A LOOK AT FOOD SERVICE

Guess who's coming to dinner?

By Gary Cutl

Student supporters of Thaddeus's CUNY SUNY student assembly sent a message across the country on Thursday so that all CUNY students be on the lookout for the delivery of meals by a student director of food service at the Capitol. This director or assistant director will attempt to bring food to the campus in an attempt to cut down on the number of expenses for the Capitol in an attempt to cut down on the number of expenses for the Capitol.

As of 3 years ago, all University food service is a matter of concern to students and it is no different in this instance. The meal factor is an approximate 45% of the cost of living in the State of New York. One clause of the contract for the purpose of allowing students to eat in the campus dining facilities restricts the amount of surplus (income) which may accrete if the surplus exceeds this amount, it will be taken out of student benefits and the surplus will be completely used for student benefits and scholarship higher fees.

For the past two years, the campus dining facilities have been closed down, students have been off campus, and most of the students who have been at the campus have been off campus, most of the students have been off campus because of the money that is being spent on the campus. That money is not, however, unpredictable. It is completely unpredictable and it is completely unpredictable because of the money that is being spent on the campus. Because the money that is being spent on the campus is completely unpredictable, it is completely unpredictable because of the money that is being spent on the campus.

When we are talking about the campus, the campus is closed down, students are not on campus, and most of the students who have been at the campus have been off campus, most of the students have been off campus because of the money that is being spent on the campus. Basketball Wrap-Up

Coach of the Year honor for women's basketball was given to Sue Farley, a senior from Westport, Conn. coach for 11 years. Although this is her last season as coach, there is no doubt that she will continue to be an active member of the University community.

The team finished the season with a record of 11-19, and the coach was commended for her dedication and hard work.

March Monday

We are not sure of the result on this Monday, March 24, when the new Campus Alcohol Policy has been approved by the faculty Senate. If the policy stands, we will have a new alcohol policy. The procedures are not clear at this point. Our position is very clear: We support the new policy and will work to see that it is enforced. We also support the right of students to protest and seek a reversal of the policy.

Pass-fail supported by students, Collier interprets poll results

By Dick Collier

The results of a poll conducted by the Committee for Academic Reform to determine the support for a Pass-Fail system are being interpreted by Dick Collier, chairman of the Committee.

The poll was conducted in February among 1,200 students, and the results indicate a strong majority in favor of the Pass-Fail system.

Collier interprets the poll results as indicating that the majority of students support the Pass-Fail system.

Faculty Senate will go on beating the heart out of this institution. This statement is so preposterous that it is ridiculous to even consider it as a serious expression of dissent.

Both Collier and the Committee for Academic Reform are committed to improving the quality of education at this institution. They are working to ensure that the Pass-Fail system is implemented in a way that will benefit all students.

Cordially,

Dick Collier
Chairman, Committee for Academic Reform
