COMMUNICATIONS

Community Referral Needs Volunteers

To the Editor:

As the SUNYA Community Community Referral Center, we are a non-profit organization working in the inner city of Albany, N.Y., for 20 years. We serve as a resource for community members, offering a wide range of services and support. We have been able to do this thanks to the generous support of our volunteers and donors. We believe that every person deserves access to quality health care, and our mission is to help ensure that happens for everyone in our community.

We are currently seeking volunteers to help us in our efforts. We need people who are willing to spend some time each week assisting us with various tasks, such as answering calls, providing information, and facilitating appointments. If you are interested, please contact us at 518-987-5555 or email us at sunyareferral@gmail.com.

Sincerely,

To Our Readers

In the latest issue of the Albany Student Press, AMIA was featured in an article about their new program, AMIA: The Nuclear Family Finds Wonderland. AMIA is an organization that promotes education and awareness about nuclear issues, and their program helps individuals learn about the dangers of nuclear weapons and how to protect themselves from their effects.

While AMIA's work is important, it is also crucial for individuals to take personal responsibility for their safety. This means learning about the dangers of nuclear weapons and knowing what steps to take in case of a nuclear attack. AMIA's program is a great way to get started in this process, and we encourage everyone to participate.

Sincerely,

Marat: Interesting & Well-Done

Mr. Edward Hayes

From October 21-25 the State University Theatre will present the world premiere production of "Marat/Sade" directed by Dr. Jurka M. Weiss. A joint venture of the State University and the New York Shakespeare Festival, the production is scheduled for Saturday evenings at 8:00 and Sunday at 4:00. Ticket information is available at the box office.

The play deals heavily in the question of "why revolution?" and the role of the individual in that process. The play is set in a mental institution, the Charenton Asylum, and involves the characters of Marat and De Sade, who, as director, is in complete control of the asylum. The play also explores the themes of power, control, and the role of the individual in the establishment of a new order.

The production itself was extremely well done. Dr. Weiss did a strong job in producing the desired effect of comic relief in the audience. The flogging scene was as realistically played as the pawing one. The audience was more interested in the former, however. This is especially true when the former portrayal is computed with the handling of the characterizing of the asylum's director, who is there to avenge his wife, who is there to avenge his wife, and calling Argento the "smiley" killer.

Admission for IFG films is 25 cents. The Co-

Hanani “Brilliant Cello Talent”

by Andy Folsom

In the music world, Hanani, the most recent addition to our illustrious concert roster, has been2 quite a hit.2 Considered by many to be a true musical prodigy, Hanani’s performance at the recent MRCA recital was nothing short of astounding.

The audience was on their feet, cheering and applauding for a soloist who at just 19 years of age, has already achieved such remarkable success.

Hanani’s ability to captivate his audience is unmatched, and it’s clear to see why he’s quickly becoming a household name. His mastery of the cello is truly remarkable, and his passion for the instrument is evident in every note he plays.

Hanani’s upcoming performance at the Grand Guignol nail-biting theater will undoubtedly leave audiences breathless, and it’s safe to say that Hanani truly is a Brilliant Cello Talent.

"Truckers Favorites"

by Greg Shaw
Alternate Records Service

Commander Cody may be on his way to stardom-in-demand of college and concert crowd, worshipped in Europe and bound abroad the minute that his name passes the ear to have any of his small town, home town, folks notice it.

If it is, of course, there wouldn't be the secretiveness, the haughtiness that seems to mark the cadre of the Laurel Canyon classroom. But there is the threat that things start to get a little glamorous and kind of washed-out and you don't do the same thing. Commander Cody is the band that wouldn't be much left. Commander Cody may be on his way to stardom-in-demand of college and concert crowd, worshipped in Europe and bound abroad the minute that his name passes the ear to have any of his small town, home town, folks notice it.

There are three more bands who are making waves on this album, ranging from the strange "Mother India" to the more country "The Real Truckers Favorite." They're all on this album, and a lot of people don't really have a clue to it.

Adams By The Wheel (recently signed to Atlantic USA) is a new band, where all listeners to Cody's footsteps and seem destined to revolutionize country music, but Cody is still on the other side of town.

The Real Truckers Favorite is usually called by a trailer with a howdah and a fiddle, and the name comes from the Real Truckers' favorite. There's a lot more of this kind of music than the rest of country music, and it's truly a reflection of Cody's country favorites.

