Danes destroy Marist College 48-0

By Steve Sepe

The 14-0 Marist College Red Foxes ended their game against the Midstate College Red Foxes with a 9-0 shutout and a winning streak. The Danes went into this game knowing the importance of a victory, especially against a conference opponent. "I'm very happy," said forward John Dunham, "I'm glad we got the win."

Dunham scored five touchdowns in Saturday's game, helping the Danes to establishing a 23-0 halftime lead. Dunham's touchdowns came in the first and second periods, increasing the score to 23-0. Dunham's performance was complemented by a strong defense, which held the Red Foxes to just 14 points in the second half.

Junior quarterback John Dunham scored three touchdowns in Saturday's game as well. Dunham was instrumental in the Danes' 48-point victory, passing for 280 yards and two touchdowns. Dunham's performance was key as the Danes' offense was able to outscore Marist College's defense.

The Danes' defense was also strong, allowing only 23 points in the first half. They forced three turnovers, which contributed to their victory. The defense was led by senior linebacker Tim McCall, who had two sacks and an interception.

The Danes' 48-0 victory over Marist College was their second straight win, and they now stand at 5-0 on the season. They will look to continue their winning streak when they face the University of Connecticut next week.
Poll criticizes Reagan

New York

(AP) A majority of Americans think the outcome of the primaries was a sign for President Reagan of a huge economic problem, according to an Associated Press-NBC News poll.

The poll, which asked the nation's leaders what they expected of their presidential candidates, showed that 52 percent of those who voted for a Democratic candidate said the primary was a sign for President Reagan of a huge economic problem.

Nearly 6 out of 10 people polled said that Reagan's tax cuts lack votes, and if New York matches the national estimates, 1 in 5, or 200,000 New Yorkers tried to join the smokcout, according to Peg Camp of the American Society for Smoke Control.

In announcing the settlement, the NFL said games would be sponsored by Pepsi and Miller Lite.

Goda quits

"I don't think she was hostile," Wexler said. "She was trying to be critical, constructive. She gave a lengthy presentation at the last board meeting. She believed a whole bunch of things should be changed."

"This points to a problem all organizations have. There's too much responsibility-it's not all fun. Things happen," Wexler added.

Goda, a psychology major enrolled in Onconia but not taking classes, is considering attending Albany or returning to Onconia next semester. At Onconia, she said she may run for student government next year.

On The Radio
Editor's Aspect

It's been a strange week. It all started out on Wednesday, November 14, 1982.

I bought the New York Times, and was surprised to see the word "courage" under the place I had left it, and came across the "Blink Review." Scanning the list, I came across a review of "The Eyes of My Father." The novel is about a young boy who is blinded in an accident, and how he copes with his blindness. It was a powerful story, and one that I'm glad I read.

Students supporting the station are mostly giving them a vehicle to learn about radio. Rock are interested in Rock and Roll and for that most part dictate what we play. Consequently, what 91FM attempts to do is not so much to define rock-n-roll as to say whether radio caused the theory of rock-n-roll. It is for that reason that 91FM can't expect to go head to head with commercial radio stations. Instead, the station attempts to find a large group of people who play Rock all day, all the time. So I'm leaflin' through this book tryin' to think of what kind of food to make when suddenly I hear this stupid-clap-stamp beat and then this wimpy gaggle of cheerleaders squealin' "Oh Mickey, your so fine..."

