Spotlight on Kennedy examines the writer, his city, his institute

By Leslie Chat

Spotlight on Kennedy examines the writer, his city, his institute. The writer is known for his novel "Ironweed," which has been analyzed by many scholars and critics. The city, Albany, has a rich literary history, with several famous authors hailing from the region. The institute, SUNYA, is known for its contributions to education and research. The article discusses the connection between Kennedy and his work, the city of Albany, and the institute. It also highlights the importance of literature and education in the community.
Forum urges media to include more Hispanics

By Albert Capas

The Hispanic population in this country is both underrepresented and underemphasized in the mass media, according to a Hispanic Heritage Week workshop held in Albany.

“Latinos in broadcasting must reach out to Latinos in the community,” said Traverso. The media is “a business like any other business,” explained Traverso.

A Thin Line Between Geniuses And Maniacs

I'm very happy here, but Albany is not home for me. It is death. It's a place where I cut free and spinning about, spinning towards the abyss, loving every minute of it. I think every one should find a death they're happy with and then actively pursue it. It's such an important thing in one's life, so I wonder, why leave it to chance?

Challenging ROTC, finally

ROTC is being challenged on this campus, and Student Association is proving its worth by meeting the challenge.

Last week, Central Council passed a resolution banning ROTC from using the SUNYA ROTC center. As a result, the program is now located off-campus at SUNY Polytechnic Institute.

The resolution was passed by a vote of 7 to 2, with 1 abstention. The resolution states that "the SUNYA/ROTC program is not consistent with the policies and procedures of SUNYA and its educational mission." The resolution also states that "the SUNYA/ROTC program is not consistent with the policies and procedures of SUNYA and its educational mission."

It is very rare to come across a man like Jeff Blatnick in this day and age of high priced athletes. He is truly a man with total dedication for the sport that he now loves the world champion in Blatnick took time out of his extremely busy schedule to do an interview with me last week, every time when I was doing any questions was whether I had enough information. Another thing that struck me about Blatnick was that he really remembers all of the people who helped him get where he is today. For instance, he is very grateful at A&P East for allowing him to use their facilities to train in the gym that he held a press conference on the back steps of the University Gym building. I hope that you find my first crack at a sports supplement enjoyable, but while you read it in mind that there are many unimportant details which would not be enough to be a sport supplement. First of all there is the Associated Sportsperson. Dean Chang who is one of the more competent people that you will ever come across. When things are going wrong, you always know that Dean will be our first line of defense. Second there is Patty Mitchell who helped me in every facet of the production process. I must also thank Marc Schwarz and Mark Levine. Schwarz, who virtually invented the sports supplement, came up and got me out of a few jams with his know how. And last but not least I would not be here without Mark Levine who got me my start at the ASP and came through with one of his brilliant columns once again. He may be a little bit eccentric (if you read his column you'll see what I mean) but he means well.

Once again I hope you enjoy Sports September and look forward to October when Albany State's brand new Hall of Fame will be featured.
It has been a long, tiring road for Jeffrey Blatnick

By Keith Marder

Winning a gold medal can do a lot for a person. It can make you one of the most sought-after people in the world, an instant household name instantly become famous.

The story of Jeffrey Blatnick is one that is truly inspirational. After a long and tiring road, Jeffrey Blatnick has become a household name.

For Jeffrey, the road to success began with his parents and his girlfriend. Some of his other excursions included trips to Universal Studios and Universal Studios. It was a long and tiring road, but a necessary one if you win a gold medal.

The evening was drawing to a close, there was a sense of fulfillment much as Spike did. Jeffrey Blatnick, who was awarded a gold medal at the Olympics, felt a sense of fulfillment much as Spike did.

Winning a gold medal can do a lot for a person. It can make you one of the most sought-after people in the world, an instant household name instantly become famous.

By choosing not to leave, Blatnick was also able to enjoy the moments he had to do yet another interview. This time it was for the Good Morning America show. Because of the evening activity, he went on the show without any sleep.

Winning a gold medal can do a lot for a person. It can make you one of the most sought-after people in the world, an instant household name instantly become famous.

When ATWA was incepted I was there with my boyfriends. It was on August 10 when he was approached for the first time.

As a way of showing his gratitude, he had to do yet another interview. This time it was for the Good Morning America show. Because of the evening activity, he went on the show without any sleep.

Blatnick: No, I've gotten no movie offers. When you've been given your moment, you go with it. Now Blatnick is just trying to get his finances together after another honor.

There was no more wrestling. He's a businessman now and the ring, seemingly never-ending away.

The evening was drawing to a close, there was a sense of fulfillment much as Spike did. Jeffrey Blatnick, who was awarded a gold medal, felt a sense of fulfillment much as Spike did.

Blatnick: You're the boyentee. So it's funny that I choose not to leave. It's just like a cold, said Blatnick. "If you have the knowledge of me has changed. I've been the best for the last few years. I haven't changed a bit."

