CHANGE IN ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS

The entrance requirements to the college for candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Science in commercial education and in home economics have been modified to take effect next September. Students who expect to take up the home economics course may offer the usual entrance requirements as prescribed heretofore or may offer the academic diploma or the academic diploma in vocational subjects, as prescribed by the State Education Department. Students who expect to take up the commercial education course may offer in lieu of the usual requirements the academic diploma or the academic diploma in commercial education.

HISTORY OF THE COLLEGE

Last June State College celebrated the seventy-fifth year of its foundation. Following is a condensed history of the institution:

From Europe the normal school system reached America. It came directly from Prussia to the United States thru the efforts of Rev. Charles Brooks of Massachusetts. In 1839 Massachusetts founded at Lexington, her first normal school. A few years later New York established her first at Albany.

New York did not act hastily in this matter. The founding of the normal school had been advocated by state and county superintendents; it had been brought to the homes of people by the District School Journal. Horace Mann and Henry Barnard had spoken for it. Finally, it reached the legislature in the form of a bill, presented in 1843 by Calvin T. Hallward of St. Lawrence county. This bill was successfully carried thru by his efforts and those of Michael Hoffman of Herkimer county. The school was to be an experiment for five years. For its support during that time the sum of $10,000 was to be paid annually from the literature fund. The supervision and government of the school were to be conducted by the superintendent of common schools and the Regents of the University. The following executive committee was at once appointed: Col. Samuel Young, Rev. Alonzo Potter, Hon. Gideon Hawley, Francis Dwight and Rev. Wm. H. Campbell.

Soon the committee was organized and the work distributed among its members. Gideon Hawley secured from the city of Albany the lease of a building, together with $500, to help put the property in order. Francis Dwight visited the school at Lexington, to learn of its organization and equipment. Dr. Potter went to Massachusetts, empowered to engage a

LARGE DEMAND FOR COMMERCIAL TEACHERS

The demand for college trained commercial teachers has never been greater than at present. To-day there are 767 high school commercial positions in 29 different public schools in the State outside of New York City. These positions offer salaries ranging from $1,100 to $3,300 according to training and experience. That school authorities are anxious to obtain college trained graduates for commercial teaching positions is reflected in the fact that some have come to our State College for such instructors. Of those in this year's class who have commercial teaching positions next year the lowest is $1,200 and the highest is $1,800.

The new continuation school law passed by the Legislature last fall has made it an important factor in increasing this demand for commercial teachers. It is estimated that by 1925 when the law will be in full operation, 30,000 boys and girls of ages 14, 15, 16 and 17 years will be enrolled in the part-time schools of 25,000 or 75,000 will be commercial students. Add this 75,000 to the 50,000 now enrolled in one or more commercial subjects in the all-day public schools, and our conception of the tremendous opportunity that is developing for the commercial teacher in the future.

NOTICE TO 1922

Found—45 of the old style blue and white frosh buttons were used to delight in compelling 1922 to wear. These buttons may be had for the asking. The rule is—first come, first served. Remember the good old days when we made your poor little hearts inattentive worth while! You undo this and push the button for your stumb book. Come on, '22—look who's giving them away.

MAY MUSIC FESTIVAL

In May will occur the first Annual Spring Music Festival of the Women's Chorus of State College. Under the direction of the music department, will conduct and Dr. Candlin, a composer of note and Dr. C. J.storms of the chorus, will be at the plane. The concert programme will consist of classical music and selections from the light opera. The chorus will be composed of all the members of the chorus, and others of like rank will be sung. We all know what the chorus can do, having heard them sing before the Albany Alumni, at the Hamilton Concert, and twice before the student body in chapel. Each of these four minor appearances has demonstrated to us the remarkable progress the chorus is making along the lines of tone, quality and technique.

The chorus is rapidly pushing itself musically. Let us all back to the limit this our first May Music Festival.

State College News, April 28, 1921
Who Was Moseley?

He was a young Oxford man, only twenty-seven when he was killed at Gallipoli. Up to his time, man had never seen the inside of an atom. He turned the X-rays on matter—not figuratively but literally—and made them disclose the skeleton of an atom just as certainly as a surgeon makes these reveal the positions of the bones of the body. Moseley proved that all atoms are built up of the same kind of matter. He saw, too, just why an atom of copper is different from an atom of gold.

Atoms are built up of electrons. Each atom consists of a nucleus, a kind of sun, with a certain number of electrons grouped about it, like planets. Moseley actually counted the number of electrons of all the metals from aluminum to gold.

When you discover what gold is made of or a new fact about electricity, you open up new possibilities for the use of gold or electricity. For that reason the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company are as much concerned with the "how" of things—atoms and electrons, for instance—as they are with mere applications of the electric current.

