Lose Yesterday To Tough Hartwick
After Rallying To Tie Cortland, 2-2

by Mike Davis

Saturdays' first half was a much-needed break for the Bobcats, who were limited to 134 yards of offense and three points. But the second half saw the Bobcats take control of the game, scoring 17 points in the final two periods to claim the win.

A crucial moment in the game came in the third quarter when Bobcat quarterback Mike Duffla scored on a 1-yard run to tie the game at 17-17. The Bobcats then capitalized on a fumble by the Blue Devils on the subsequent kickoff, recovering it at the 20-yard line and driving down to the 1-yard line before Duffla scored on a 2-yard run.

VATICAN CITY (AP) — A tired Pope Paul VI returned home Wednesday after his historic six-day tour of the United States, which corresponded an immense rule and a great responsibility because of his "great country in which certainly I have lived and grown up," he declared.

Paul VI, like most American children, was born in a "great country in which certainly I have lived and grown up," he declared. But "College Bowl," he said, "won't be the only one to incorporate the tradition of the entire people of the United States." The pope called the United States a "great country in which certainly I have lived and grown up," he declared. And he said he would provide an "early Christmas" gift to his "great country in which certainly I have lived and grown up," he declared.

Truth - in - Testing: The Negative Viewpoint

To the Editor:

In your article in the Student Advocate about the writing and scoring of these standardized tests, I think you misrepresent the testing service in question. Testing Service (ETS) does not design the tests, but only administers them. When people think of standardized tests, they often think of the College Board, the SAT, and the ACT. These are actually services of ETS.

The issues of test scores and their consequences are important, but the solutions you propose are not enough. ETS and other testing agencies should be held accountable for the impact of their tests on students and society. They should ensure that the tests are fair and accurate and that they do not reinforce systemic inequalities.

Sincerely,

Eric D. Salzinger

Another Pro-Nuker

To the Editor:

I am a pro-nuclear power supporter who believes that nuclear power is an essential part of our energy future. I understand your concerns about the dangers of nuclear power, but I believe that the benefits outweigh the risks.

The energy crisis is a serious problem, and we need to find ways to reduce our dependence on foreign oil. Nuclear power is one way to do this, and I believe that the benefits of nuclear power outweigh the risks.

Sincerely,

Jack Lester

The Rut's Rebut

To the Editor:

I was disappointed to hear about the proposed fee for the SUNYA Student Association (SA). As a student, I believe that the SA should be focused on serving the needs of students, not generating revenue. The fee is a small price to pay for the services provided by the SA.

Booters “See The Light” With 2-0 Victory

By Marc Haggard

The Booters’ smile at the end of the victory over Siena was the result of a match that the Booters approached with a new confidence. The Fall (opposed from Albany and a goal scored by Siena Saturday) was a victory that the Booters deserved, and in their victory, they took a step closer to the NCAA Tournament.

The Booters (1-3-0) played with a hardworking intensity in the second half that was lacking in the first half. Siena scored the only goal of the match in the first half on a penalty kick, but the Booters responded in the second half with a 2-0 victory to move closer to the NCAA Tournament.

The Booters will now focus on their game against Siena on Saturday, which will be their last game of the year. A win will secure a spot in the NCAA Tournament, and a loss will likely end their season.

J.V. Booters And Siena Battle To Scoreless Tie

By Marc Haggard

The Booters and Siena battled to a scoreless tie in their weekend match, but the Booters were happy with the result. The Booters controlled the ball for much of the match, but Siena was able to hang onto the scoreless tie.

The Booters will now focus on their game against Siena on Saturday, which will be their last game of the year. A win will secure a spot in the NCAA Tournament, and a loss will likely end their season.

Harriers Win

The Harriers were victorious in their weekend match, and the win was a testament to their hard work and dedication. The Harriers were able to control the ball for much of the match, and their efforts were rewarded with a hard-fought victory.

The Harriers will now focus on their game against Siena on Saturday, which will be their last game of the year. A win will secure a spot in the NCAA Tournament, and a loss will likely end their season.
