Military Economy

Bob Cohen

The Reagan administration has an economic program that is a study in the Macabre. It is not an economic program, but a program that the government is on the verge of imposing. According to the administration, the program is an economic program that will bring about social change. The administration is on the verge of imposing an economic program that will bring about social change.

The government is on the verge of imposing an economic program that will bring about social change. The program is an economic program that will bring about social change.

Secondly, military spending is highly inflationary. As Martin Anderson, a member of the Economic Review, wrote in the New York Times, "The problem is complex. There are many factors that contribute to inflation. One of the main factors is military spending. Military spending is highly inflationary."

John Irvin On Films And Filmmaking

Yes, we saw it in Saratoga. We're using mostly interiors here and exteriors there. I wanted a more intimate environment, but our budget didn't allow it.

We've been working on The Dogs of War for some time now. It's a Southern Tier New York story, and this mythical environment requires a lot of patience. We've been working on it for quite some time, and it's been a labor of love.

It's cheaper to build what you need where you need it, because if you build it and then move it, you'll have to pay for transportation. Also, you can't just get the same kind of labor in every location. The people in New York are very particular about their work, and they want it done right.

I'm going to be asked after I get out of here — the term "special effects" has been tossed around a lot. I'm much more interested in the actual process of making a film, rather than the flashy, computer-generated stuff. Capital Rep’s Hostage Captivating

O’Hare, “host of the political world,” has an eye for the dramatic. His new play, The Hostage, is a political thriller that will have audiences on the edge of their seats. Set in a period of Irish history where the streets are lined with soldiers and the air is thick with tension, this play is a refreshing take on the genre. The story revolves around a young Irishman who is taken hostage by a group of British soldiers. The play explores themes of love, loss, and sacrifice, and is sure to leave audiences breathless.

Kathy Kissane

1990. The year of the hostage. In fact, they had a hostage on every corner of the building. The audience was left wondering what was going on, and the play was a huge hit. The play was a success and is still performed to this day. The play is a must-see for anyone interested in political thrillers.

The last issue of The Gauntlet offered a question that read: "What is the last official act that the Board of Trustees has taken?" Unfortunately, the answer was not provided. I would like to know the answer to this question. Thank you.

Kangaroo Court

I have been going to the Union for my classes and have noticed that the board members have been acting like a kangaroo court. They have been treating me unfairly and I feel like I am being discriminated against. Can anything be done about this?

Not a Majority

I am a student at SUNY and I have noticed that the Board of Trustees has been acting in a secretive manner. They have been making decisions without involving the students, and it seems like they are not listening to our concerns. Can anything be done to change this?

Editorial

One of the most important attributes of the SUNY system in the past has been its low cost, high-quality education. The SUNY Board of Trustees has lost sight of this fact. In calling for a tuition hike, they are neglecting their responsibilities to the students. As students of SUNY, we are unwilling to fight for SUNY.

If they won't act, we must find the solutions to these problems ourselves.

Through the combined efforts of SUA and SAH, we now have a chance to state our views to our elected officials in the legislature.

On Monday, it will be our turn to lobby in a strong and unified way.

We must all join together to call our legislators that we cannot afford a tuition increase.

It is the obligation of the state to provide students access to a quality education. We must convince our elected officials that there are reasonable alternative ones that would not have less detrimental effect on the future of the state and our nation as a whole.

If the necessary money cannot be found, the alternative would be tragic.

With the decrease in government grants and loans, many students may find it difficult to cope with the present cost of education. With an added tuition increase, it could become impossible to deal with.

We cannot allow public higher education to be used as a news headline. It is a necessity and the legislature must realize its responsibility to provide it.

So, we must all demand on the Capitol and on our voices to be heard. We must get our numbers to make them aware of our needs.

Without tangible student support, our pleas will not be heard. And the instances of SUNY's tuition increases will become a luxury only the rich can afford.

Albany Comeback Nips Cortland In Overtime

Senior Playing In Final Home Game
Notch 20th Win Of The Year, 66-64

By Larry Bagley

The Danes pulled ahead of the Bulldogs in the second half and held on for a 66-64 win over Cortland in the last regular season game at the University at Albany Saturday night.

The Danes led 29-24 at halftime, but the Bulldogs came back to lead 32-31 with 13 minutes left in the game.

Clint Dickelman scored 12 points for the Danes, and all of them were in the second half, including the last six points that sealed the game for Albany.

Dickelman missed three consecutive free throws with 1:15 left on the clock, but he was able to make a short jump shot with 1:04 left, tying the game at 61.

Two seconds later, the Danes won the tipoff, and Dickelman scored the go-ahead points.

Dickelman said he was happy to win the game, but he was disappointed in his shooting.

"I shot six free throws and made only one," Dickelman said. "But I was able to get the rebound and put the ball in the basket.

"I was able to get the game-winning shot, and I was happy to be able to do that," Dickelman said. "I was able to get the rebound and put the ball in the basket.