Hence Moseley's work has been continued in the Research Laboratories, with the result that more has been learned about matter. How does water freeze? What is lead? Why are lead, iron, gold and tungsten malleable? Such questions can be answered more definitively now than ten years ago. And because they can be answered it is possible to make more rapid progress in illumination, in X-ray photography, in wireless telegraphy, and in electrical engineering as a whole.

There would have been no coal-tar industry without the vast amount of research conducted in organic chemistry, and no electro-chemical industry without such work as Sir Humphrey Davy's purely scientific study of an electric current's effect on caustic potash and caustic soda. Sooner or later research in pure science always enriches the world with discoveries that can be practically applied. For these reasons the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company devote so much time to the study of purely scientific problems.
MEN'S ATHLETICS

Basketball

State faced a difficult problem at the opening of the basketball season. Six of last year's squad had graduated and it was necessary to choose a squad from new material. This task of coaching a team which would give us a majority of victories fell to one man who has made himself solid with all State.

The Coach

Francis B. Snavely has by his work with the Purple Quintet built up a reputation as a first class college coach. Whose strenuous work lasted from the first call in November until the last whistle blew on the St. Stephen's game. His success is well shown in the record of his men on the court.

Captain

Hathorn

"Shorty" has completed his second year as a varsity basketball player, and the confidence which State had in him when she chose him to lead the team this year has not been misplaced. At the pivot position he has tapped the ball almost at will to his team-mate. "Shorty" plays a hard and conservative game. It will be a hard task to fill his place next year.

Manager

The spirit with which Manager Bliss went at his task of securing games early in the year was assurance alone that a good schedule would be prepared, and the tentative schedule was already nearing completion at the end of last year. The schedule consisted of thirteen games of which six were played at home. Many of our old rivals were included as Colgate, Union, St. Lawrence and Clarkson, and relations were opened in addition with several new institutions, as a result of Manager Bliss' efforts. Much praise is due to the Manager for the ability he showed and the time and effort he devoted to this work. He was aided by Assistant Manager Linck and Scrub Managers, MacFarlane, Putman and Scott.

Cassavant

Ted is another man who has played his last game for State and whose place will be hard to fill next year. In the two years which he has played with the varsity he has made a wonderful record. To him goes the honor of leading the team in scoring.

Johnson

To "Jack" goes the honor of being the most aggressive player on the team. He has played an article of basketball which has been a joy to all followers of the Purple. How he kept State in the running by his clever floor work will not be forgotten. He and his running mate, Cassavant, tied in the number of field baskets for the season. We predict a good season for State with "Jack" as captain.

Folt

"Dutch" is another man who has donned his suit for the last time at State. He has played three years at guard and is one of the most dependable in the East. He has a way of getting the ball and passing it to the right man at the right moment that has made him one of the best back-court men developed at State.

Baker

"Jake" is one more senior of this year's squad that will be missed next year. After an injury that kept him out of basketball last year and the early games this year, he broke into the game and fairly burned up the floor with his speed in bringing the ball down the court, and remember how he held St. Lawrence's star on their court?

Debris

Here is one of the new men of the varsity who put up an excellent exhibition of back-court work this season. His handling of the ball has helped the State quintet get their bearings and go on to victory. We hope he decides to come back next year.

Sherlick

"Joe" is one more senior who has played his last game as a member of the varsity. While his position is regularly guard he filled in at center and forward and played a cool, conservative game wherever placed.

Linck

Next year we predict that State will have a playing manager. Besides performing all the duties of assistant manager he broke into three games and played a fine brand of basketball.

Sherley

Here is a frosh whom we know will make good at State. This year he captained the reserves and took part in three varsity games.

The Reserves

We owe much to these men who gave their time to help the varsity get into shape. Especially do the seniors of this squad deserve our thanks as they will not be able to make their letter in future years as most of the others. They played a schedule this year meeting the R. P. I. Reserves in two games, St. Joseph's Academy in two games, and Mine High School. The squad consisted of Sherley, Linck, Strain, Donohue, Reilly, T. Cassavant, Baldwin, Grey, Putman and MacFarlane.
THE RESERVE BASKETBALL TEAM

It was for the purpose of keeping those basketball players who came out for practice regularly but who were not skilled enough, or placed on the varsity squad, interested in playing and perfecting themselves that a reserve schedule was originated this year through the efforts of Coach Snively and assistant manager, Edward Link.

At the beginning of the year the team was organized, Edward Shirley being elected captain and Edward Link being assigned to the management of the reserves.

