ANNUAL BUDGET VOTED

Last Friday Assembly was devoted to the discussion of the student tax for this year. Ernest Rice presented the budget as prepared by the finance board. It provided for a twelve dollar tax which would cover the following items:
1. Athletics, $2,410
2. Hockey, 100
3. Track, 100
4. Football, 25
5. Myskania, 165
6. Bonding of treasury, 100
7. Secretary, 150
8. Bonding of treasury, 120
9. Contingent, 75
10. Dramatics and Art, 750

The first five items were voted upon by the student body. The only change made was that $25 were appropriated for hockey instead of $100. The discussion of the remainder of the budget was postponed until the next week's assembly.

FRESHMEN ADVISORS MEET

The freshmen advisors with Dean Horner as chairman met last Wednesday for the first time. It was a meeting to discover that, out of the entire freshman class, there was only one who had not made the acquaintance of his advisor. From now on there will be meetings about every three weeks throughout the year in order to answer questions raised by the freshmen.

FIRST ANNUAL CAMPUS DAY—OCT. 23

Basket Ball Schedule Arranged

BASKETBALL SCHEDULE IS ANNOUNCED

The basketball schedule for the coming season has been announced. It contains twelve games to date and three more are now pending. Everyone of these games will prove a hard task for the Purple and Gold. This year two games will be played before the Christmas vacation, and at home with St. Stephen's which is a new game on the State schedule the other is to be played with Union at Schenectady. The Alumni will play on Junior week-end as has been the custom for the past two years.

The usual trip to New York is taken and a new trip has been added which takes the team to the northern part of the state to meet St. Lawrence at Canton and Clarkson Tech at Potsdam. Basketball practice will begin directly after the series of inter-class games are played off. This will be about the fifteenth of November. Coach Sweeney is getting a line on important men through these games. Among the men coming particularly good form in these games are Hekin, 21, Sherlock, 21, Linnick, 22, Reilly, 22, Doh- brin, 22, State lost by graduation last June, Springmuller, Libbey and Mason.

EXTRA COURSES STARTED

Professor Hastings and Mr. Hilder have started an extension course in Speechology. Dean Horner also went to Troy to see about starting such a course there. Several special classes of this sort have been started this year by the State College faculty.

FRESHMEN ADVISORS

One of the recent State College institutions which deserves especial praise is the freshman advisor system. This is an arrangement by which the youngest class in the college is divided into small groups, and one member of the faculty is assigned to each group as a special guardian. This adviser acts as a big brother or sister, as the case may be, and carefully considers the welfare of his group and answers any questions or statements of anxiety which may arise in any branch of college activity. The advantages of such an arrangement can readily be seen. The freshman is made to feel more at home. He no longer feels an outcast, and he has someone on whom he can depend in case of any unforeseen trouble.

The best part about the advisor system is that it has worked. It is not one of those beautiful theories that don't amount to any thing. In this year's class there is only one freshman who has not made the acquaintance of his advisor.

ALL OUT FOR THE STATE COLLEGE ORCHESTRA

Who is there at State College or anywhere else for that matter, that does not enjoy good music? Of course there may be some who do not, but on the whole, everybody likes to hear a good orchestra play. State College, too, tries to have that kind of an orchestra, and we all know that it has gone with success last year. This year it is going to meet with greater success, if each one who possibly can will make an effort to help the cause.

If you are not professionals, or very nearly professionals, in playing any musical instrument, don't stay at home, but come to orchestra practice just the same. You can all do your bit to help the orchestra along and incidentally get some music in playing at the same time.

Banjos, mandolins, guitars, and all other instruments of that kind are needed. If you do your bit for the orchestra, you will also be doing your bit for State College and for your Alma Mater.

THE COLLEGE CAFETERIA

From a Student's Point of View

While the college lunch room is maintained as a field for student practice, lunch room planning, cooking, serving, and accounting, in the Home Economics Department, it has also as its purpose the accommodation of the faculty and student body of State College. It is done by service, and the cost of supplies and wages of the regular lunch room force which has been maintained as a field for student accommodation of the faculty and student body, is charged to the Home Economics Department.

This year we have had, as good, if not better material than last year. We know this material will be properly developed. With the advantage of a year's experience, our nine is going to make a record of which we shall be proud. And we are going to hesitate about appropriating the amount of money and the five dollars on these prospects? Instead we should get better material and give them that we are going to back them up with the good old spirit of giving generous doses.

Rather than mortgage a budget of two hundred dollars, we feel it is better to be more like State College to raise it by the money and the six hundred and five dollars on these prospects? Instead we should get better material and give them that we are going to back them up with the good old spirit of giving generous doses.

true country style, cornstarks and pumpkins. The color scheme was gold and green for the Junior colors. Kathryn Ball and Grace Aromatou, as the two chief, furnished the music for dancing which was enjoyed until eleven o'clock.

The chorus in the class was Agnes Underwood and the solo-players were Margaret Smith, Louis Persons, and Margaret Kirland, to whom a great deal of credit is due for the good time.

LADY AND GENTLEMAN
A smartly dressed woman was sitting in an omnibus when a quiet-looking young man, in getting in, accidentally trod on her dress.

She talked to him for ten minutes and wound up by saying: "A gentleman would have apologized."

The young man bowed and mildly said: "A lady would have given me a chance."

Obviously.

"My friends," required the long-faced orator, "what would you do if you expected the end of the world in ten days?"

From the gallery floated a voice: "Wait for it."

Tommy: "Pa, what is an equinox?"

Pa: "Why er—it is—ahem! For goodness' sake, Tommy, don't you know anything about mythology at all? An equinox was a fabled animal, half horse, half cow. Its name was derived from the words 'equus' and 'ex' and 'on.' It does seem as if those public schools don't teach children anything nowadays."

Customer: "What do you mean by selling me that stuff you called hair-restorer, and telling me it would restore my head to its original condition?"

Chemist: "Didn't you like it?"

Customer: "No, I didn't. If I had kept on much longer, I should have been entirely bald. Original condition, indeed!"

Chaplin: "Most people are born bald."

Many stories are told of a former Canadian bishop who had passed his youth in Scotland, but flustered himself out of a little on his brief and manner. One day he met a Scotchman, to whom he said at last, abruptly: "You have had me here."

"About six years," was the reply.

"Frant, mon!" said the bishop sharply. "Why have you lost your accent, like myself?"

Customer: "Why is a man like a postage-stamp?"

A Sticker: "I don't know; why?"

"Because he loses his value when he gets stuck on himself."

Customer: "And couldn't count them?"

A Sticker: "No, sir."

"How many ribs have you, Johnny?" asked the teacher. "I don't know, ma'am," giggled Johnny, squirming around on one foot. "I'm so afraid of stepping I never could count 'em."

Handing 'Em Down
"So your brother has the measles, Johnny. When are you going to have them?"

A Sticker: "When my brother gets through with 'em, I suppose."

"Dorothy," said her father on Sunday afternoon, "shall we have a walk or a car ride?"

"I'll just walk," little Dorothy replied, "if you'll carry me."

"You Wanted the Best "Madam," said the doctor, "I shall have to paint your husband's throat with nitrate of silver."

"Please use nitrate of gold, doctor," excused the patient's wife. "The expense is quite immaterial."