Buffalo Festival Productions will bring their third year of concerts to the Palace Theatre on November 3rd. Opening the first of the two advertised concerts will be Leo O’Kelly and Jimmy Connolly, followed by Buffalo’s own John Nig. To fill the gap between these two acts, Buffalo’s own Tony Rome will play a show that will be a "virtual" concert with a live audience.

Procol Harum to Play the Palace on Thursday

At Mr. Gay Broker and Keith Reid of Procol Harum, the band will play the Palace Theatre on Thursday, November 2. The band was formed in 1967 by John Mayall and the blues rock group John Mayall and the Bluesbreakers. The group's first hit was "A Whiter Shade of Pale," which was released in 1971. The band's second album, "Conquistador," released in 1972, included the hit single "Crying." The band's sound has been described as a unique blend of rock, folk, and classical music.

Scott's Autumn Charm

Tuesday, October 31

The University Symphony will perform in a free concert at the University at Albany on Tuesday, October 31. The concert will feature Scott's Autumn Charm, composed for orchestra in 1925. The piece is a brief, suite-like work that highlights the autumnal colors and moods of the season. Scott's Autumn Charm has been performed by orchestras around the world and is considered a classic piece of 20th-century music.

Student Symphony Orchestra and the Single from That Album

The Student Symphony Orchestra will perform on Thursday, November 2, at 8 p.m. The concert will feature a variety of works, including a classical piece and a selection from a popular album. The Student Symphony Orchestra is a well-respected group and always offers a high-quality performance.

Sebastian Shines in Concert at the Palace

by the Editor

The John Sebastian concert at the Palace Theatre Monday night was a winner, but it started out on a small note. The audience, though sizable, was not enthusiastic. After the first few numbers, John Sebastian's voice broke down, and while it was getting louder, he seemed to be losing interest. For a moment, it looked like the audience would be the same old John Sebastian, but then he sang "Nashville Cats" and the feeling changed. The audience loved it, and Sebastian really came through with a thunderous performance. Sebastian finished with a few more songs, and the audience was left wanting more. Sebastian's voice soared to new heights, and the audience was left in awe of his talent.

Mallay Still the Master

by Bill Beir

In all thesembling work that the English speaking public has heard, John Mallay has had his share of hits and misses. However, his latest album, "Mallay's World," has received much praise from critics and fans alike. The album features Mallay's signature style, a blend of folk and classical music. Mallay's singing is strong and emotive, and his guitar playing is intricate and skilled. The album has been well-received, and Mallay is clearly still at the top of his game.

promotion, tenure examined; weaknesses revealed

But President Bennett emphasized that the promotion and tenure process is not a question of "throwing up our hands" and saying that the system is "just the way it is." Rather, he said, the process is "an integral part" of the university and something that is vital to the future of higher education in general. He noted that the system has been evolving over time and that there are many different perspectives on how it should be handled.

The process, he said, is "an ongoing process" that is "always subject to change." He added that the system is "a work in progress" and that it is "an area of concern" that needs to be examined.

"The system is not perfect," he said. "But it is improving and evolving." He noted that the system is "a work in progress" and that it is "an area of concern" that needs to be examined.

The Albany community has been buzzing with excitement ever since the game was announced. Last Wednesday, the 39-20 loss saw the men ahead of the SUNY State, went out of the way to think about the Albany meet should have been very close, but no one could consider the loose pass defensive player. The Danes were not able to peak on this trip, the cold, and nagging in­

The Long Road To Peace...

The deadlock in the North Vietnam talks at the latest round of negotiations in Paris continues to drag on. The latest round of talks ended on April 21 without any breakthrough. The talks were expected to resume in May.

The Watergate Affair - Third in a Series:

"Who's In Charge Here?"

The Watergate Affair is a series of events that eventually led to the resignation of President Richard Nixon. The investigation into the affair revealed a cover-up by the Nixon administration of illegal activities, including the break-in of the Democratic National Committee headquarters at the Watergate office complex in Washington, D.C. The affair also implicated several high-level White House officials, including Chief of Staff John Ehrlichman and Domestic Counsel John Dean.

The Watergate Chronology

- March 21 — The Watergate incident is first reported.
- April 3 — The Watergate incident is confirmed by the FBI.
- April 16 — The White House staff is notified of the break-in.
- May 30 — The Senate Watergate Committee is established.
- June 19 — The House Judiciary Committee is established.
- August 8 — President Nixon resigns.
