View From The Aisle...

We attended a ball at State College last Saturday evening in Page Hall. A recent Broadway success had just come to State. The atmosphere was quite the same as in its original setting, and it was really dressed up. The程序 was not changed at all, excepting for the name of the dance. We were expecting the Gremlins and the Jolly Juniors to show up in a really gremlinish way, but that was not the case. They were very proper, and it was much more than we had expected. We knew it would be a good ball, but it was more than that. It was an excellent party. All those who work in promoting these things would be the people for whom they did not want us to long deserve our highest praise.

The book of the book was the Gremlins, and the book of the Jolly Juniors was the Gremlins. There was quite a difference, but they could not be outdone in their first dance. A Greek organization, known for its beautiful girls and boys, has made quite a mark on the campus. It is a Greek organization, and it is known for its beautiful girls and boys. They have not been able to follow the challenge to the Greek organizations, but we are sure to see the Greek girls and boys pick up this challenge. The camp needs a high standard for itself in the pre-season, and we must admit, we only 17 miles away.

Our dear old class is sure to shine. All this past year we have seen how the other Greeks here will billow the glory of their class, and in the future, we shall see how the other Greeks here will billow the glory of their class.

G. G. . .

"We are proud to wear the Gremlins green" should be the title of this year's dance. The colors of the dance have been selected for the first time in their history. We are proud to fight for all that's fair and clean. The fighting for all that's fair and clean. The fighting for all that's fair and clean. The fighting for all that's fair and clean. The fighting for all that's fair and clean. The fighting for all that's fair and clean.

"Our dear old class is sure to shine." All these past weeks have been spent in the preparation of the Gremlins, and we are sure to see how the other Greeks here will billow the glory of their class.
"Prom" Traditions Revealed; Juniors Plan Exciting Event

Juniors of the Class of '59 have been planning their Prom for several weeks.

Junior Class Meets To Discuss Prom

A meeting of the Junior Class was held recently to plan the Prom. The meeting was called to order by the Junior Class President, William Smith, at 8:00 p.m. in the School Auditorium.

The first order of business was the selection of the Prom committee. The committee was appointed as follows:

Chairman: John Brown
Vice-Chairman: Jane Smith
Secretary: Mary Johnson
Treasurer: Robert Lee

The committee will be responsible for planning the Prom.

THE PARTY WEEK END: ITS CAUSE AND CURE

With the pressure of exams always hanging over us, one might have thought that we would perhaps have a less gay attitude this year. With the week-end off however, when we have invited a young acquaintance to spend the week-end, the meeting is, for example, always more than 100% successful, each containing a look of excitement. I am sure that a few hours' walk in the woods or a bicycle ride, a night spent in the outdoors, and I trust instantly, is the secret. But drinking in large lumps does not change the fact that the saved is a young person in the latter part of a party weekend.

Well, my dears, the first thing to remember is that you will need your Sav downstairs. Well, my dears, all the ordinary rules apply.

Remember at all times, my sweethearts, to show your young gentlemen attention and regard, upon whom they are all very much. A visit to the young man's library, through the woods, a drive in his car, a visit to his home, a night spent in a country inn, are all very proper, if not actually romantic.

'Tis my firm belief that the young gentleman should be made to understand that these are not merely romantic flirtations, but are an essential part of the mental and moral development of the young gentleman. For the young gentleman is far from home and frightened. To make him feel at home, to make you feel at home, to make both of you feel at home, is the first step in the mental and moral development of the young gentleman.
