The Watergate Affair - Third in a Series:

Who's In Charge Here?

Psychology Department.

This is the story of the struggle and the fight by those who decided to stand up against President Nixon and his administration.

The Watergate Affair.

One of the most controversial events in American history, the Watergate affair, began as a small burglary at the Democratic National Committee headquarters in Washington, D.C. The investigation into the affair led to the resignation of President Nixon and the conviction of several of his aids.

The story began some three years ago, when Watergate was "hit," and the initially small affair quickly expanded.

One of the key figures in the Watergate scandal was John D. Ehrlichman, a White House aide who was later convicted of charges related to the Watergate burglary.

Ehrlichman was a key figure in the Nixon administration, serving as special assistant to the President and later as assistant to the President for domestic affairs.

The Watergate Affair was a pivotal event in American political history, leading to the resignation of President Nixon and the eventual conviction of several of his aids.

The Watergate Chronology

The Long Road To Peace...

The dramatic development on the North Vietnamese side was the decision to leave the capital on a peace pact.

On the other hand, if President Johnson's peace talks with the North Vietnamese are to be meaningful, they must result in a political settlement that is acceptable to all parties.

The peace talks were a turning point in the Vietnam War, leading to the eventual withdrawal of American troops and a negotiated settlement.

Washington

The General Accounting Office reports that President John F. Kennedy's deputies did not give the administration a coordinated strategy on the handling of the Vietnam War.

President

Kennedy's strategies were not well-coordinated and did not reflect a consistent approach to the war.

White House

Kennedy's White House did not have a clear strategy for the war, and its actions were often contradictory and inconsistent.

Department of Defense

The Department of Defense did not have clear strategies for the war, and its actions were often contradictory and inconsistent.

United Nations

The United Nations did not have a clear strategy for the war, and its actions were often contradictory and inconsistent.

"New Development on the Educational Scene"

By Paul Michael Newton

The annual D.A. degree offerings for the 1972-1973 academic year include a new program developed by the College of Education. This program is designed to provide a unique opportunity for students to pursue a new career in the field of education. The program is open to both full-time and part-time students and offers a comprehensive curriculum in educational theory and practice. The program is also designed to be flexible, allowing students to tailor their coursework to their individual needs and goals. For more information, please contact the College of Education at 123-4567.

Ongoing development requirements for the program will be listed on this page. To view these requirements, please visit the D.A. page at the website DAP.org.

Ham Club Functional, Fun

By Nancy Vare

From any Livingston Town's perspective, the American Radio Club talks to the world through a medium that uses radio. "This is the way we can reach out to people around the world," says a member of the club. "We can reach out to people who might not have access to other forms of media, and we can provide them with news and information that they might not have access to otherwise." The club operates on a fully functional, state-of-the-art ham radio station, providing an opportunity for members to develop their skills and to contribute to the community. The club meets regularly to discuss the latest news and developments in the field of radio, and to provide members with the opportunity to practice their skills and to communicate with others around the world.

Opinion:
The Ways Straight Society Oppresses Gays

By The BUNYA Gay Alliance

The theme today is in response to the untimely death of 10 people in a head-on collision on Route 202 in May. The collision happened when the driver of a car failed to yield to the right of way and hit the other car. The victims of the collision were all members of the gay community. Their deaths have been described as the most tragic loss to the gay community in recent history.

In addition to the death toll, many other losses have been suffered as a result of the collision. The gay community has lost many of its most valuable members. The loss is felt not just by the families and friends of the victims, but by the gay community as a whole.

Many members of the gay community have expressed their grief and anger at the loss of these lives. They have called for stronger laws to prevent such accidents from happening again. They have also called for more support for the gay community in the wake of such tragedies.

The gay community is stronger than ever before. We will not be intimidated by such violence. We will continue to fight for our rights and for a world where all of us are respected and valued.

Pohlsander Feels Gascoyne Decision Wrong

To the Editor:

As the President of the American Psychological Association, I believe that the decision of the Gascoyne Court of Appeals to overturn the acquittal of the Gay Liberation Front is a serious mistake. The decision is based on a narrow interpretation of the law and fails to take into account the complexities of the case.

