The quality of WSUA newscasts must not be overestimated if we judge by the number of complaints we are facing at our station. Most professional stations have only part-time announcers, and news operations, even on professional stations, are also located at the twelve-year-old minds of their listeners.

WSUA offers a world news service to a collegiate audience that simply cannot be found anywhere else in Albany. News is offered up-to-the-minute, in an uncut form, and in an experienced manner.

We have often been critical (for good reason) of WRGB and 1260 AM, but the Albany Student Press has been more critical of the Albany Student Press itself.
By Way of the Wire

With all the pleasant and proud jokes, stories are being generated among the staff members of The Collegian, College Park, Ohio. In fact, the paper speaks for itself when the writer comments that "a young man's fancy turns to women," and the talk of scores of others is pure fancy.

A young man is a young man, and the story of his life is often a story of women and women only. The writer of the story speaks for himself when he says: "I'll tell you the story of my life as a young man and about the women who have been in it, if you like."

'Two Ways to Sail the Raft of the Medusa'

By Paul M. Johnson

Increasingly, I think, the moviegoer is finding his way around the fog of the movie world by means of "Raft of the Medusa," the latest film from the director of "The Exorcist," William Friedkin.

"Raft of the Medusa," released by M-G-M, is a film about the true story of a shipwreck that occurred in the Mediterranean Sea in 1816. The story is based on the book "The Medusa," written by Gerald O. Davis.

The film tells the story of a group of French sailors who are cast adrift on a raft and must survive on their own.

The film was directed by William Friedkin, who also directed "The Exorcist." The film was shot on location in the Mediterranean Sea.

The film was produced by William Friedkin and Michael de Luca.

New Paltz Faces Albany Nine In Final Homestand of 1964 Season

Tomorrow afternoon the Peds open a three game homestand as they play host to New Paltz. After the three games at home the Peds take the road for two games at Holy Cross to finish the 1964 season. In Saturday’s game, right-handed play works will be on the mound. Ray is still seeking his first win of the season. His record now stands at 0-1, with both losses coming at the hands of St. Rose. In last week’s game, Ray allowed only one earned run in the 7-4 loss.

Week ending the St. Rose nine allowed six unearned runs to cross the plate against St. Rose. Frequent errors, four of them in the seventh inning proved to be the undoing of the team.

This weekend has been the mecca for baseball fans this season and will be available if we are able to come.

While New Paltz has been consistent with its hitting, it has been a bit off with its hitting. The team has played over 100 runs in both games this week. In Saturday’s game, New Paltz held a 1-0 lead through the end of seven innings but the Peds were able to come back and win 5-1.