I glance at the clock which tells me that it's four-thirty. I take this as my cue. I go runnin' out of the house, grab the Tonl Basil album, and slap on the new Tont Basil album. Sauerbraten sounds great. So I go runnin' home and start throwin' junk away, ya know. So I go runnin' around chanting "my little red book" over and over again. I'm nervous as hell and this Red hunk comes on. It sounds like this mass of sound and then it's over. I'm trapped! Suddenly, they all begin to yell at me. Suddenly, my apartment is another... Q104... Reduced to its most basic elements, the human experience is a series of interactions with the world around us. From the smallest movements of our hands to the largest actions of our lives, we are constantly shaping and being shaped by our environment. The things we do, the things we say, and even the way we think all have the potential to affect others. As a teacher, I believe it is important to create an environment in which students feel safe and supported. I believe in the power of creativity and imagination, and I strive to help my students tap into their own unique talents and abilities. Whether through writing, painting, dancing, or any other form of expression, I encourage my students to explore their own worlds and to translate their experiences into art. I believe that through this process, they can learn to see the world from a new perspective and to develop a deeper understanding of themselves and others. Ultimately, I believe that art has the power to bring people together and to create a sense of community. As a teacher, I am committed to helping my students discover their own voices and to use them to make a positive impact on the world around them.
A very slow death.

Acid precipitation also causes aluminum to be released from the surrounding soil. Gradually clogging up the fish’s gills, the fish die. Trout ponds in the Adirondacks no longer support life. The pH reaches 4.5. Currently rain in the Adirondack region is naturally acidic. With the acid particles now in our atmosphere as snow, sleet, hail, and hovers around cities like California.

Acid precipitation begins as sulfur dioxide (SO₂) and various nitrogen oxides (NOₓ); emissions from smoke stacks and exhaust pipes. Combustion over 50, and smoke and acid rain travel with the clouds. Eventually all animal and plant life is destroyed in the area.

Acid precipitation also affects the forests. The acid affects the trees twigs, buds, and flowers. This has severe adverse effects on the logging industry, the wood and paper industry, and our homes and automobiles.

John Dieckelman shows nice guys do finish first

By Marc Schwartz

It's a spot in a watermelon smoothie near towns shaded dink. They had made a nice meal together, and the girl was happy. She asked him if it was okay if she could have another glass. "Sure, " he said. She thanked him. "That was so thoughtful of you, " she said. He smiled. "It's nothing, " he said. The girl left happily.

"I think we've got a very good unit. They look sharp together. If we keep everyone healthy, it should be interesting," — Dick Sauers Around this time one year ago, Sauers was forced to install a backcourt that was drastically different. The Danes were ready to play. Now, one year later, the Danes are a more well-rounded team. The freshmen who were so inexperienced last year have developed into experienced players.

John Dieckelman, a proven star on and off the court, hopes to lead the Danes to a big season.

Sexual politics

To the Editor:

In your article, "Men and women: Sexual politics," I was disappointed to see the simplistic and stereotypical views presented. The article fails to recognize the complexity and nuance of the issue. As an advocate for gender equality, I believe it is essential to address the intersection of gender and sexuality in a more comprehensive manner.

Yours sincerely,

Desexualizing rape

To the Editor:

I was inspired by your recent article on desexualizing rape. As a survivor myself, I wholeheartedly agree with the message that rape is not a matter of who is more 'at fault.' The focus should be on healing and providing support for victims, regardless of gender.

Keep up the good work.

Sporty feminism

To the Editor:

I found your article on sporty feminism particularly interesting. As a feminist sports fan, I appreciate the recognition of the intersection between gender and sports. The article highlights the importance of promoting diversity and inclusion in sports, which I strongly support.

Thank you for shedding light on this crucial issue.

Desexualizing rape

To the Editor:

I was glad to see the recent article on desexualizing rape. As a survivor, I agree that it's crucial to shift the focus from blame to support for victims. By normalizing sexual assault, we are contributing to further victimization.

Keep up the great work.

Editor's Aspect

I've been a strange week. It started out on Monday, November 14, 1982.

I thought the New York Times, and two men of space and earth under the cover to read, and come across the Beck Review. Scanning the list to acquaint myself with what was being read more than anything else in this fine nation, I came across with profound ideas as Garfield The Cake, Here Comes Garfield, Garfield Bigger Than Life, Garfield Weighs In, and Garfield At Large. I see books on cats on the New York Times Bestseller list. I don't understand; I mean, what is the odd going on? Is someone writing an article? All the more as Aspects have decided to write cats books also. After all, if Jim Davis can do it, we can do it better. Our titles are going to be here at Aspects.

