Dr. Brubacher addressed the teachers of Scotia, Monday, January 12. He will speak to the Schoolmasters' Club of the Highlands, meeting at Newburgh, February 6.

Phenomenon Of A Lifetime Jan. 24

Those who are desirous of witnessing the total eclipse of the sun, Saturday, January 25, when the moon is in the sun's path, will have the opportunity of seeing it. This will be the last eclipse of the sun before the year 1900, and it is probable that the total eclipse will occur in the sun's path again, which will not take place until 1919.

The annual January presentation of three one-act plays by the elementary dramatics class under the direction of Miss Agnes E. Futterer will be tomorrow evening at 8:15 o'clock in the Vincentian Institute on the corner of Mariah avenue and Ontario street.

The advance seat sale for the plays is the largest on record and a crowded house is expected tomorrow evening. Tax tickets will admit all students to the plays. Other persons will be charged seventy-five cents or one dollar. Holders of tax tickets may exchange them for reserved seats on payment of twenty-five cents.

The three plays to be given are "Aria da Capo," written by Ethel St. Vincent Millay; "The Boy Comes Home," by A. A. Milne, the distinguished young English dramatist; and "Overtones," by Alice Gerstenberg.

Thursday evening, January 8, Omicron Na entertained the freshmen and faculty of the Home Economics department. The affair was held in the clothing laboratory which was prettily decorated in pink and lavender. Games were played and Marie Burtin, '25, gave a short talk on the history and purposes of the organization.

State and Miss Shephard attended a conference of New York State Institutions for training teachers of Home Economics in Ithaca, January 10.

The engagement of Harriet Ritzer, '24, to George I. Coons of Schematuck and of Marguerite Ritter, '21, to Dr. James Dunne, will be announced later.

CARPE DIEM

The Junior Luncheon at State College, held in the dining hall, was attended by many guests. The editor and the cast. They are one of the two big dramatic portrayals of the college year and Saturday'sattedon will be on a par with, or have surpassed, former efforts. Miss Futterer's ability in directing and an excellently chosen cast merits a full house, which evening is filled with endless laughter. Everything must be remembered except for this, because it is the one thing that might not cause them to be emptied. They are an examination in which is made it a matter that they are a test of our ability to appreciate good drama. Moreover, State College students are to be admitted on the presentation of their tax tickets, so the expense is no barrier. If you are a bargain hunter, come and see these plays for which the public is willing to pay seventy-five cents and one dollar. If you are in search of culture come and see them. If you want to be amused come and see them.

As to the examinations, our attendance is inevitable. They seem to be an excuse for coming to college. Even good programs at the banquet cannot interfere with them; we might say with the noble six hundred that it is "ours not to reason why, ours but to do or die" for the next two weeks.

The Prom and the Luncheon are the grand finale following examinations. Although they are of greatest interest to the class of 25, all upper classmen should be attending the Prom. Hiring a ballroom and an orchestra involves expenses which must be defrayed by the class. Even if upper classmen cannot make it a matter of enjoyment to attend this formal, then at least it is a matter of school spirit to support this junior function. Come and help defray expenses. Come and wash away the worries of examinations.

POST EXAM JUBILEE JAN. 29

Plans are being carried out for a lively post-exam jubilee to be held at the college Gym. The committee, headed by Edward Comings, has been charged with the responsibility of bringing out a selection of songs from the college year. The committee is made up of members of the class of 25, and upper classmen should be attending the Prom. Hiring a ballroom and an orchestra involves expenses which must be defrayed by the class. D. D. SLOOSON AT UNION

Dr. D. D. Slooson, the author of the well-known series of popular and fascinating books on science of which the widely read "Science for Amateurs," will speak at Union University, next Friday, January 22. The occasion is that of an open meeting of the American Chemical Society. In view of the appeal of its work to high school students, it is expected that many of State's students will attend. To this end, the committee will be charging enough students sign up on the chemistry bulletin board.

In order to be of all possible service the committee will be meeting every other Friday evening at 8:00 P.M. in the Union Building. The students are requested to sign up on the bulletin board with their names and the names of their friends who wish to attend. Prom Followed By Junior Luncheon

Not only will the Prom of 1926 be the accustomed whirl of color and frivolity, of memories of light laughter and exotic favors, but this year's junior class plan to stage a festivity at which all dance numbers planned shall be played—and played by such an orchestra as McGuire's. To take advantage of this unusual feature, participants should plan to attend early. The list for 'signing up' is waiting on the main bulletin board for signatures. The date, January 30; the place, the Ten Eyck ballroom; and the requirements, five dollars, and a jazzy step, constitute the necessary information. Come—and then follow the event by attending the Junior Luncheon, members of the class of '26.

College Concert Feb. 6

The London String Quartet, one of the best known touring musical attractions at the present time, will be presented in Albany by the Music Association sometime in April, the definite time and place to be announced later. The annual public concert of the college musical organizations will be February 6, at Chancellor's Hall.

CANTERBURY COMMUNION

The next monthly communion of Canterbury Club will be January 18, at St. Andrew's. The girls in Canterbury who have not yet been confirmed will be confirmed then by Bishop Oldham. As before, there will be a breakfast afterwards. The regular monthly meeting will be January 29, and Miss Martha Bullitt of Princeton, New Jersey, will address the club. The president desires all those who wish emblems to see her as soon as possible.

Piercing the Great Divide

West of Denver is the Continental Divide; hemmed in behind it is an undeveloped district twice as large as Maryland. That fertile area the new Moffat Tunnel will open up.

The conquests of electricity on land and sea, in the air and underground, are making practical the impossibilities of yesterday. It remains only for men of ability to find new things to do tomorrow. Thus does Opportunity of 1925 beckon college men and women toward greater things as yet undreamed, and to a better world to live in.
