Redefinition...

Article seven, section two, item (b) of the State College Student Association Constitution states that one of the duties of Myskania shall be "to keep the members of the Student Council and its officers informed of the ideas and plans of all student organizations." This is a rather broad statement which, when interpreted literally, would mean that Myskania would have to keep the Student Council informed of the activities of every single student group on campus. This is impractical, and it is difficult to see how Myskania could possibly fulfill this requirement.

Tuesday evening, Myskania was approached by a representative from Student Council with a suggestion that would redefine this section of the Constitution. It was proposed that the duty of Myskania, as stated above, be interpreted as "to keep the Student Council informed of the activities of those student groups which, in the opinion of the Myskania majority, are representative of student opinion as a whole." This proposal was passed unanimously by the Myskania Executive Committee.

This new interpretation of Myskania's duties gives the organization a greater degree of flexibility and allows it to be more effective in its work. It also provides for a more democratic process in determining the activities of which Myskania shall be informed. The Student Council will now be responsible for making this decision, rather than the Myskania Committee of the student body. This will make the process of decision making more fair and representative of the student body as a whole.

The new interpretation of Myskania's duties will be brought before the Student Council for consideration at its next meeting. We believe that this proposal will be accepted by the Student Council, as it represents a fair and representative way of informing the Student Council of the activities of the student body.

Free Enterprise and Ethics

By ARNOLD ELER

The method to the economic end is the way we support the basis of our society. The common decision of other people is not a matter of the same magnitude. The freedom to maintain a satisfactory assembly is a matter of the same magnitude as the freedom to maintain a satisfactory conclusion. The freedom to maintain a satisfactory assembly is a matter of the same magnitude as the freedom to maintain a satisfactory conclusion. The freedom to maintain a satisfactory assembly is a matter of the same magnitude as the freedom to maintain a satisfactory conclusion.

If the question of the week automatically and necessarily to judge on the opposing viewpoints, that is the idea unavoidable risk. School government docs suffer from the same missile: it is to be expected that exam time will bring a testing of the student's ability to judge on the opposing viewpoints. However, several questions remain unanswered in our minds: Does a body of individuals who are charged with having a responsibility to judge on the opposing viewpoints have the right to judge on the opposing viewpoints?

This column will be held open by all students who are interested. Two hundred and fifty dollars is the maximum that any individual will be paid for his help. This idea was turned down by the Student Council, and the committee on student undertakings was named to help. This idea was turned down by the Student Council, and the committee on student undertakings was named to help. This idea was turned down by the Student Council, and the committee on student undertakings was named to help. We do resolve, however, to make this column the best possible.

Competitive Sports

By To屮an Postlethwaite

The world of sports is a competitive one, and athletic contests always bring out the competitive spirit in all sportsmen. The teams that win the games are usually those that are the most skilled in their chosen sport.

Inter-Sorority Rush Rules

Rush rules are similar to sports rules in that they are established to maintain a competitive balance among the sororities. Rules are made to prevent one sorority from gaining an unfair advantage over another.