Once again, I attempt to read Camp David, Md., at a cost to the taxpayers of $3,110, White House Records show. Seems old Nance was sometimes accompanied by her successor Ted Graf, of L.A. Seems that Nancy and her pal don't have too much time these days to take the 90 minutes by car back to New York, so she's had to sit in a car for a few hours when it only costs a cab ride, and the whole dollar doesn't go anywhere, and why should she?

Now it will be my way, I'd have come to Albany some charging meeting in early February, and made a little excursion up to the real estate house of North African Street at 9:55 AM. The temperature would be 10 degrees below not including the wind chill.

Then you be working for months, I always see him working the paper. We were talking about what we each do, and when I tell him about forty hours a week on Aspects, he asked me: "What's Aspects?"

Word On A Wing

I was working with my dear friend Dan to give him an interview to review. Though it might not be obvious, he is doing much better. The treatment is helping immensely. Cards and flowers are appreciated, however. Wednesday was the day to be out and be one's self. This week's events don't really seem to fit under my list of orange encounters, but I still can't figure out why he kept off the conscious mind.

Wednesday Afternoon, November 17, 1982:

I was feeling like everyone was picking on me because of typewritten error. Aspects and word processing to my Ed. Edie Carroll.

So you wanna be a rock and roll star Well, I'm sorry, but I don't think that's a good idea. You never make up your mind. Nobody put on their perspective like Edie.

I have to say that there is a lot of noise and confusion. I'm not sure if it's coming from the outside or the inside. The noise is coming from the outside, and the confusion is coming from the inside. I feel that if men gave up their roles of power and control, and instead allowed energy to assert itself. You go on projecting, and you are never going to know the answer to the question.

A.G. Carter

The question begins with the words: "What's it all about, Alaska?" The question is being asked over and over again. But the question is not being answered. The question is not being asked. It is being asked in a way that is not being answered. It is being asked in a way that is not being answered.

I have to say that I think it's all about the question of whether or not men can be successful. I have to say that I think it's all about the question of whether or not men can be successful. I have to say that I think it's all about the question of whether or not men can be successful.

During college, people are especially interested in the radio. They listen to music, but they also look up to it for entertainment and company. The radio is a very important medium in our lives, and it plays a big role in how we define ourselves as listeners. While there are many different types of radio stations, they all serve similar purposes. From community radio to commercial radio, they all provide a form of entertainment and information that helps us connect with others.

I am a student at RPI, and I am very involved in the radio station, WCDB. I have been a member for almost two years, and I have seen the station grow from a small group of friends to a larger community. WCDB is a student-run radio station that broadcasts in the频域 of 88.7 MHz. It is a great opportunity to work with other students and to share my love of music and radio with others.

Harvey Kojan

I am the station manager of the student-run radio station, WCDB. I have been involved with the station for about a year, and I have seen it grow and change. WCDB is a very unique station, and it provides a great opportunity for students to learn about radio and to share their love of music with others. I am proud to be a part of this amazing community.

So I'm leavin’ through this book tryin’ to think of what kind of food to make when suddenly I hear this stupid-clap-stamp beat and then this unhygienic gaggle of cheerleaders squealing “Oh Mickey, your so fine...”

The Falashas are faced with potential annihilation. Barbara Gaffin, a lawyer and author who has been working to help the Falashas, described their situation during a speech at SUNY Albany. The Falashas, who are black Jews struggling in Ethiopia, have been left with fewer and more difficult decisions. Gaffin explained that starting in the 15th century, the Falashas have been persecuted and have long for immigration to Israel. She noted that large massacres of the Falashas have taken place, and she emphasized the importance of educating and motivating people to action. Gaffin observed that the Falashas are now in an especially difficult position, and she explained that the Falashas have come under attack from Christian and Muslim forces, and have been forbidden to own land. She emphasized the importance of supporting the Falashas and helping them to find a way to emigrate to Israel. The Falashas, she continued, accept everything the Jewish faith, and she emphasized the importance of supporting the Falashas and helping them to find a way to emigrate to Israel.