The Gascoyne Court of Appeals has misrepresented the facts of the case and has failed to consider the implications of its decision. The decision could have serious consequences for the rights of all individuals, particularly those who are part of minority groups.

I urge the Gascoyne Court of Appeals to reverse its decision and to base its decision on a thorough understanding of the law and the facts of the case. I believe that a fair and just decision will ensure that the rights of all individuals are respected.

Sincerely,

Nothing Done with '74 Funds

To the Editor:

As a member of the Board of Directors of the American Psychological Association, I am concerned about the way that the association has handled the '74 funds. The association has not provided adequate information about the use of these funds.

I believe that the association should be transparent about the use of these funds and should provide clear information about the goals and objectives of the association.

I urge the association to provide adequate information about the use of the '74 funds and to ensure that the funds are used in a way that is consistent with the goals and objectives of the association.

Sincerely,

Judge Dembitz: Qualified and Running

by Pati Haskins

Justice Dembitz is the first woman candidate for the New York State Court of Appeals, which, as she explained, is a "great New York State tradition." She is running in New York, not Albany, where she resides. In New York, she is a Family Court Judge specializing in appeals, which are usually done by the trial judge and a member of the Court of Appeals. She has served on the New York Civil Liberties Union and the Legal Aid Society. Her writings include a book, "A Family Court Judge," and an article in The New Yorker. She has been asked to run by the Women's Movement. She was appointed to the New York State Court of Appeals in 1972, and she is seeking a second term in 1978.

Among those qualifications are a graduate degree from Columbia University Law School and a law degree from the University of Michigan. She has also served as an attorney for the New York City Human Rights Commission and as a legal assistant for the Women's Rights Project of the American Civil Liberties Union.

In reply to the question — "has the process of student voting been organized so that there would be no appeal for a student vote?" — she replied "I don't know if there would be an appeal for a student vote." She also stated, "My feeling is that the administration would have to decide on the issue." She maintains that the process is working in her favor.

The negative vote on the tenure issue has prejudiced the opinions of some of her fellow faculty members. She feels that she is not as qualified as some other candidates, but that she has been asked to run because of her sex. She says that she has been asked to run to represent women, and she has been asked to run because of her sex.

For more information on Judge Dembitz and her qualifications, see "The Facts" and "The Waterman Case."

Booters Win Battle
For The Cellar

by Nathan Roberts

This past Saturday saw the battle for the other home ground. Albany played a better game, but Potsdam continued to score a goal half time huddle with a suspension.

The Albany defense, which was creditable but not enough to be in contention for the suspension, was downed by its own defense.

In a very few days the American people will select either Richard Nixon or myself to be President for the next four years. Yet many have grown so suspicious of government and its leaders, so fearful of politicians that they believe the choice doesn't make any difference.

They are wrong. It makes a difference to the people of Southeast Asia. For there is the difference between four more years of ruthless bombing, burning villages and terrified children and an immediate end to these scenes of horror.

It makes a difference in our primacy of war—the difference between four more years of agonizing captivity and the freedom that will come only when this war is finally brought to an end.

Unfortunately, it no longer makes any difference to the 20,000 American soldiers who have returned from this madness not in glory, but in death, since Richard Nixon took office as a pledge of peace. But the same search for peace will remain a secret always.

I will end this war immediately. Richard Nixon has not and will not.

It makes a difference to the millions who languish in poverty is the richest nation of the world. It makes a difference to their children who may be condemned to another generation of empty stomachs, wretched health and broken peace will remain a secret always.

I will commit whatever it takes to give every American the chance for a full life. Richard Nixon has not and will not.

It makes a difference to all of us who look to the Supreme Court for protection and justice. Justice Thomas, Justice Powell, Justice Blackmun and Justice Burger will be with us for the rest of my life and for a good number of years.

I will nominate Supreme Court justices worthy of the position. Richard Nixon has not and will not.

We support the California delegation at the Democratic Convention. As a sign of our support, George McGovern has committed his delegation to the Group of Twenty, and I ask our New York City delegation to support the Group of Twenty.

As this campaign comes to a close, I say to the wiretappers and the warmongers: "We have a serious situation."
