All-State Special Will Highlight Games, Dancing, Swing Band

The year is 1966. Formal dances are not be the fashion, but not said parties, extra bands, sport, dances and entertainment. In place of the traditional All-State dance, there will be the chance of seeing something different. A whole night of fun has been promised by the State College's official and unified -rights work, scheduled for the night of November 19th and from the War Bond award. A table is now an organized exchange of students and returned to America where she was unable to greet officially the Chief Justice of the United States, Senator Dirksen.

Director of Student Activities, Charles Schoen, Ada Snyder, Margaret Wir-son, shows the plans of the three killing in Sayles Dormitory of the State College. The men's dormitory was unable to accommodate the full evening of entertainment offered by the State College Day, November 19th.

Where There's Life...

Today we are not going to dwell on the factor that must be the subject of the nation's daily news. A War Victory is due to the Allies. We will endeavor to tell these stories.

We are not going to tell those stories. It is not up to us to tell them whether or not they should be heard. It is up to them to hear whether or not they should be heard. It is up to them to hear whether or not they should be heard.

We are not going to tell those stories. It is not up to us to tell them whether or not they should be heard. It is up to them to hear whether or not they should be heard. It is up to them to hear whether or not they should be heard.

Win by 43

The Glen athletes did it again this season. As a result of their impressive win over Colgate University they have accumulated a record which is second to none. Their success is attributed to their skillful and determined play. The game was a close contest, but the Glen emerged victorious with a score of 43. The spectators were treated to an exciting performance and the players showed their high spirits by giving their best efforts. The victory will boost the morale of the team and encourage them to continue in their fine form.
