COMING TO THE MAMMOTH CARNIVAL

"Modern Verse" by Miss Putterer

In case the entertainments in connection with Miss Putterer's readings have been monotonous because of their sameness, we are glad to have something entirely different this Friday evening. Doesn't it seem more markedly a prelude to you? That's what is awaiting you this week. Early in the season we gave you a little idea of what a big thing the usual carnival is. This was a great event last year and we are looking forward to it. It won't be because of lack of prizes.

There will be booths in the gym where things will be sold and the best part of it all will be the decorations. In short, it will be just as you would expect a real carnival to be. It will take a long time to tell of everything that can be ex­pected. Come anyway and be surprised.

Come on, everyone, old and young, and ask for a "foolish" time. It's the big Hudson River Excursion.

Come To The Mammoth Carnival

"Modern Verse" by Miss Putterer

The comparatively large number who have attended Mr. Candlyn's organ recital at St. Paul's Episcopal church on Wednesday at five o'clock is sufficient proof that they have been a success. The opportu­nity of hearing one so widely known in music circles should not be missed.

One thing that is especially interesting about these recitals is that occasionally he plays selections composed by himself. It is an additional privilege to hear the condit­ion of his own music.

The program which will be given on Wednesday of this week is as follows:

1. Marche Recluse—Saint-Saëns
2. Rhapsody on Breton Melodies—Saint-Saëns
3. Song of the Volga—Tchaikowsky
4. (a) An Indian Leg­end—Candlyn
(b) The Angels—Massenet
5. Poeme from Ponta da Cima—Reale

MORE ENTHUSIASM

The instructors, in Summer School certainly know how to give long assignments and lots of work, but none of them ever seems to stop to consider the short time in which the material has to be concerned. It is to be expected that we have to work quite a lot, but mustn't forget that there is another side to the six weeks that we spend here.

The Community Choruses, the Friday night dances, and the get-togethers afterwards, the organ recitals, the excursions, and and the comedy night, are shining a little more light upon the life of that side, there is a lack of interest and enthusiasm. We need a little more pep and fun to make conditions perfect—they are nearly perfect now. Everybody can't help but enjoy the activity at home and have a good time. There are plenty of humorous shows, someone pleasant memories aside from those of work.

"A little moss now and then is relished by the best of men.

POSTERS

If you are at all observing, you have all noticed the huge posters that are circulating about the campus. Whether for the purpose of decorating our bulletin boards and in helping the publicity committee promote various summer work, or in trying to attract attention to the various activities of which the committee and the college in general are very grateful, the posters have so far been quite satisfactory, but they lack decorative design. We need more interest and enthusiasm. We need a little more pep and fun to make conditions perfect—they are nearly perfect now. Everybody can't help but enjoy the activity at home and have a good time. There are plenty of humorous shows, someone pleasant memories aside from those of work.

RURAL SOCIAL

The new course in Rural Social Problems given by Professor Adam A. Wilson of the Commonwealth Department of State College, is provning to be a decided success. The course includes lectures and open discussions of rural problems. Results of this work are shown in social, economic, religious, and educational viewpoints. Its advantages and disadvantages, as compared with urban life, are carefully considered. From time to time, informal, oral reports, based on personal readings in books and periodicals, are given by the students.
The material presented is based largely upon fiction and experimental work as far as possible, an effort being made to avoid the empty theory which has characterized much of the maim-ner in which one problem now exists between the urban and rural dweller. This course is of interest and value not only to those who are brought up in the city, but to those who are working in rural life. It is hoped that such groups have been acquainted with only one type of community.

WE WANT YOUR IMPRESSIONS

At the Summer Session is almost two-thirds over, we believe that everyone has been furnished by this time with some impression of life at State College in the summer. Nothing would delight us more than to hear what you think of it. Now is the next week than to have a box of commentary pour into the office which is near the mail box. Your honest impression and criticism will be of great interest to every other member of the Summer Student Body.

OPPORTUNITIES FOR BACHELOR'S DEGREE

The large number of normal school graduates enrolled this year in the "New York State Normal School is ordinarily able to earn the College degree in two of two and one-half years. Normal school graduates who look forward to becoming high school teachers are expected to qualify for a major and minor in the usual way and must satisfy the announced requirets for the major and minor.

In addition to the normal school graduates who expect to become supervisors, principals and superintendents, there are degree without a major and minor.

One who elects to do this fol-

MISS CARRIE R. HARMON

Miss Harmon, who received her training at Pratt Institute is a teacher in the high school in Lockport and also supervise drawing in the local schools of that city.

Her work at the summer session consisted in instructing classes in Industrial Art. The first class instruction was on elementary book binding. "A-B-C" Booklets, wall paper and ceramic-covered portfolios, and Japanese booklets were made. These contain drawings and pictures, supplemented by written material which explains phases of industry such as food, shelter, and transportation. Study of dolls and toys is also made and the classes are very interesting and helpful to the teachers who are enrolled in their own class instruction.