The line-up varied as new players entered and the often wintered, as good players dropped out or were taken for use in the varsity games. Link, Joseph and Shirley held the forward positions, Baldwin and Donahue took turns at center while Reilly and Stain were the foremost guards. Flynn and Nemer were also on the squad and later MacFarlane, Dooley and Rutman became strong competitors for positions on the team. Link and Shirley were the principle point getters for the team.

The games played were:

Jan. 7, R. S. Reserves at Troy
22, J. J. Academy at State
Feb. 5, Milne High School varsity at State
10, Milne High School varsity at State
24, J. J. Academy at St. Joseph's Academy
Mar. 5, Renaissance High School at Rensselaer
12, R. S. Reserves at State.

Link, Joseph and Shirley held the forward positions, Baldwin and Donahue took turns at center while Reilly and Stain were the foremost guards. OUTDOOR BASEBALL PRACTICE STARTS WITH VIM

With the baseballs carefully packed away for the winter, and the robins chirping cheerfully in the campus elms, Coach Snively has placed on the squad a band of husky pill swatters for the first outdoor practice. Much interest is being taken in the development of this year's nine, for with the start of batting practice the baseball stronger than ever before, and with a better schedule than usual prepared by Manager Hill, this year's record may put the American sport in line for a major place at State College.

As a nucleus about which to form a good combination are: Hubert, T. Cassavant, Johnson, Bliss, Hakes, Sherlock, and Bader of last year's squad. Johnson will in the box again this year with Bliss and Hakes at the plate. The position behind the bench will be taken care of with Hakes, the veteran of last year's team, and Dooley, a new-comer. Shorty Haver will probably hold sway over first, but he has a strong contender in Dobias, who regularly plays first.

J. Cassavant, Bliss, Sherlock, and Carrol are in line for second and third short. All of them are experienced men and Coach will have no difficulty in keeping these positions well supplied. Third base will be ably held down by Captain T. T. Cassavant, one of the mainstays of last year's team.

In the outfield will be Holmes, Osborne, Hill, MacFarlane, and Mayhew, supplemented by the squad.

Coach Snively has put the men through some light batting drills, and a lot of practice in fielding in order to get them used to the idea of the ball. He is going slow in the elimination process, and the very evident; ability of all candidates makes it plain that only the hardest possible work will earn a berth on the team.

The first tilt will take place April 23 at Ridgefield Park with St. Stephen's as the attraction. Last year State defeated St. Stephen's in the first game by an overwhelming score, but it is known that St. Stephen's has excellent material this year, and only a "home" wood exhibition of baseball will enable the Purple and Gold to carry off the honors this time.

JUNIOR SISTERS

The entering class each year is fortunate in the greeting tendered them by the juniors. In the summer preceding the coming of the freshmen each junior writes to a prospective student, and offers assistance in any way possible—such as securing a boarding place, meeting the new student at the train, etc. Later the juniors attempt to gain the freshmen with the points of interest about the college and the city, and act as general guardians until the freshmen become acclimated.
GIRL'S ATHLETICS

WOMEN'S ATHLETICS ASSOCIATION

The future of girls’ athletics in State College depends greatly on the incoming classes for the next two years. In recent years, athletes have won a place of more or less prominence among the girls, but since the physical education department is being taken from the college all the more interest should be centered in the major sport, basketball, and the girls' athletics in general.

The biggest feature of girls' athletics is an interclass basketball tournament held during the winter months on the indoor court. Two classes are played between each two classes, totalling twelve games. The winning class receives championship.

With the close of the basketball season the teams are glad to announce the champion team this year, the senior team. For the second time the team of '21 are proud to hold this honor. It is very unusual for a senior team to win the championship because for lack of interest, spirit or players in its last year, the team falls down. The seniors should be highly commended for the spirit that they have kept for their team, class and college. They have had regular practice weekly, with practically every member of the squad present each time. All six games played by the senior team were won with the best of sportsmanship. All of the six games were won.

The members of the championship team are: Lucile Rouse (captain), Beulah Cunningham (manager), Winifred Darling, Jessie Darling, Frances Lawrence, Gladys Teetsell and Nellie Parkhurst. The subs are Katheryn Ball, Ernestine Owen, Margaret Crane, Grace Dalton and Marguerite Nodine.

'21 Girls Hold Honor for Second Time

With the close of the girls' basketball season the teams are glad to announce the championship. For the second time the team of '21 are proud to hold this honor. It is very unusual for a senior team to win the championship because for lack of interest, spirit or players, in its last year, the team falls down. The seniors should be highly commended for the spirit that they have kept for their team, class and college. Not one of the other class teams has had regular practice weekly, with practically every member of the squad present each time. Then, too, with little cheering and sometimes few spectators to inspire them, they played their games with the best of sportsmanship. All of the six games were won.

