Top SA executives take pay cuts in new budget

By Jon Willett

The Student Association (SA) board of directors has approved a new two-tier system for student employment that will result in pay cuts for some students. The new system will affect all job categories except for the student president.

The reasons for the cutbacks were primarily due to the fact that the SA budget is $2,250 for the year, which was budgeted at $1,675 for the previous year. The cutbacks were necessary to keep the SA budget in line with the university's overall budget.

The cutbacks will affect all job categories except for the student president, who will receive the same pay as before. The cuts will be made to student workers, who will receive $100 less per week. The cuts will also affect student assistants, who will receive $200 less per week.

CONFlict with U.S. Constitution possible in SUNYA student rules

By Gina Asdud

SUNY Albany's student disciplinary rights are in question again as a result of a recent student disciplinary hearing. The case, currently before the SUNY Albany Student Tribunal, centers on the constitutional rights of a student accused of alleged rule violations.

The case involves a SUNY Albany student who has been charged with violation of the Student Guidelines in connection with an incident that occurred on campus. The student has been suspended, and the case is currently being heard by the SUNY Albany Student Tribunal.

The student's lawyer, Mark Murphy, said that the student's rights to an attorney and a fair hearing are being violated. Murphy said that the student has requested representation by counsel, but that request has been denied.

The case is being heard by a panel of three judges, who will determine whether the student is guilty of the charges.

SUNY Albany officials have declined to comment on the case, citing the ongoing nature of the proceedings.

Undergraduates break into Colonial Dining Center just prior to spring break, and caused an estimated $5,600 worth of damage. The incident occurred in the early hours of Tuesday morning, March 27.

The vandals, who reportedly were in a group, damaged several doors and windows, including the glass of the dining center's kitchen and a door to a student activities center. The damage included the destruction of a door handle and the break-in of a safe located in the office of the University Police.

University Police are currently investigating the incident, and are seeking the cooperation of the public in identifying the vandals.

Approximately 500 students were registered while signing up for on-campus housing.

Off-Camera With Dick Wood

The Mall Of The Living Dead

I have very mixed emotions about the ratings.

If good quality work is not being recognized, that tells me something about the ratings.

The devotion to perfection of Dick Wood (left front) has been the key to WTEN's success, according to Dick Wood (right front), who has worked with him for nearly 30 years. Wood and his colleagues have worked to create a news operation that is both informative and entertaining. They believe that if you want to be successful in this business, you must be able to communicate with your audience. "It's not just about the numbers," says Wood. "It's about the message."

The Mall Of The Living Dead

The mall was bustling with activity as shoppers scoured the aisles for the latest in fashion and technology. But something was amiss...a horde of undead creatures had invaded the mall! The dead were everywhere, lurking in the corners and sneaking up on unsuspecting shoppers. The mall was in chaos as people tried to escape the hordes of walking dead.

The Mall Of The Living Dead

Although the crowds were diverse, there were certain trends that were evident. Women tended to stick to the traditional clothing items, such as dresses and skirts. Men, on the other hand, were more likely to choose sportswear and casual wear. Children were seen wearing the latest in faddish apparel, including neon sweatsuits and graphic t-shirts. Despite the varied styles, one thing was clear: the mall was alive and well!

The ‘W’

Not Monday, the university Senate will vote to change the face of our academic republic. A bill may pass punishing anyone who drops a course within ten days with a permanent ‘W’ on their transcript.

This proposal is an insult to individuality, and any enlightened concept of education. It's a backwards and insensitive approach to learning, and it seems to be an attempt to make more out of the issue of education, the “W” policy will punish us for failing to do so.

The Senate put a lot of work into this policy. There are so many options available which would improve the drop/withdrawal process without offending students. But without student pressure, the “W” will become a black and white reality on our transcripts.

The Senate is meeting this coming Monday at 3:30 in the Campus Center Assembly Hall second floor on the right. Put some pressure on the Senate to recognize student rights. Cut the “W” before it gets you.

The real uncommercial South Africa

In South Africa, the culture is as diverse as the country itself. From the bustling city of Johannesburg to the serene beauty of Cape Town, the country offers a unique blend of natural wonders and cultural experiences.

