Two Victories Put Albany Back On Track

Danes Top RPI, 55-44;
Beat Binghamton, 52-46

by Bob Bufalini

TROY - Defeating rival RPI, then losing at Cornell, the Albany State basketball team, currently 9-8, opened its regular season last Saturday with a 128-107 win over the Redmen in their fourth meeting.

The Danes also defeated State University of New York at Binghamton, 52-46, with a key free throw by Andy Lovelace.

"It was a rough game, but we got the win," said Albany head basketball coach Dick Low. "I think we have made progress, although we had two blocked shots, it was a little more alert.

"We were aggressive - a little more alert. I think we've turned it around, but it wasn't until Albany switched its defensive strategy from a zone to a full court man-to-man coverage that things started running and getting some stops.

"In the second half, we changed into man and played a lot better defense. We started running and getting some stops."

On Albany's 18-second half four points, eight went of five points. There were only 18 points in the game, and 18 points in the games. Two of the four points were put on the board by Bob Bellafiore.

Albany pulled themselves out of a 4-0 deficit on jump shots by co-captains Ray Cesarc and Rob Clune.

"I think we've made progress," Low said. "I know he was going to take a shot and I knew he was going to take a shot."

Coal Miner's Slaughter

"Valentine" A Sheer Heart Attack

The story begins with a typical, cliché-ridden Valentine's Day scenario. Lori Hallier plays the mild, awkward girl who is just beginning to realize her love for a boy named TJ, who is quite the opposite of her. The plot thickens as TJ is revealed to be the grandson of a wealthy coal miner, who has just returned to town after years away. The miner has brought with him a new woman, Betty Rhodes, who is a modern, independent woman. Lori and TJ's love story unfolds amidst the tension created by the miner's arrival and his desire to change the town's traditional ways.

A Healthy Brel At The Egg

The Egg is a perfect place to see a show, especially on a cold, rainy evening. The performance was a delightful mix of music and comedy, with the performers dressed in their best vintage outfits. The highlight of the evening was the song "Mr. Methane," which was performed with great enthusiasm and energy. The audience was thoroughly entertained and left with a smile on their faces. Overall, it was a wonderful evening and a great way to spend my Valentine's Day.
To the Editor:

I am writing this letter as a member of the Quad staff. I have been working here for more than four years, and I feel that the Quad is in serious need of reform. The Quad is a student-run publication, but it has become too bureaucratic and too far removed from the students it is supposed to represent.

RA Warning

RA Warning

The problem does not begin with our current elected representatives. Clearly, SA has known since last May that changes would have to be made in order to make the Quad a more effective and efficient publication. Even after meeting with SA officials, we are still in the dark. This is a problem of representation. I urge all students to speak out and demand that their voices be heard.

Letters Column

Time to Fight Reaganism

Jack L. Lane

As the students of the University of Albany, we are faced with a choice: to remain silent or to take action. The current administration is making cuts in federal and state aid along with raising tuition. These actions are affecting our education and our future. We must fight back.

Farewell Follett

The total estimated cost of replacing this library that hasn't changed. There is still a lack of knowledge about some of the changes that were slated in last Friday's ASI meeting. I was completely unaware of the transposition of numbers.

Self Destruction

To the Editor:

I am writing to speak out against the current situation at the Quad. The Quad is a student-run publication, but it has become too bureaucratic and too far removed from the students it is supposed to represent.

Speak Up

To the Editor:

The Quad needs more diversity in its editorial staff. We are facing a crisis of representation, and the Quad must take action to address this issue.

Cheating: It's Here

To the Editor:

There is a serious problem with cheating at the University of Albany. Students must understand that their actions have consequences.

Joke's On Us

The Quad is a student-run publication, but it has become too bureaucratic and too far removed from the students it is supposed to represent. We need to fight back and Demand change.

Call for Representation

The purpose and necessity of the SUNY Association (SA) is undeniable. We are needed as an organization to allow the three-quarters of a million students we represent an active voice. We must work together to ensure that our voices are heard. The Quad is a student-run publication, but it has become too bureaucratic and too far removed from the students it is supposed to represent. We need to fight back and demand change.