The members of the championship team are: Lucile Rouse (captain), Beulah Cunningham (manager), Winifred Darling, Jessie Darling, Frances Lawrence, Gladys Teetsell and Nellie Parkhurst. The subs are Katheryn Ball, Ernestine Owen, Margaret Crane, Grace Dalton and Marguerite Nodine.

SKATING

The park lake and our hockey rink on the campus furnish excellent places for skating. This year the girls who were majors and minors in physical education were also taught the rudiments of ice hockey. If the ice had lasted longer probably a girls' team would have been started.

TEENIES

Spring is coming! Yes, indeed! Old winter caught her without her snow shovel and stalled her for awhile, but snow shovels are not always in order and spring will come. Then out will come the tennis rackets. W. A. A. girls are off to the courts to practice for the tournament. Queen how that ball will over the net. A little patience and the old cleverness and strength in your wrist will come back.

The spring tennis tournament is another big event for W. A. A. A silver cup is awarded the winner. If you play tennis don't fail to sign up. Every girl in college should know the rules of the game by the time out of her freshman year. There is not a person who knows how to play tennis. There is a not in the gym that anyone is welcome to use. Do not have college without having felt the exhilarating effects of that best of sports—tennis. There are several good courts in the park as well as ours right here on the campus.

W. A. A. officers this year are: Leila Gondorf, '22, president; Winifred Darling, '21, vice-president; Beulah Cunningham, '21, secretary; Lela Cackener, '22, treasurer; Pauline George, '22, cheer leader.

HIKES

"Merrily we walk along, over the rocky roads! Merrily we sing State songs, when we ride in loads!" Every year W. A. A. holds two big hikes to Indian Ladder and several smaller hikes around Albany. These hikes are taken on Saturday afternoons, but on the Indian Ladder hike a crowd camp out overnight and what a jolly time they do have! Ask any one who went. Several bushels of girls, with lunch boxes and cameras start off in big trucks. Disembarking after a very jolly ride, in those same trucks, everyone takes excellent care that the freshmen are loaded to the gunwales with skirts and cameras and last but not least the lunch boxes. The older members of the party, mostly seniors, jog slowly up the trail, but the underclassman run, each trying to out-climb the other. It is the underclassmen, too, who pursue the trails at breakneck speed to the horror of the seniors who wish to gaze at the familiar places for perhaps the last time. At event we descend the mountain tired and dirty, but happy and content.

All out, ye who would make your college days rich in experiences and jolly times. Come, and hike in the spring when young folks' fancies lightly turn toward out-of-doors.

Smart But Reasonably Priced
GYM EXHIBITION

Each year the majors and minors in physical education, in connection with the sophos and sophias, give an exhibition of apparatus that includes, drills — wind and drum bells — dances, etc. If you want to see trained gymnasts leap over "horses" and do strange feats of the marines, yet come to this exhibition. There are contests in vaulting and rope climbing.

The Scholars Overture and is supported by the whole student body.

SWIMMING

What is more restful or soothing to your tired mind after you have had a long drawn-out schedule of classes than a good swim? Students have had several opportunities to go in parties to the W. V. C. A. swimming pool and enjoy an evening playing and swimming about in the water. Miss Card, Miss Bennett, also Dr. Croasdale, and Dr. Evans, go under that name by the Education Department. April 30, 1914, it was voted:

"That the New York State Normal College of the University of the State of New York, as duly earned degrees of the University shall be recognized and confirmed as examiners in the University degree of Master of Arts, Science and Pedagogy, be registered by the Education Department, which is continued under that name by the Education Department."

"That the New York State Normal College, which is continued under that name by the Education Department, shall be designated the New York State Normal College, and Miss Gillet has also held the position of Superintendent of the School of Home Education. Her successor is Miss Anna Randolph Kine, a graduate of Simonds College, Medford, Massachusetts, and of Columbus University. Miss Kine has been an instructor in Temple University, Philadelphia, and also in the summer session of the Buffalo State Normal School.

The Coach

Mr. Wilfred J. Clarke has resigned as Instructor in Physical Education to become Recreational Director for the Cheesy Silk Corporation at South Manchester, Connecticut. His place is taken by Mr. James A. Snively, a graduate of Lebanon Valley College and formerly Instructor in Physical Education in the University and in the Army. Mr. Snively has taken a prominent part in football, basketball, baseball, and track throughout his undergraduate years.

FACULTY CHANGES

Miss Marion S. Van Liew has resigned her position as Professor of History of Home Economics in State College to accept a position in the State Agricultural Department as specialist in Home Education. Her successor is Miss Grace Gillet, a graduate of Simmons College and formerly instructor in the University of Minnesota and the Creighton Agricultural College. Miss Gillet has also held the position of Superintendent of the School of Home-Hold Arts in Portland, Oregon.

