The Philosophy of Student Power

By Robert B. Curry

The administration is opposed to its students exercising their right as a political body on this campus to plan and carry out direct political action.

One year ago, former President Geer resigned in the wake of a student protest. Now, in the wake of another protest, the administration will not be able to say it 'just happened.'

We are told that the rights of the administration are as important as the rights of the students. We are told that the student body is one single corporation, and we are told that the students share an equal duty in the exercise of political power at this university.

Bad News

To the University Community:

As a follow-up on a memo which appeared in the Bad News on Friday, November 13, 1969, (which announced the passing of Robert Allen) we would like to announce the March 1st issue of the Bad News. This issue will contain the first of a series of letters to the appropriate University officials. These letters will be in the form of open letters addressing the issues of academic freedom and freedom of expression. We feel that these issues are of utmost importance to the University community and that action must be taken in order to protect these rights.

I was amazed at the number of ASA members who failed to show up for the AMA meeting. It seems that many members are not interested in the activities of the ASA.

The Third World Liberation Front
And
The Black Ensemble Present
First Annual Black Cultural Weekend

Highlights Of The Weekend

The first Black Cultural Weekend, April 10-12, at the University of New York at Albany was sponsored jointly by the Third World Liberation Front and The Black Ensemble.

The weekend will begin at 1 p.m. Friday with an opening introduction followed by films and a speech by Richard Mowry, professor of African history at the university. Other weekend events include musical concerts and dance presentations.

Friday afternoon's program begins with the film "The House of the Rising Sun," followed by a panel discussion. Performances will be given at 2 p.m. and 2:30 p.m. in the Studio Theatre, Performing Arts Center. The evening will feature a special concert with Miss Nina Simone.

Saturday afternoon's program begins at 11 a.m. with "An Hour in Memory of Malcolm X" presented by the Black Ensemble. The production, including a play and poetry reading, will be given at 1 p.m. and at 2 p.m. in the Studio Theatre. In the evening, a pre-concert fashion show will feature creations from New Breed in the physical education building.

The weekend will culminate Sunday afternoon with the production "Hip Black and Angry," presented by the New Heritage Repertory Theatre. Six performances of "The Association," an original drama by Miltledge Mosley, are scheduled throughout the weekend. Tickets can be obtained at the Performing Arts Center Box Office.

"The Association" is in its early stages of development. The cast includes Tommy Porteous as the son, Jim Ford as the father, and Diane Fairley as the mother. The actors are non-professionals and Mr. Mosley feels that they have added a certain innocence to the production.

"Every character is, in his own way, the victim of circumstances and his own self-control," Mr. Mosley feels. "The son is the strongest character in the play, and the character of the father is the epitome of the weak American male. He is the man who has to hold his own ground in a world that is changing so fast."

Mr. Mosley, who is also directing the production, is leading the cast in the development of "The Association." He is planning to produce the play on a national basis if it is a success.

"The Association" will be presented on April 10, 11, and 12, tickets can be obtained at the University of New York at Albany Box Office.

Rascals Memories

Canned Heat Give Concert Which Leaves Audience Cold

By Bob Knollman

Although the Rascals were a far cry from their old days, and may have had more to offer than the combination of movement and music, the performance was, at times, very lackluster. Although a bit less than a consensus, the music was pleasing. The band, however, was not the star of the show. The lead guitar, which has been described as "different" by the fans, was not as impressive as one would have hoped.

The combination of movement and music was a pleasing one, but the Rascals' performance left much to be desired. The audience did not seem to be completely satisfied, and the show was not as memorable as one would have hoped.

The Rascals will be back in Chicago in the near future, and it is hoped that they will put on a better show next time.

The Committee recommends that the two degree patterns be implemented immediately upon approval by the Faculty Senate of this committee so that the individual faculties awaiting the degree maps may use the flexibility provided to them.

control pill some four years ago.”

The birth control pill is a small part of that profit. Drug companies make a profit from the birth control pill, but they also make a profit from many other products as well. The drug company makes what they say they do: they mass-produce and mass-market the pill as a contraceptive, not to control birth. However, the pill and related services are also sold at a profit.

As most of that profit comes from the birth control pill, the drug industry is the biggest and most profitable industry in the world. All drug companies, both foreign and domestic, are believed to be guilty of deception, which is why they are able to make such a profit. The drug industry is a major player in promoting the use of oral contraception, not to control births. Instead, the drug industry is promoting the use of oral contraception as a form of birth control, not for the prevention of unwanted pregnancies.

In addition, the drug industry is promoting the use of oral contraception as a form of birth control to make money. The drug industry is attempting to make as much money as possible from the sale of oral contraception.
