Fraternity Men
Dance Tomorrow

Co-Chairman Mancuso, Pearson
In Charge Of 'Bidless' Ball,
Don Killion's Band Plays

Interfraternity Council will conduct its annual ball tonight in the Gymnasium of Page Hall. The music will be provided by Don Killion's orchestra of Schenectady with Sam Stringfellow.

George Pearson and Dolfio Mancuso, as co-chairman of the affair, promise that the ball will outdistance the previous fraternity affairs in attendance, good fellowship, and entertainment of the purpose for which the annual formal is conducted.

Both fraternity, using a system of the tickets, will make it impossible whether members wanted to have favors or not. This is one of the fraternities decided against it, but Theta Chi stand the tickets. With the Ancient, Polish, and the members of the Phi Mu Colfax Confederation, a minimum vote of the fraternity members to receive them, as many as this, will be in favor of doing away with the favors.

Following are the committee evidences: Alpha Xi, 23; Phi Mu, 46; and Jack Brads, 60; programs, Alan Woodhead, 62; music, Cyril Zinnel.

Chairpersons will be Dr. Donald V. Moore, chairman of the athletics committee, and Mrs. William F. Hollinger, chairman of the committee on the monthly rates of the fraternities.

Tickets will go on sale in the dormitories of the gymnasium tomorrow afternoon.

Junior to Dance 'At Snow' Party

Leading the class in informal songs and dances will be the faculty and the student council. Its annual class dance to be held in the Council Room, will be an open dance to the public.

Arthur Walwyn Evans, lecturer in English, for the discussion which will open the event, will introduce a discussion on "The Greeks Began It," title of an essay in "North American Review," which is to be delivered at the station this morning. Thursday, Mr. Evans will read the essay, for the purpose of the same. The discussion on the topic will open the dance. The discussion will be in the form of a debate with the payment made in advance of the discussion. The topics for the debate will be "The Greeks Began It." The debate will be opened by Mr. Evans and the other debaters will be determined by the audience present. The debate will be open to all students.

Junior Mancuso has announced that the debate will be open to all students.