Mr. Andrew W. Brown, a graduate of Andover University, Nova Scotia, with graduate study at Yale University, comes as Assistant in the Department of Education. He is Assistant Professor in Psychology. Mr. Beth in the History of Education, and Professor of Education in the administration of the Milne High School.

CLASS RIVALRY

Close rivalry has been expressed in one way or another by almost all classes in putting on the Annual Chapel Stunts. On November 19 the seniors started the series of stunts by presenting their "Close-up of Inauguration," an original play composed by Dorothy Demagroon. The original conception scenes showing periods in the life of the man of the day are hammed by clever actors and actresses.

In the first scene we were transported to the meeting of the convention. No one would deny that the "green derby" and the "lapel houndstooth" of the delegates had a momentous influence on the convention. A model Mr. Cox was created in the session by the board of a "feminine resolute," and Cox and his one adherent made an impression. Harding's man was the hit.

In the second scene we were acquainted with the joys of the campaign. Even "Della" began to pity the harassed Harding. Howard's problems are not solved when he accepts Mary O'Callahan as secretary of the campaign.

In the third scene President and Mrs. Harding are enjoying their vacation at Palm Beach. We let sure that the "solicitous wife" will prevent the President from too strenuous appliance to either golf or federal affairs. However, he has a relative upon hearing the news that his caddy for the new weeks was found to be Cox, who is an "easy breezy" had resorted to caddying for his rival candidate.

Baker and Bentley at Track

Inauguration Day was depicted in the final scene. The band, the crier, dejected as well as defibritified friends, the old maid, the tax and even Della were all there. Harding's campaign of the President, as befitting one of his importance, was drawn about by some and in a very impressive Harding that he not only kissed the feet of more passages. The inaugural speech was voted a great hit, but the crowning touch with Harding, "Darned if I know, do you?"

The stunt made a decided hit.

THE LOCATION OF THE COLLEGE

State College is located between Western and Washington Avenues on Ten Eyck Street. The offices are in the Administration Building. Information concerning rooms and rooming places may be obtained from Miss Pierce, Dean of Women. The college is a block and a half from the Union Station, but may be reached by "West Albany" or "Allen Street" electric cars, which pass on Broadway near the stations and docks. They run within two blocks of the college. It can be reached by the W. T. A. T. which leaves the Union Station and runs to Washington Avenue.

DEGREES

This college offers to those students who meet the requirements for admission, four-year courses leading to the degree of Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science. These courses must be pursued in colleges of Liberal Arts together with certain requirements in the general subjects and a course in supervised practice teaching. It also offers one-year courses preparing students for careers in Economics and Commercial Education.

Fees

There is no charge for resident instruction to residents of the State of New York who are preparing to teach. Regularly matriculated students having their residence in other states are charged a tuition fee of forty dollars per year. Students who register for courses but do not register for classes are charged $1.50 per semester hour.

Laboratory fees, covering cost of materials, are charged in all courses in science and some other courses where laboratories are utilized in the instruction, and are due at the time of entrance upon the course.

Student Self Help

While the college does not undertake to furnish students opportunities for earning their expenses, yet a considerable number of students engage in various activities for remuneration to laborious work in order to assist in their expenses. An employment bureau is maintained in the office of the Dean of Women. The college offers a broad range of opportunities to both men and women.

Student Boarding

For three years now the "Y" House, under the auspices of the State College Y. W. C. A., has furnished a pleasant and "home-like" boarding place for State College girls. This year, as last, the house is situated at 747 Madison Avenue.

The "Y" House has eighteen members and a house mother: it is a very cheerful place where even a timid little freshman has no chance to feel homesick, and even if she is homesick she is not bored to death. The rooms are sunny, with splendid accommodations for study, and the study hours and study hours are numbered. There is a parlor where all sorts of good times are held, with informal dances during the year and Christmas frolics on the last Friday of March. The festivities include a Senior Ball, "Fancy Dress" for the Sophomore classes, a Junior Prom, the big event of the year. Early in the term the "Y"ers hold an "Ice Breaker" for the Sophomores. They have also various other social events in which the freshmen are especially fortunate because of the large number of them.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

Without a doubt, almost everyone interested in "good times" and State College has quite a few during the year to relieve the monotony of daily routine. The freshmen are especially fortunate because of the large number of them.

The first reception is given by the Dorm Committee, with hospitality and cordiality, and any conceived "party together" affair to promote fellowship among the students.