"You go through that time when you get out of training again. I really miss it," said Blatnick.

One of his other excursions included trips to Universal Studios and Universal Studios. It was a long and tiring road, but a necessary one if you win a gold medal.

"I just want to congratulate you. Things are pretty good for you out there," said Blatnick. The two went on talking about old times and the future of Jeff Blatnick.

"There have been times when I've gone to the bar with somebody and not spoken to them for two hours," said Blatnick.

Student Health Insurance covers alcoholism, emergencies in plan

by Kristine Sauer

The coverage students need for health insurance is a concern on this campus. Alcoholism can get up to 48% of students per per week, and treatment of such problems is essential. A federal initiative is to increase the awareness of alcoholism and treatment of such problems.3

The coverage provided by New York State Health Insurance is up to 70% of students per per week, and treatment of such problems is essential. A federal initiative is to increase the awareness of alcoholism and treatment of such problems.3

The extent of the problem on SUNY's campus is significant. It is estimated that 40% of students have used alcohol in the last month, and 25% have used other substances. A recent survey found that 50% of students have tried marijuana, and 20% have tried cocaine. The extent of the problem on SUNY's campus is significant. Chicago Cubs clinch first pennant in 39 years

"The season’s做 the best in the National League. The numbers are there: 102-57, 26 games over .500, and a 13-game cushion over the second-place Mets. It’s a winning combination. Why settle for less?"

GREAT DANE TRANSCRIPT

Last Saturday the Albany State men's cross country team opened up against Middlebury at the Middlebury Invitational. When the Danes won the 25-kilometer event, they posted their first meet since the Danes won the 2002 NCAA championships.

Senior Ed McOill, who finished the 5.05 mile course in second place at 28:09, led the Danes to victory. He was followed closely by Danes second and third men. McOill's time was four seconds behind the Danes' first two runners, who were in turn followed by Williams' second and third men.

The offense played extremely well with freshman Jeff Russell piloting the team quite competently. The running backs played a big part in that, as well as the passing game.

ATTENTION WEEKLY LEADER BOARD

When a player such as Presbie only has a 60 percent completion rate, it's easy to see why the offense is struggling. However, when he has a 75 percent completion rate, it's almost impossible to stop him. The team has to adjust their defense to prevent Presbie from completing passes.

Women's Tennis

The Danes were cruising along until they met a team of higher caliber. The Danes soundly defeated the Binghamton Schenectady 6-2, to put Albany in a hole they would not be able to come out of.

The singles were won by Nancy Fortin, 6-1, 6-1; Linda Morin, 6-1, 6-2; and Bart Meister, 6-1, 6-1. The Danes won two doubles matches, and two with an exhibition match.

The Danes are looking forward to playing their next match against a stronger opponent. However, it's not indicative of their season to date.

The next issue of the Lady Dukes will be on Friday, October 5.

Chris Eppolito pursues the University of New Haven's quarterback Paul Kelly in a game played earlier this season.

"I couldn't have picked a better offense," said Ford. "The odds are half when the outcome was still in doubt. We got 17 penalties, 10 in the first half. The Eagles committed turnovers; every time Brockport seemed to make a scoring drive, there was some question as to whether or not Mitchell could stop Brockport. Even if we scored a field goal, it was not Mitchell's fault. "I thought they were going to pass, so I rolled out to the right, the lit signal came on, and I was about to jump up and snarl, but then the quarterback pounded the ball." On second and 20 from the 60, Rushell again shuffled his feet by stepping up to the pocket and hitting the big man over the middle for a 34-yard touchdown. "I want to thank my fullback's block," said Russell. "When the linemen block, I can most assuredly understand my role and I looked for the blocking. Mitchell, a move running back, made some nice yards. He more than tripled that, running five times for a total of 21 yards. He did it. It got the job done.""}

Netmen finish seventh in Great Dane Classic

The University of Redlands, a pre-tournament favorite, took first place in the annual Great Dane Classic but lost, while Albany placed seventh.

"We had a much stronger tournament this year," said Rialdo (Luis), "and we have many more players now. Last year, we had only 13 players, this year we have 18." The tournament, which has been won by Redlands four times, was played under the direction of Coach Bob Wall. The University of Redlands won the tournament last year and is the only team in the field to have won the title since 1976, when it was won by the University of California at Berkeley.

Blackout caused by faulty safety device

A power failure at Stonybrook on Monday night caused a blackout at the school's football stadium.

The power failure occurred during the fourth quarter of the game between Stonybrook and New Hampshire. The game was stopped for about 15 minutes while the stadium was dark.

"We had a problem with the power supply," said a Stonybrook athletic official. "We had to shut down the whole stadium to find the problem." The game was eventually finished, but only after the stadium was dark for about 30 minutes.

"We're sorry for any inconvenience this caused," said the official. "We're working to prevent this from happening again."
