C.C. Invades Commons

Yesterday the Commons was closed. It might be closed again today. Many students have been complaining because student mail is inaccessible because there was no place to play bridge and no place to relax.

Unfortunately these same students did not think of these things when they decided not to abide the rules of the Commons. Last year students said they wanted the Commons building to be automatically improved, but they could not have it without according the C.C. Commission power to set rules for the use of the privileges and the student facilities.

Because students would not deposit their rubbish in the waste baskets provided, rules were made prohibiting leaving the Commons. Wednesday night a B-3 social contingency was taken from the room. This some students have decided that they would rather make a mess and live in it than have a campus of which they can be proud. Unfortunately one of these philosophies has to go.

Campus Commission asserts that it will abide whatever the students feel about their rights and attitudes. However, if these are wrong, if they do not get the results they want, then the Commons can be improved only if the students decide to act and to abide the rules of the Commons.

Why Are You Rushing?

Now is the time for all good freshmen to start the look for prospective pledges. And, freshmen rush in the time for all wise freshmen to start considering what it means to join a sorority.

There are a lot of reasons why girls join sororities. Unfortunately sometimes these reasons can be very weak. Any girl who wants to join a sorority would be better off helping themselves. If she does, she can then be considered a member of the group.

Rushing is a special time for the freshman to find out what she can do. By doing so, they help themselves and other freshmen.

Remember you will be with these girls for the rest of your college days.

We have always advised several sororities over the years. Remember you will be with these girls for the rest of your college days.

Do visit the sororities often. And good luck in making new friends.

Engineers Propose Possible Camp Dippikill Appearance

In past years the problem of Camp Dippikill has been a concern of President and the subject of much discussion among faculty and students. As an example, in recent years the Lake Shore, the main building for the camp, has been recently renovated and an addition was constructed. The planning for the future of the camp has been ongoing for some time, and recently engineers have proposed a possible appearance for Camp Dippikill.

The engineers have suggested a modern and functional design for the future of Camp Dippikill. They propose the inclusion of various structures such as dormitories, a dining hall, and recreational areas. The design is intended to provide a comfortable and safe environment for students while also being environmentally sustainable.

Camp Includes Activity Space

The proposed Camp Dippikill will include an activity space. The idea behind this is to provide students with a place to gather, socialize, and engage in various activities. This area will be designed to accommodate a variety of events, from small group discussions to larger gatherings. The space will be equipped with proper lighting, seating, and other amenities to ensure the comfort of the students.

SA Forms Dippikill Camp Board

In February, 19th Student Assembly member Barbara Weinstock, V. Lawrence Coleman, W. Steinfeld, T. Bower, B. Long, W. Whittaker were present to discuss plans for the new Camp Dippikill. The board will be responsible for making decisions regarding the finances, facilities, and other aspects of the camp.

Proposed Site Aids Comfort

The proposed site for Camp Dippikill will be located in Warrensburgh, N.Y. The purpose of this new location will be to improve the overall quality of life for the students. The site will be chosen based on factors such as accessibility, infrastructure, and natural beauty. By selecting a site that is suitable for the purposes of conservation and education, the camp will provide an ideal environment for learning and personal growth.

Warrensburg Site Planned For Use of College Students

The Warrensburgh site is currently being considered for the use of college students. The site is located near the main campus and offers various amenities, including dormitories, a dining hall, and recreational areas. The site is being promoted as a way to provide students with a safe and comfortable place to live and study.

Architect Proposes Finances For Completion of Dippikill

The architect for the completion of Camp Dippikill, A. F. Daniels, has proposed a financing plan. The plan includes a mix of grants, loans, and donations to ensure the financial stability of the camp. The architect has also proposed a timeline for the construction of the camp, which will be completed in stages over a period of three years.

The camp will be divided into three main sections: the Lodge, the Dining Hall, and the Dormitories. The Lodge will serve as the central hub of the camp, with a large dining hall and kitchen. The Dormitories will provide living quarters for students, while the Dining Hall will offer a place for socializing and recreation.

The Lodge will be the only dormitory that will be located in the main building. The other dormitories will be located in separate buildings, but will still be connected to the main building via a covered walkway. The design of the camp will be modern and functional, with a focus on sustainability and energy efficiency.

In conclusion, the proposal for Camp Dippikill is a significant step forward in providing a safe and comfortable environment for college students. The proposed site and design, along with the financing plan, will help ensure the success of the camp and its continued use for years to come.