This is a brief resume of State College activities which help to develop social contacts, and play a part in much of the enjoyment of the college life itself.
One of the largest and most important parts of State College is the Milne High School, which is housed on the third floor of the main building. This school is a model practice school in which seniors of the college do practice teaching for at least one semester. The senior model gives a two-year Junior High School course, followed by a regular four-year Regents School course. The faculty of the school consists of its principal, John M. Sayles, seven editors, or supervisors of practice teaching—Miss Charlotte Hack, Miss Elizabeth Shaver, Miss Lydia Johnson, Miss Helen Kelso, Miss Lottie Harris and Mr. Edw. Lang—and the forty seniors who are doing practice teaching.

Physical education, athletics, recreation and social activities are stressed in the school. The interest methods in teaching are applied with great success.

The standard of Milne High School is very high. Each year a number of State scholarships given to Albany County are won by its graduates, in competition with those of several large high schools in the county. Oral credit is given to the school, and the English department is certified, so that credit is given to each student for literature read, and he is required to answer only the grammar and composition divisions of the Regents' examinations.

In addition to giving seniors an opportunity for doing practical work, the Milne High School also gives them an opportunity for making up credits where conditions are not suitable, for any school for any college, and is an ideal "prep" school in attending before entering State College.

COLLEGE HONORS

The regulations governing the system of College Honors appear in the college catalogue and read as follows:

"The faculty shall designate for honors each year those students of the senior class completing the requirements for graduation who have maintained a notably high standing in their studies.

Method of Designation. In determining the place of seniors to be designated for honors, the registrar shall compute the standing of each eligible candidate by counting four points for every semester hour in which he receives credit with a grade of A, three points for B, two for C, and one for D, and shall then divide the total number of points thus secured by the total number of semester hours included in the calculation. Only those candidates who attain an average standing upon this basis of at least 3.50 shall be designated for honors.

Announcement. The names of all honor students, in alphabetical order, shall be printed upon the commencement program and the college catalogue each year.

Fearful Struggle

They were discussing the war..."I guess this is the most fearful struggle the world has ever seen," said John.

"Oh, I don't know," replied the postman. "I once saw two Jew burglars trying to take money from a Scotchman."

(Moving-Up Day)
College Publications

The publications which State College boasts are these in number: The "News," the "Quarterly," and the "Pedagogue.

The "News" is published weekly throughout the college year and its aims are to represent all of the activities and interests of State.

The history of the "News" has its beginning on Moving-up Day, 1916, when the Class of 1918 presented its annual gift to the school. The object of which was to show the advantages of the introduction into college life of a weekly newspaper. This idea happily coincided with a plan of Dr. Brubacher's, and as a result the editor-in-chief early in the first semester of each year. A request for candidates will be printed in the "News" and the names of the candidates will be placed on a ballot. The election will be taken on a strict basis.

Those students who are competing for editorial appointments shall be designated "Reporters." Until appointed officers, they shall have no vote, but shall vote in determining the conduct of the paper.

The composition shall be conducted as follows:

1. Students of all classes may offer editors and the candidates by submitting their names to the editor-in-chief early in the first semester of each year. A request for candidates will be printed in the "News" and the names of the candidates will be placed on a ballot. The election will be taken on a strict basis of merit.

2. The editorial board shall consist of an editor-in-chief, five associate editors, a business manager, and two advertising managers.

3. The constitution for the "Quarterly" is based upon the competition and is as follows:

1. The State College Quarterly is a literary magazine published four times a year and devoted to the publication of the best poetry and prose written by the faculty, alumni, and student body.

2. The publication board shall consist of an editor-in-chief, five associate editors, a business manager, and two advertising managers.

3. From the associate editors, those reporters as candidates for the position of the editor-in-chief shall have the opportunity to submit their names for consideration. The names shall be submitted in writing to the editor-in-chief and in accordance with the rules set forth by the publication board.

4. From the associate editors, those reporters as candidates for the position of the editor-in-chief shall have the opportunity to submit their names for consideration. The names shall be submitted in writing to the editor-in-chief and in accordance with the rules set forth by the publication board.

5. From the associate editors, those reporters as candidates for the position of the editor-in-chief shall have the opportunity to submit their names for consideration. The names shall be submitted in writing to the editor-in-chief and in accordance with the rules set forth by the publication board.

6. The election to the business manager shall be determined by the board of editors, but the business manager shall nominate for the position the students who have offered themselves as candidates for the position and have assisted the business manager most efficiently in conducting the finances of the paper. When no such candidate has presented himself, election shall be made from the existing staff.

7. The editor-in-chief shall have general supervision over the publication of the paper. He shall have the assistance of those assistant editors whom he may select, and from them he shall select members for the printing and proof-reading staff.

