At the meeting Wednesday one of the main problems faced will be that of the student association. In the past, the student association has been somewhat disorganized and has not had the support of the students. It is hoped that this year the student association will be more organized and will have the support of the students.

The State College was composed of the Forensic Squad to encounter in the fall. The squad has been divided into three sections: the debate team, the debate delegation, and the debate council. The debate team will compete in the fall, while the debate delegation will attend conferences and the debate council will work on the organization of the debate team.

Placement Office Urges Action
On Folder Checkup, Interviews

The Statesman

Now that the Placement office added over 6,000 new names to its file, the college is now sending out folders to all students who are not yet placed. This service is possible because many students who are not yet placed have been found by the Placement office, but have not yet been placed due to lack of information. Students who are not yet placed should send in their folders to the Placement office as soon as possible.

Placement office director, Mr. Thompson, explained that the Placement office is currently working on a survey to determine the employment status of alumni. He also mentioned that the Placement office is currently working with several companies to place students in jobs.

The Placement office is located in the Administration building on the first floor.

BEAUTY AND THE BEAST
Referee W. T. Deaver, Arkansas University, has organized a new form of boxing rules for the推行pursuing the game from a balance and scoring rings and giving instructions to boxers through a public address system.

With the growing of the college's number of student-athletes, boxing is being recognized more and more as a legitimate sport. The Arkansas University boxing team has been training under the guidance of Deaver, who has been a well-known boxing official for many years.

The new form of boxing rules is designed to provide a fair and safe competition for boxers and to eliminate the possibility of accidents. The rules are based on the principles of the ancient Olympic games, where the emphasis was on skill and strategy rather than brute force.

The Arkansas University boxing team is currently preparing for its first official match, which will be held at the university's new fieldhouse. The team is expected to attract a large crowd of spectators, who will be treated to a thrilling and exciting match of boxing.

In addition to the boxing team, the Arkansas University sports program includes teams for football, basketball, baseball, and gymnastics. The university is proud of its strong athletic tradition and is committed to providing its students with the best possible sports facilities and opportunities.

Trehanon Urges Student Body
To Observe Library Regulations

By David Smith
" durante the past few years, State students have been urged not only to observe the rules of the library but to avoid unnecessary noise and to be considerate of other students who are trying to study. The student body has responded in a variety of ways, but the librarians have continued to have a list of complaints. The chief complaint is that the average student rushing in and out of the library, the librarians have heard, becomes so noisy of late, that many students have had to flee the distractions to complete assignments.

The student library committee, the library staff and the library administration have all worked to eliminate unnecessary noise in the library. A sign has been posted in the window of the library indicating that "quiet please." A book taken from the library with the words, "Trehanon made the following regulations," has been posted on the bulletin board. The sign contains the following rules:

1. No talking in the library.
2. No eating in the library.
3. No smoking in the library.
4. No loud music in the library.
5. No running in the library.

These rules have been enforced in an effort to create a more conducive environment for study.

Rayne F. Trehanon, librarian, has also urged the student body to be considerate of other students who are trying to study.
