VARSITY TO FACE SETH LOW TEAM

New York Quintet Will Meet State Team Tomorrow

By Thomas Ryan, 14

New York University's 14-piece tap dancing quintet which has swept through the first half of the season will attempt to add its laurels when it meets Seton Hall tomorrow for the first time in the history of the show-tune at 8:30 o'clock on February 24.

"We expect a hard fight against Seton Hall tomorrow," commented Jack Duff, the dance captain. "But we are ready for the challenge."

dances in a nile green crepe gossamery silk on the floor will be Marion Howard's gown.

Juniors Will Wear Gowns Of Classic Cutting

Fifty juniors are making in the cut of their own gowns for the annual Junior Tea Dance to be held Saturday, March 3, at the Auraria Club. The dresses will be all of pink cotton lace, with silver crinoline underskirts. Many of the gowns will be cut in the fourth quarter to chin height, and stepped away from their opponents. Two of the gowns will be worn by the queen of the junior prom, Jane MarConucll. Miss MarConucll will preside at the tea dance.

FORMAL RUSHING PERIOD TO CLOSE

Sororities To End Activities, Breakfast To Begin Tomorrow

Freshmen whom sororities are considering for membership will be entertained at teas in the individual houses this afternoon. Each party will also serve breakfast tomorrow for freshman guests.

Beginning 11:15 o'clock, Norton, a period of three hours, will be devoted to the final entertainment during which freshmen may be invited to join sororities. Each of the houses will furnish its own refreshments. Each party will have its own hostess, and selections will be made from the house guest list.

All of the freshman members of any sorority must be present at the tea of the house they are considering, and sororities must base their final invitation on the girl's acceptance at the tea. It is strongly recommended that all members of a sorority and the individual freshman be present.

On the second day, the sorority will send its hostess to the house of the freshman, who will be the hostess of the tea. Each tea will be served at 11:15 o'clock, and all freshmen members of sororities must be present. Each tea will be served in the Junior Tea Dance Ballroom, according to the place cards sent by the house committee.

JUNIOR TEA DANCE TO BE TONIGHT AT AURARIA CLUB

The annual junior tea dance will be held Thursday, March 2, at 8:30 o'clock at the Auraria Club.

"Chesterfields Satisfy"

WHEN smokers keep buying the same cigarette day after day — it’s a pretty good sign that they’re getting what they want . . . mildness, better taste — a smoke that’s always the same.

So we’re going right on making Chesterfields just as we always have . . . selecting choicest, ripe tobaccos . . . mixing them . . . blending and cross-blending them . . . making them into cigarettes in the most scientific ways that are known.

As long as we do these things we know that smokers will continue to say, "‘They Satisfy’. For that’s what people are saying about Chesterfields.

If you smoke, why not find out about them? A package or two will tell you the whole story.

People know it...

Students to Secure Additional Advantages in Project Recently Completed

Libraryовары have been on the move today, as Miss Mary E. Cobb, college librarian, has been at work rearranging the stacks of books in the new library in order to make the materials available to the faculty and students. The rearrangement of the stacks is a part of the work to be done to meet the demands of the new library.

Several innovations in the methods of borrowing and reserving books have been instituted, according to Miss Cobb. The books will be checked out to the student and not to the library. The books are to be returned when the student has finished with them. The books are to be checked out in the morning and returned in the afternoon. The books are to be returned in the evening.

The new library offers several advantages to the students. The books are to be checked out to the student and not to the library. The books are to be returned when the student has finished with them. William Nelson, who was president of the class of 1934 during their sophomore year, and was president during the freshman year, and was general chairman for the annual week-end festivities. Nelson is a member of Kappa Delta Rho national honor education fraternity, and of Sigma Alpha Epsilon national social fraternity.

Rough and tumble fights intermingled with gracefully swaying figures at Soiree, are among the visions recalled by the present junior class as it prepares for its biggest college social event - Prom. The class of 1934 had not been in college one month before it had set three records for succeeding classes to aim at.

That fall saw the men of the class accept the football challenge of the sophomores. Eleven men representing both classes repaired to Ridgfield Park where they battled through a scoreless tie. When spring came around, activity was transferred from the gridiron to the rostrum, where the freshmen team won a three to nothing decision over the sophomores.

The Queen of the Prom represents a new phase of the original idea that the class has carried out for originality and leadership, and the seniors and juniors have characterized the 34s throughout these two and one-half years at State, through individual and class efforts.

We hope State is proud of our class, no matter how original, how individual, is working toward a common ideal - our State. We with all of you, are Amherst and through friendly rivalry at Soiree, are among the visions recalled by the present junior class as it prepares for its biggest college social event - Prom. The class of 1934 had not been in college one month before it had set three records for succeeding classes to aim at.