8. The business manager shall conduct the finances of the paper. He shall receive all money, and make an annual report of his accounts, which he shall draw and audit the treasurer of the student fund, and he shall be responsible for the printing and proof-reading of the paper.
The "Quarterly" board for the college year 1920-21 includes the following persons: Editor-in-chief, Mary Grahn; literary editors, Doris Coon, Dorothy Howell, Margerie Potter, and Katherine McInerney; art editors, Edith Weatherwax and Esther Lerner; and business editors, Elizabeth Shirley and Theodore C. Busch. Advertising: Elton Hakes, Kathryn Ball, Ralph Belden, and Laura A. Moore. Business editor, Stella Parkhurst; business manager, Edna Lowerree; joke editor, Dorothy Williams; editor, Elizabeth Requicha; subscription manager, Louise Carmody; faculty advisor, Dr. Hastings.

There is still another publication which belongs to State, but which is not published by students who are here. That is the "Quarterly," and is published by the Alumni Association. It contains four numbers per year. It includes news about college activities, alumni and student activities, and news of the teaching profession. You can find much information about State alumni members here. The board is: Editor-in-chief, Ella Wilson; Business Manager, T. D. Foster; Secretaries, Mabel Wade, N. Y.; Assistant Secretary, Florence D. Foster; Production Manager, Esther Raillery Woodard; "The Sigma Nu Kappa chapter house in State College has been very active this year. Besides the general association, the New York City, and the Western branch, their officers are teaching in colleges and secondary schools throughout the United States.

The Sigma Nu Kappa chapter in State College is the oldest fraternity in State College. Since its founding in 1913, it has been active in promoting college and good fellowship amongst the men. The alumni of the fraternity number about 75. About two-thirds are teaching in colleges and secondaries.

During the war practically every member joined the service, and as a result, Sigma Nu Kappa was at low ebb during that period. Soon after the war, however, some of the old members returned, and with new ones added, the fraternity again began to flourish. This year the active members undertook the construction of a fraternity house on the college campus.

Home Economics Department

The Home Economics Department of the College, as a result of the war, has been very active this year. It has been expanded and improved, and now covers many fields.

The purpose of the Association is to train teachers, it is well equipped to do so. The course in clothing includes the dressmaking and costume design and history of costume, house planning and decorations. The work is correlated with the art department.

The courses given in food consist of sanitation, preparation and service of food, microbiology diets, and nutrition. This work is correlated with the home economics department.

The Practice House is operated in connection with the department. The senior students live for two months, one month each semester. They receive and conduct all the household activities under the supervision of the department.

The Home Economics curriculum is another part of the Home Economics department. It provides a practical outlet for the girls and gives them a chance to make and prepare their own meals for family and friends.

The dressing room is used as a laboratory for the dressmaking and costume designing classes. It is well equipped with foot and power machines, cutting and work tables and a fitting room. All types of work are done for children and adults. They learn the principles and practice of design and reconstruction to the construction of new clothing.

About a fifteen-minute walk from the center of town is the H. E. dormitory, Sydnam Hall, housing twenty-two girls. The girl students have the direct supervision of the department, one of the old members of the girls as house mother. This dormitory was the first to be set up in connection with college residence work and has been a great success.

Although the purpose of the department is to train teachers, it trains its graduates to do the kind of work needed by the country. Many graduates have been successful in laboratory and hospital work, and many in business and dress-making work, and designing and dress-work study.

A trip to Lebanon Springs Sunday and '21, and Gladys Lodge, '22, motored to Schenectady by Miss Ann Templey, of State College, to be the models for the occasion. The students and children did their parts excellently, and made the window demonstration a success.

The event at W. M. Whitney & Co. was the culmination of an inaugurate study of clothing design, under the direction of Miss Grace F. Gillett, head of the business economics department, and Miss Anna Randolph Kelm, instructor. At first, a visit was made to the Albany Orphan Asylum, thru the cooperation of Mr. Breeze, thru the cooperation of Mr. Breeze, thru the cooperation of Mr. Breeze, thru the cooperation of Mr. Breeze, thru the cooperation of Mr. Breeze, thru the cooperation of Mr. Breeze, thru the cooperation of Mr. Breeze, thru the cooperation of Mr. Breeze, thru the cooperation of Mr. Breeze.

At every stop, the busy mother and homemaker was assisted, and in the construction short cuts, without loss of wearing satisfaction, were used. The garments are to be given to the Albany Orphan Asylum.

Such a plan is used to advantage by colleges and merchants in large cities, that the operation of the merchant, the students specializing in the clothing subjects in home economics may have a realization of the real problems of the homemaker. In their specialization, the home is made to clothing design and construction an interesting and easier part of the home duties. To get in touch with the points involved, it is necessary for the student to know and work for real children, consider the practical and type of garment. The senior students at State College for Teachers have been given this opportunity thru the assistance of Mr. Whitney and Mr. Breeze.