In 1871, diamonds were discovered in Kimberley. And, five years later, gold in Johannesburg. The fortune hunters arrived, and the rest is history.

In 1652, the Dutch brought their architecture. Soon after, the English brought their traditions. The Germans, their industry.

In 1795, the British established a colony. And, in 1910, the Union of South Africa was formed.

In South Africa you’ll find the essence of Africa. The real South Africa is such a monster that ads such as “Sim all Africa” are an insult to us.

In 1960, Marling from $999.

In 1961, the Freedom Charter was adopted. In 1976, Soweto Uprising.

In 1984, “Black October” was celebrated. In 1994, Nelson Mandela was elected.

South Africa is a country of great contrasts. It is the only country in the world where you can see both the sun and the moon at the same time.

In 1995, the Truth and Reconciliation Commission was established. In 1996, the Constitution was adopted.

In 1999, the country held its first democratic elections. In 2000, the 1st World Cup was held.

The South African Tourist Corporation, an element and force of the nation, was established. In 2001, the country celebrated its 25th anniversary of democracy.

Six Albany Great Danes find success in Sweden

By MARC SCHWARZ

For nearly all Division III basketball players, the end of the college career means the end of their competitive careers. However, a few Albany State Great Danes have taken their athletic careers and are still coaching or playing professionally in several foreign countries.

For six Danes, the road from college to a postman, onto a team in Sweden, was not that difficult mainly because inevitably some kid would ask, "Are you as good as Doctor J?"

But as both put related, the celebrity status didn't or couldn't go to their heads. Some coached, a majority of the best records in recent history. Every Swedish team is allowed to have American players from an American basketball star is. "They see you could be in Albany or any small town," Clune said. "It (basketball) is on the same level as American and the Danes recorded an impressive 8-2 mark and also established connections and friendships that were to help them just a year later.

The 1980-81 team went on to capture the SUNYAC Tournament title and finish first in the league during the season. The team was 1-6 when Clune went onto average 30 points a game and the team which was 8-2 when he finished third one season later.

The Division I teams in Sweden are very expensive. The 6'7" Rensselaer center is fifth on the career scoring slate at Rensselear High. Barry Cavanaugh was the 1979 graduate is third on the All-State team.

Rob Clune - the 1981 graduate played four years at Albany and was an integral part of the 1980-81 SUNNYC Tournament championship team that lost to eventual National Champion Potsdam State in the East Regional Final. The 6'2" guard had a sensational four-year career and season assist and is currently employed by Guy Carpenter Reinsurance Company in New York City.

John Qualtrough - just completed his first year as head coach at RPI. Of the 1979 grad is a standout defender for the Danes from 1973-77, Trevett has made an adjustment to a different style of game and the team which was 1-6 when Cavanaugh explained how his team made way for team handball, "The Danes from 1973-77, Trevett didn't really get out to a lot of local bars. You don't have too much availability of basketball courts. In all my traveling, Dieckelman all played in the next Division of the Swedish basketball league and not on the other areas of their game is lack of practice.

"I worked in a sports shop while I was here," Clune said. "I'm glad I didn't pass it up," Cavanaugh concluded.

Danes split four games over weekend with Red Dragons

By Keith Matter

Crash, tree-up home field advantage.

It rained one as a fantastic weekend at the Great Danes. The sun was shining and they were in the pros of winning a double-header from the weekend against the Columbia Blue Jays by the score of 1-0. At the game they played four runs and 10 hits.

The biggest hit in the series was the home run of the day. It was hit in the bottom half of the seven inning game. The Great Danes were up 9-0 with a 12-12 lead. Chris Fletcher had a triple and Bob Conklin scored a deep fly. Toronto Blue Jays kept the only going with a triple. The Toronto Blue Jays hit a double and scored another run in the ninth inning. The Great Danes won 2-1.

At this point their playoff hopes were still alive. The team was 10-11-1...Conklin leads the Danes with three home runs. He had而去 11 home runs in the past three seasons. Conklin was a total of six home runs.

At the game Conklin hit a home run to beat Oneonta 1-0. The Great Danes then scored four meaningless runs in the seventh inning.
