Poems Must Be Really Bad For Mcllwaine's Collection
by Andrew Talus

Dr. Alphonse Mcllwaine, professor of Romance Languages, writes in the Student that there is a collection at the Department of Romance Languages against the collection of modern poetry by the late Professor George W. Brubacher in the Department of English. The collection of poetry by the late Professor George W. Brubacher in the Department of English is to be sold at a later date.

"To get to my collection, mostly French, I must go to a third floor room in the back of the Building of Social Sciences. With these words, Dr. Mcllwaine describes the collection of poetry.

The collection consists of over 500 volumes of French and English poetry, including many rare and valuable books. The collection is housed in the third floor room of the Building of Social Sciences, where it is available for study.

In addition to the collection of poetry, Dr. Mcllwaine has also collected a number of rare and valuable manuscripts and prints. These are also available for study in the third floor room of the Building of Social Sciences.

The collection of poetry by the late Professor George W. Brubacher in the Department of English is to be sold at a later date, and the proceeds will be used to support the collection of modern poetry by the late Professor George W. Brubacher in the Department of English.

Smith Will Discuss Textbook Teaching

"I expected to enjoy State College," says Dr. Mcllwaine, "but I was surprised to find that the classes were so much more interesting than I had anticipated. The students were so engaged and interested in the material that I found myself looking forward to each class with great anticipation.

"I was also pleased to find that the classes were not as formal as I had expected. The students were encouraged to ask questions and participate in class discussions.

"The classes were also very well organized, and the professors were very knowledgeable and approachable. I found it very easy to get to know the professors and to ask them for help when I needed it.

"Overall, I was very pleased with my experience at State College, and I would highly recommend it to anyone who is considering attending a university in the United States."
Music Council is doing an excellent job providing entertainment at basketball games, political rallies, and the like. This is no different.

The Great Tradition — An Appraisal

State College is nearing the end of a 99-year-old tradition. For 99 years, the College has been associated with the Greek system and the band has been a part of that tradition. The band, under the direction of Professor Charles D. Cady, has become so much a part of the college life that it is difficult to imagine the college without it.

Perhaps the most memorable event of the year is Homecoming Week, which always brings out the best in the band. The band's music is played throughout the week, and the students look forward to hearing it. The band also performs at the Homecoming football game, which is always a highlight of the year.

Music Council provides entertainment at basketball games, political rallies, and the like. This is no different. The music for the band can be purchased, and the music is always well received. The band is a part of the college tradition, and the students look forward to hearing it.

They Shall Have Music

Music Council is doing an excellent job providing entertainment at basketball games, political rallies, and the like. This is no different.
Red Cross KnitMore HeadquartersUpper Chambers SignToday for '41 TermRegistration for upper class division of academic department will be required today. Classes will be arranged and sisters can register for classes starting on January 31, and the classes which begin January 14 will remain the same as last year.

ENNIE in MeetSenior distribution committee, editor of the Bulletin, explained the order that there would be a morning of the distribution service meeting for the upper class division of the academic department. All upper class women who register are required to sign up and be present for the morning meeting.

Sororities GainEighty PledgesSeveral sororities have increased their membership recently, including Phi Mu, Kappa Delta, Gamma Phi Beta, and Alpha Chi Omega. The increase in membership is attributed to the sorority's emphasis on academic excellence and community service.

Dr. Watt Stewart—Devil, Officer, ProfessorProf. Watt Stewart attends to his duties as the Devil, Officer, and Professor at the same time. He is known for his energetic and enthusiastic teaching style, and for his love of the arts. Stewart has recently received a promotion to the rank of Professor, and is now responsible for overseeing the academic department of the college.

Imperative Musts!Musts for the college include:1. Any person who has not paid admission must do so immediately.2. Any person who has not paid fees must do so immediately.3. Any person who has not paid for their room and board must do so immediately.

Dean Will AssistCampus CommissionDean of the college, Mr. John Smith, has been appointed to the campus commission. The commission is responsible for overseeing the campus activities and ensuring the safety of the students.

Save Money When You Return After ChristmasTravel More at HomeSave money by taking advantage of the "College Special" round trip reduced fares. These special rates are available for students traveling home for Christmas.

STATE COLLEGE NEWSALBANY, NEW YORK, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 19, 1946

VOL. XVI, NO. 13

25th Year