The value of the use of educational principles satisfactorily demonstrated to the public on Saturday.

COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT

To the young man or woman looking forward to teaching as their life work, the commercial department offers a course of study which is most helpful, as actual office conditions and problems are met and solved. In the office environment, the student is given the opportunity to choose wisely the tools of the trade and to become familiar with them.

The courses given in this department include The History of Ancient and Medieval Art and Art Appreciation. These are open to all students and form a valuable supplement to any course. Classes are given in design and representation, and the use of pencil, charcoal and watercolor. These classes have been of the greatest benefit to the college, for, with the exception of the first year, these courses have been taught to all students and to all students.

STATE SCORES IN OPENING GAME

TRIUMPHS OVER ST. STEPHEN'S

State opened the baseball season yesterday by scoring an 8-7 win over St. Stephen's. 'Jack' Johnson pitched effective ball in spite of the moist weather, and allowed only ten scattered hits, while State nicked Caldwell and Wolfort for eleven safe ones. Six times the St. Stephen's batters whiffed, when Jack cut loose some real stuff, and eight times the valiant sluggers for State retired on three.

The game started between show­ers with State in the field. St. Stephen squared one man across the home plate in that first inning. After that both sides drew blanks until the last of the fourth, when McClure singled to right, went to second on a passed ball, and crossed the plate for State's first tally on Dobris' hit. Dobris fol­lowed over with the second and after a long struggle State let two more die on base. St. Stephen's came back with one on, on a passed ball, and State came back after some more. Ted Cassavant reached first safely, and batted on third when Misses smashed the ball for two. McCreer came up with home­shoes in his pocket, went to strike at one, spilled, threw the last at it, and when the mighty was over stood on the second rock while Cassie and Misses counted one each. State kept after the pill until three more had tallied, then they gave way to St. Stephen's. Nothing beats the Am­rican lads got next to Jack and the score read 7-4 when State came in and scored her last one. In the seventh St. Stephen's worked three men across, while State was bluffed. In the eighth neither side scored, but in their half of the ninth, St. Stephen's flew the danger signal with a man on second and third and only one out. Jack set­down and struck out big boy. The next one popped up in front of the plate and McClure made an impossible throw and State came back after some more. The ball dropped, but Johnson dove for it, made an impossible throw and caught St. Stephen's asleep at third, and it was all over.

BASEBALL FANS—

ATTENTION!

State won her first game Saturday, but the game's playing was considerably dampened, not so much by the intermittent showers as by the realization that the visiting team had more loyal fans with them than turned out to see State. We grant that the weather was insufficiently uncertain to justify grave doubts as to the probability of the game being played, yet it would seem that it was too more difficult or laborious for the fans to get into town than it was for the players to get into town and brave the weather. So what must the visiting team have thought of the spirit at State College? To the handful of loyal fans who were at the game we are grateful, for they saved us the ignominy of having to announce that State College was playing. Even so, the question is still stinging in our ears. Where are your banners, your yells, your crazy mob of fans, that are evidence indubitable of a real spirit of loyalty to college and the team?

Don't let the heading, "baseball fans," keep you from reading the above editorial. We think it's a good one for all of us, especially for us girls. Do you think it's a bit unfair or unjust that the boys should ask us for our support? "Of course not," you'll say, and that's just the point— you'll say and never get beyond the saying.

Why is it that girls are such enormously bad "talkers" and such incomparably small "doers"? We stand around in attractive package groups and "collegiately" express our desire for State College to grow in size and magnificence, and then, just to show that we know all about "colleges and things," we throw in little aphorisms about the Dels and the Delford and the Delphic Union (although we generally choose one farther away—it's safer) and the other colleges, as far as we can remember their names. Sometimes we vaguely wonder why we grow so slowly, but we usually give it up. It's quite an unanswerable question.

In the meantime, do you realize what our men are doing? Usually rushing to Beverwyck Park or the Albany High gym, practicing hard for two or three hours, not eating until eight o'clock, and spending a considerable amount of time on cramping and exercises so that they can retain the privilege of defending State College. Unromantic, perhaps, but good hard work, and deserving of our loyal support. Did it ever occur to you, oh, foolish virgin, that forty-two men do more to make this a real college than five hundred girls?

Athletics are having a struggle at State College. Shall we let them starve to death from lack of support—or lend them a hand and a voice? The boys aren't ashamed that they're playing for a bunch of girl rooters, so long as these girls are sincere and loyal. Our aim at all times is the same—the glory of State College. Girls, show yourselves to be good sports, and be manly!
