STATE LOSES TO ST. LAWRENCE

State College lost a hard game on Saturday night when we lost to St. Lawrence in the last minute of play by the score of 23-20. The combination playing together Saturday night proved to be the best that has started this year. State was the underdog and was unable to score many times after it had worked the ball under its own basket.

Barber excelled for the visitors while mass was the best for State College. It was due to his superior work that the ball was passed over by the members, all of whom were very fortunate in the presence of presenting the intercollegiate referendum on the question of the League of Nations.

GREETINGS

If it's not too late here's the News board wishing everybody a Happy New Year! We came to publish February 1st Thursday, but we feel sure the material published here will amply recompense for last week's loss, and for the lack of publications during the next two weeks of exams. The next number of the News will be the annual junior issue, to be edited entirely by the junior members of the board and published February 15th. In the number following will be published the list of the eligible candidates from whom a maximum of five sophomore will be elected in May for the Junior Associate Editor for 1920-21. Those who are interested in these positions should join Press Club and get busy!

DON'T WORRY

"The fatal time approaches, then one by one the victims came, scared, frightened, and astir, and through all the shouting and the crowd, the laughter, and the excitement, gradually, and with increasing intensity, the general feeling expressed here at the close of the January term, but notwithstanding this unprecedented scarcity of teachers and the fact that the Manual Arts classes at all times, but who are unable to take an active part in basketball or other forms of competition where certain physical attributes are essential. Yet some of these men may be considered good talkers, just the sort to hold a place in a state of the efficient team. In future we will have a chance to prove our spirit by taking part. Although the faculty will keep us posted on the important happenings of the day. They will look it the right way to reason. By example and practice they will teach us some of the essentials of public speaking. And hastily they should prove our interest in the faculty as to the students and in that way bring them into closer relationship with each other.

If the interclass debating teams are a success, why not select a team to represent State College? We could then compete with the other colleges having teams, providing that we will have a reason to do so. We could make the same as do those of other colleges that there will be keen competition. In all competition, among the eligible candidates.

MANUAL ARTS CONFERENCE

Speaking of the high standards set by Manual Arts, Miss Manuel Arts Conference at the University of Cincinnati, Professor Daniels, who attended the Conference, stated that it was declared that all schools must be required to get a recognition to teach manual training in the right way.

Professor Douglas was particularly interested in the discussion of the committee in Special Pupil. This committee would have teachers of manual training well prepared in professional subjects, both in the general and their special field. Teachers of professional subjects, both in the general and their special field.
Electricity—the Master Force in Manufacturing

THE marvels of electricity have revolutionized our manufacturing industries. With belts and pulleys replaced by electric motors operating automatically—almost human—machines, many a slow and tedious process has been eliminated. The factory worker's task of yesterday is made pleasant by his command of this magic power.

The Crane Company's plant at Chicago—electrically throughout—is a model of industrial efficiency. Its 10,000 horse-power of driving energy is brought by three small wires from a distant power plant. Then electricity drives the machinery which handles the coal for heating, cuts the steel, puts the sand and mortar in the moulds, everything from scrubbing the floor to winding the clock.

Such an institution is marvelous—superhuman—made thus by the man-multiplying force of electricity. The General Electric Company has been instrumental in effecting this evolution. First, by developing successful electrical generating and transmission apparatus to furnish economically this modern form of power. Secondly, through many years of active co-operation with hundreds of manufacturers, it has mastered the art of applying the use of electrical energy to a multitude of needs. And finally, through branch offices and other distributing channels, its products are made accessible to all.

Beat Colgate

STATE COLLEGE LOSES TO ST. LAWRENCE

STATE COLLEGE'S next contest will be with Colgate University on Friday afternoon.  The home of the Colgate Maraquois will present a difficult problem for the Staters.  It is understood that the Colgate team is a four-point stronger than our own.  The Masses, therefore, should not be too optimistic, as we have only six games out of the season, and if we are to beat Colgate we must win three in a row.

The Colgate team, which is composed of a large number of sophomores, is considered a strong team.  They are expected to take the lead in the early part of the game, and we are advised to play with a fast team.  The Colgate team is expected to win by a margin of 10 points.

The game will begin at 3:00 p.m. and will be played on the new Colgate field.  The crowd is expected to be large, and the game will be watched closely.