MISS RUTH TOTMAN

Miss Totman who is instructing in Physical Education this summer is a graduate of Sargent School in the class of 1920. She holds a State Instructor in Girls' work up to the point. Mr. Holcomb's course was on "Physical Education for Girls." He Can Love and Mr. Cancllyn assisted him at the physique class.

Dean Horner then continued the barrage with a series of articles, in which he continually reminded himself that he was not dreaming for but that the large gathering of men before him were really students at State College.

The feature event of the evening was a display, performance of men before him were really students at State College.

MISS RUTH A. FOLGER

Miss Ruth A. Folger, Instructor in Art at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, is a graduate of the state normal course in Syracuse University and has taken summer work at New York University under Dr. J. P. Hume, in the history of art and at the Chicago Academy of Art.

Miss Folger was supervisor of drawing in New York State schools and instructor of art at the State Normal School at Potsdam, N. Y. She has held various teaching positions in the State Education Department and has taught at the State Normal schools in Oneonta, N. Y. and at Plymouth, N. H.

The office practice class under the direction of Mr. Terrill visited the National Cash Register Company on Wednesday.

Mr. Paul S. Lomax, specialist in technical education, State Education Department, will deliver a series of lectures on education in Continuation School Organization. The hour has not yet been arranged, but announcement will be made later in classes and on the bulletin board.

NOTES FROM THE BOOK STORE

The sale of second-hand books starts today. Come in and see the bargains—twenty odd books at fifty cents each.

Ask for a sample of interleaving paper. If you are in the habit of note-taking in your books, you will need a small package which costs ten cents.

The following is a list of books, of which one copy each is on hand at the book store.

O'Toole's "Practical English."
Hawthor, "U. S. in Our Own Time."
Thayer, "Theodore Roosevelt."
Lansing, "Peace Negotiations."
Foster, "Food Producing."
Farmer, "Cook Book."
Hamlet, Julius Caesar, Merchant of Venice.
Baggett, "Our War with Germany."

SISTER CLASSES

While we are busy studying and having time during the summer season, there are throughout the state and possibly in other states a host of young people who are planning to be freshmen at State College in the fall.

In a few weeks they will be receiving letters from members of the senior class welcoming them and offering assistance in any possible way. This is the first evidence of the kindness and helpfulness of a junior sister.

On the opening days of the first semester, 23 will greet its sister class and assist in finding lodgings and places in and near the new dormitories. Numerous invitations will come in which the freshman and her junior sister can always answer, and she is sure of knowing at least one at the beginning of social affairs. Although active guardianship ceases after the freshman-senior party, the sisterly feeling remains; and when the juniors have become seniors and are about to be graduated, it is the sister class that regrets it most of all.

EDUCATION BUILDING

The groups of people interested in visiting places of local and more wide fame will tour the Education Building on Saturday.

The tours are directed by Miss Helen Fay, and offer an excellent opportunity to everyone to go sight-seeing in Albany. Join the others at 2:30 near Minerva.

Louise F. — "Why don't you wear gloves at night? Then your hands would be as soft as mine."

Baldwin—"Do you wear a hat, too?"

S.S.—"Oh, isn't Professor Risky going to lecture on the rainbow? Let's coax him to go—he'll talk anyway!"

Miss Dorothy Wemple, '21, visited us on Monday. Miss Wemple expects to specialize in Dietetics in the coming year in cooperation with the department stores and institutions caring for orphaned children. All interested in vocational education will be glad to know of this service to the community through college courses in Home Economics.

Our freshmen are keeping in touch with us by writing letters about their summer work and recreation.

We have heard from many of the freshmen. Our answer includes interesting extracts from each letter, and the promise of a letter from Miss Keim giving some of her Paris impressions.

THE TEACHER'S "IP"

If you can take your dreams into the classrooms.

And always make them part of each day's work.

If you can face the countless petty problems

Nor turn from them nor ever try to shirk—

If you can live so that the child you work with Deep in his heart knows you to be a man—

If you can take "I can't" from out his language

Put in place a vigorous "I can—"

If you can take love with you to the classroom.

And yet on Firmness never shut the door—

If you can teach a child the love of Nature

So that he helps himself to all her store—

If you can teach him Life is what we make it,

That he can be his own master—

If you can tell him something of the heavens,

Or something of the wonder of a star—

If you, with simple bits of truth and honor,

His better self occasionally reach—

And yet not overdo nor have him dumb—

As one is inclined to ever preach—

If you impart to him a bit of liking

Yet have him understand that to love—

The days—

If you can teach a child the love of Nature

So that he helps himself to all her store—

If you impart to him a bit of liking

Yet have him understand that to love—

This will be the first and last chance you have to meet this year.

Summer Session courses in Vocational Homemaking are offered in the State Normal School, Buffalo, with a registration of eighty-seven.

We are pleased to know of this excellent registration of teachers who feel the importance of keeping up-to-date in Homemaking Education.

The "Vocational Summary," a monthly publication by the Federal Board for Vocational Education, will include an account of the Community Clothing Projects carried on through the department this last year in cooperation with department stores and institutions caring for orphaned children.
