Is Press Bureau Needed?

There are some organizations at this State College at Albany that are no longer until their intended functions and are generally indicative of neatening and growing demands. Press Bureau is one of them. Now a bulletin board is being mounted on the students' notice board, where all the students can either post an announcement or seek one. This bulletin board is a response to a demand for information, which was traditionally filled by the local newspapers.

The establishment of a bulletin board would not be the only solution to this problem. Another solution might be to have a better way of communication between the students and the faculty. The bulletin board should be placed in a visible location, and the students should be encouraged to use it.

However, Press Bureau has a very important role to play in the circulation of information. It is not only a place for posting announcements, but also a place for students to express their opinions and concerns. This is why it is important to keep it open and accessible.

It is our hope that a revitalization of Press Bureau is possible. It is not a simple task, but with the right leadership, it can be done.

Group Attempts ParkingSolution

Last week, News received information stating that the parking lots were in a state of disarray. This is not a result of one of these situations that are occurring, but rather a result of the problem of parking.

This is not a result of one of these situations that are occurring, but rather a result of the problem of parking. The solution to this problem is complex and requires a lot of work.
