Summer Session To Begin July 6
Social Studies Program Follows New Trends

This summer's session will begin July 6, and will provide a unique social studies program which reflects the new trends in college teaching.

The Social Science Department has devised a new program for social studies, which will be presented in a series of, five seminars: "Social

These seminars will be taught by prominent professors, who will be in residence during the summer session. The seminars will cover a wide range of topics, including the latest developments in social psychology, the most current issues in sociology, and the most pressing problems facing society today.

The Social Science Department is excited about this new program and believes it will be a beneficial experience for all students who participate.
I'd Rather be Wrong — by Robert Faller

Traditionally, lovers of reading know that the best time to fall in love is in the fall. The air is crisp, the leaves are turning, and the world seems to slow down. It's a time of year that inspires us to curl up with a good book and escape into a world of imagination.

But what is ultimately more important, we must light to make for ourselves and our efforts of the reformers will have been in

The Statesman Letters

To the Editor:

The Statesman is a major newspaper for the people of the United States. We are writing to express our concerns regarding recent events. We strongly believe that the current administration is doing a disservice to the American people.

We have made an effort to address these issues in previous letters, but it seems that our voices are not being heard. We urge you to consider our concerns and work towards a better future for all Americans.

Thank you for your time.

Blockout Events Strange but True

Dear AUNUZ, What a strange sight it was as we circled around the. We caught a glimpse of the dormitory's various group houses. It wasn't "bombs bursting in air" but rather flying glass; it wasn't even the owners settled down for the usual curling up in corners . . . pulling out packs of cards for the night's entertainment.

It wasn't "dinner at the table" but rather digging into a hearty plate of bread and butter every night. It wasn't "music in the dormitory" but rather having to listen to a steady stream of noise all night long. It wasn't "reading in the library" but rather having to read in the middle of choosing its next year's officers. The following morning will be filled with testing manuscript will be awarded a $25 prize. Stories are to be brought undergraduate who submits the winning manuscript will be awarded a $25 prize. Stories are to be brought in by Monday, May 8, at 7:30 A.M. before the annual Baccalaureate Service will be held June 1 at the Grotto of our Lady of Lourdes at Vincentian Institute.

Wedding Bells, Diamonds Shining Is Here

The honoree of special honors was Mary Ann Smith, Miss of the Year 1948. Miss Smith was the snob of the year, and her presence was the envy of all the other girls in the dormitory. She was dressed in a white dress with diamonds shining in the sun. The entire dormitory was in attendance, and the decorations were done by the girls. The ceremony was held in the main hall, and the music was performed by the dormitory orchestra.

Fraternities Plan Weekend Events

All of the inns and restaurants in the area were filled to the brim with the fraternity members. They were having a great time chatting with each other. The Fraternity members were planning a weekend event next month, and the entire dormitory was invited to attend. The event will be held in the main hall, and the music will be performed by the dormitory orchestra.

Juniors Plan 5-Star Banquet

With club guests Mark and Jan, the juniors were planning a 5-star banquet for the next month. The event will be held in the main hall, and the music will be performed by the dormitory orchestra.

Semanek Releases New Placements

Miss Mona Semanek, assistant director of the dormitory, released new placements for the students. The placements were for the next month, and the students were happy with their new work.
