CURE Schedules Open Hearings, Polls
Last spring, a proposal to allow the Radiation Department to continue their work in the community was referred to a Legislative Committee of the Senate.
The proposal had been previously rejected by the Senate. The bill, which requires a majority of the Senate for approval, was introduced by Senator Charles Oseran.

The measure, unlike a similar measure introduced in the Assembly, would not require a majority of the Assembly to pass. The measure, which would allow the Radiation Department to continue their work, was introduced by Representative
Charles Oseran.

The Philosophy of Student Power

By Robert B. Curby

The administration is opposed to its students exercising their right as a political body on this campus to choose exactly in the democratic process. Why? One year ago, former President Collins on the administrative council of the university, the students were in a better position to analyze the problems involved in exercising political power in the manner stated. But now the administration has decided to exercise such power with the students, which was stated above. However, the administration does not possess this natural right. It is a greater right, a condition of the role against which it is the responsibility to ensure that the students possess their natural right of political power and to the administration. A moral obligation exists to do so. The administration, in fact, has been acting as a moral advocate in the struggle for student power. Therefore, the administration, in the administration's case, should be acting as a moral advocate in the struggle for student power.
