Public Offices Committee are already under way, and held meetings last Monday. The first of these plans to enlist the aid of the churches of the city not only to have announcements of the campaign and appeals made from each church, but also to have special solicitation in each church. The Public Offices Committee will canvass the workers of the State, county, and Federal Governments.

From March 21 to 26, conferences will be held in the seven divisions of alumni. Division 1 is Albany and vicinity; Division 2, Eastern New York from Greene County to Canada; Division 3, Eastern New York from Greene County south, including Leam Island; Division 4, Southwestern New York along the Pennsylvania Line; Division 5, Northern New York from Saratoga to the St. Lawrence River; Division 6, United States outside of New York State; and Division 7, foreign countries.

STATES THIRTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY MARCH 13

The thirty-fifth anniversary of the convocation of the State Normal School into the State Normal College was passed last Friday at State College. On March 13, 1884, the regents adopted a resolution authorizing the trustees of the school to organize a state normal college.

Dr. Brubacher stated that no special observances would be held on the main date in the institution's history. It is known as the legislative act which makes the State Normal School beginning in December, 1844.
ON THE BYRNE BILL

The following plan for adoption of the Byrne bill was published recently in Albany, over the signatures of Edward H. Crane, president of the student association and chairman of the Lincoln legislative committee, supporting the bill:

"The Byrne bill, now before the legislature to appropriate $250,000 for commencing work on the three building additions to State Teachers College, is one which should receive the support of every legislator. The act that the college must be immediately or continue in its present starvation condition has been proved by figures and opinions beyond question of doubt. The college is fifty per cent overcrowded, resorting in some cases to the use of the building in which they hold their classes; in other words, compelled to teach by methods known to this generation and young men and women who, in turn, will fill the teaching positions in high schools everywhere in the state of New York.

The state already has seen the need of this building appropriation, for it has granted annually $20,000 for work on the foundations for the new buildings. Last year a bill to get the money for the buildings failed because, since it has been stated, "the state could not afford the money." This year that same bill will have to pass over again in revised form. If the state still is unable to afford the money which the college must continue to work under influences which President Crane has described as "petrifying" and "dreadful.

The state intends to appropriate the money sometime in the next session. By doing so, the students at the University of South Dakota are asking who owns the farm and who sells the products of the farm. STATE EXTENDS SYMPATHY

Funeral services for Mrs. Anna T. Futterer, mother of Miss Agnes E. Futterer, director of drama, and Mrs. Futterer died early Saturday morning, were conducted Monday afternoon in the Clifton Avenue Cemetary, Albany, and at St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Church. Mrs. Futterer had been ill for many years. Her hands, which died several years ago, was a teacher of music in the Albany Public School system.

The reading of "The Great Divide," arranged for Saturday, was postponed indefinitely, by the Dramatics and Art Association. Sincerest sympathy is extended by the student body and friends of the late Miss Futterer in her recent bereavement.
